STRIKES KEEP 35,000 FROM WAR FACTORIES

CIO Ignores Pleas to End Walkout.

Detroit, Mich., March 2 [Special].—Because of CIO unionists' resentment over dismissals of 15 members accused of loafing or fomenting strikes, more than 35,000 war workers were idle tonight in one of the Detroit area's most serious breakdowns of production of equipment needed by Yanks at battle fronts.

Strikes or resultant layoffs from lack of parts have spread to 12 Chrysler corporation and Briggs Manufacturing company plants. New strikes were called today in six of those factories. It was estimated that 29,484 persons were on strikes which forced into idleness 5,750 more.

Affected plants were gripped by a virtual paralysis of production of parts for tanks, B-29 Super Fortresses, anti-aircraft guns, ambulances, rockets, heavy and light trucks, and other material.

Drastic Bill Introduced.

The increasing gravity with which the current labor uprising is viewed was indicated by two of today's developments:

1. A drastic anti-strike bill was introduced in the Michigan legislature. The measure would define as a felony participation in a strike that violates a labor relations contract, the labor union's expressed decision, or any law.

2. The national war labor board summoned management representatives and union leaders of the Chrysler strikes to a hearing at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Washington, D. C., in an attempt to end the walkout.

Ignore Work Appeal.

The strikers, members of the CIO United Automobile Workers, had ignored an appeal from Undersecretary of War Patterson to resume production of war material he said was urgently needed on the fighting fronts.

They also have ignored warnings of disciplinary action by international officials of their union who have termed the originating strike "unauthorized and a violation of the union's constitution and no-strike pledge."

The wave of strikes began a week ago at the Dodge main plant where 13,500 are now engaged in a walkout. The dispute stemmed from the discharge a week before of eight workers whom the company accused of loafing and refusing to meet production rates. A union spokesman charged the company with a "speed-up."

Local Board Divided.

Leading those strikers in their defiance of both the WLB and their international officers is Mike Novak, president of local 3 of the CIO-UAW. The local's own executive board is divided in its approval of the strike, having voted 17 to 10 to call the mass meeting held last Tuesday at which the strikers were urged to accede to a WLB order to return to work. However, the strikers booed the pleas and voted against a return.

The Briggs strikes began yesterday with a walkout of 5,800 workers, whose number has now increased to 10,750. Their dispute is over the dismissal of seven officers of CIO local 212 who were charged with having fomented a strike last month among Briggs employes.

Strikes Are Spreading.

From Briggs' Mack av. plant, where that strike originated, the walkout spread today to five other Briggs plants.

The Chrysler strike, meantime, spread to the De Soto Warren av. plant where 2,800 employes walked out after refusing to work with material delivered to them by non-company truckers, which had been necessitated by the other Chrysler strikes.

Workers laid off for lack of parts caused by the strikes were at the Chrysler corporation's Detroit tank arsenal, Dodge truck plant, Highland Park factory, and the Windsor, Ont., plant.

Only All Night Cafes May Be Open After 12

All restaurants except those normally open 24 hours a day will be forced to close between midnight and 8 a. m. under a drastic new interpretation of the curfew order of War Mobilization Director Byrnes announced yesterday by federal officials. At the same time the Cafe Owners' association served notice it would defy any effort of the American Federation of Musicians to force full time wages for musicians and entertainers while the midnight closing edict is in effect.

The new interpretation of the curfew, said William H. Spencer, regional chief of the war man power commission, includes all restaurants, whether they serve liquor or not, night clubs, hotel dining rooms, hotel room service, lunch counters, and other food serving establishments.

War Plant Restaurants Exempted.

The only exemptions to the new rule are the 24 hour a day restaurants, restaurants located within war plants or other essential services, and the United Service organizations, Y. M. C. A., American Legion, and other non-profit agencies maintaining special facilities for serving transient war workers. Even these agencies must obtain special permits from the area office of the WMC.

The new interpretation, received from Byrnes' office in Washington, D. C., is to go into effect next Monday at midnight, Spencer said.

It means, he explained, that all establishments affected must close at midnight and may not open before 8 a. m., even tho, for example, they customarily have opened at 6 a. m. and remained open until 4 or 5 a. m. the next day.

Hardship for Some War Workers.

WMC officials admitted the strict interpretation of the curfew order will work a hardship on war workers on early shifts who are used to getting breakfast at lunch counters opening around 6 a. m.

Labor union leaders and the Chicago Restaurant association joined in denouncing the new interpretation as "too drastic and one which will work a severe hardship on thousands of early and middle shift workers."

D. F. Kiesau, executive vice president of the restaurant association, said there are "very, very few all night restaurants" in the entire Chicago area and most of them are in business districts rather than the factory or residential areas. Several hundred of the 3,600 restaurants in the Chicago area will be affected, he said.

Assailed By Union Leaders.

Joseph Mattson, district director of the United Auto Workers [CIO], and James MacDonald, business agent of district 8 of the International Association of Machinists [AFL], both called the new regulation "ridiculous" and harmful to war production.

Mattson pointed out that most middle shift workers get thru about midnight and then eat a late lunch. Early shifts, he said, generally start between 7 and 8 a. m.

Mike Potsen, owner of Colosimo's, popular spot for all night revelers, said last night that he would abandon entertainment within the next two weeks and operate as a restau-

PIED PIPER BEGINS HIS MARCHING SONG

Dr. Van Dellen Made Tribune Health Editor

Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, director of the cardiac clinic and associate in medicine at Northwestern university medical school, has been appointed health editor of THE TRIBUNE, to succeed the late Dr. Irving S. Cutter. Dr. Van Dellen's first "How to Keep Well" column will appear tomorrow on the editorial page.

Dr. T. R. Van Dellen.

Writer on Medical Progress.

He holds fellowships in the American Medical association, American Heart association and American College of Physicians and is a member of various other medical societies. His name is familiar to readers of medical journals and he is a co-author of the summaries of progress in internal medicine which the Archives of Internal Medicine publishes annually.

Besides teaching in Northwestern university medical school he lectures on the fundamentals of medicine before groups of hospital administrators and nurses in the school of commerce. He is a participant in the war time graduate medical meetings by which civilian physicians help to keep their colleagues in the services abreast of developments.

Helps Organize County Clinic.

Dr. Van Dellen was born in Chicago. He attended Morgan Park Military academy and Northwestern university. He received his doctor of medicine degree from Northwestern and later served as associate director of the university's medical clinics and associate attending physician at County hospital. He helped organize and direct the arterial-vascular clinic at County hospital.

Deciding early to specialize in internal medicine, Dr. Van Dellen did research in his specialty at Northwestern and was certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine. Northwestern conferred upon him the degree of master of science in medicine.

With Tribune Since 1941.

In 1941 Dr. Van Dellen became associated with THE TRIBUNE as medical consultant. He retained a private practice, which was limited to internal medicine. During a period of military service which lasted from July, 1942, to November, 1943, he held among other positions that of chief of the medical services and executive officer of the station hospital at Lowry field, Colo.

Dr. Van Dellen lives with his wife and three children at 2236 Lincoln Park West. His father, Dr. Robert L. Van Dellen, has been practicing in Chicago for more than 40 years.

A newspaper medical column, in Dr. Van Dellen's opinion, is a public service which can be valuable as a means of acquainting readers with medical progress, helping them distinguish between the good and the bad in medical theory and practice, and reminding them of the precautions to be taken to guard themselves and their children against the ordinary threats to health.

GEN. HARMON, PACIFIC AIR CHIEF, REPORTED MISSING IN AIRPLANE

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of army strategic air forces in the Pacific ocean area, was reported tonight to be missing.

Reports current in Washington, D. C., said a plane in which the general was a passenger was overdue. These accounts could not be confirmed immediately at the war department. The Blue network, in a broadcast from Washington, had said that Gen. Harmon had been lost in a plane crash in the Pacific.

Gen. Harmon, a native of San Francisco and a fighter pilot in 1917, commanded army forces in the South Pacific area during the Solomons campaign. June 30, 1943, he narrowly escaped death on a torpedoed ship.

He assumed command of all army air force units in the Pacific ocean areas Aug. 31, 1944, exclusive of those in Alaska, and was named to the command of the strategic air forces, Pacific ocean areas, Dec. 8, 1944.

Gen. Harmon directed Marianas based B-29s [Super Fortresses] in raids on Japan. Last Dec. 18 he said he held no hope raids on Tokyo industrial centers could quickly knock Japan out of the war, and added. "This is no Gilbert and Sullivan war out here. It's real and tough."

CHICAGOAN IS AIDE

Gen. Harmon's senior aide is Maj. William D. Roehrig, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Roehrig, 5625 Winthrop av., Chicago. Maj. Roehrig customarily flew with the general. In a recent letter Roehrig told his parents he was at a base in the Marianas. A former national guardsman in Chicago, he enlisted five years ago.

Marines Gain 700 Yards in Smash on Iwo

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Guam, March 3 [Saturday]—(AP).—Maj. Gen. Erskine's 3d marine division lunged into the rugged north end of Iwo Island yesterday to within 600 yards of cutting the Japanese garrison in two and sealing off the point of greatest enemy resistance.

Driving a 700 yard wedge and seizing a 362 foot hill, the leathernecks in the center of the marine line approached the cliff edge on the island's northeast coast.

The wedge threatened to trap Nipponese who have held Maj. Gen. Cates' 4th marines, moving up the east side, to slow gains for the last five days.

The 3d's wedge was driven straight north of captured Motoyma town. The 3d began its push yesterday from the western half of an incompleted air field seized the day before. The wedge points toward the northernmost part of Iwo at Kitano point.

Count 7,127 Jap Dead.

The incomplete count of enemy dead rose more than 2,300 in four days to 7,127 by noon yesterday.

Within a day or two combat planes based on Iwo may be joining carrier based aircraft for the first time in assaulting Nipponese holding out on the north tip, called "hell's suburbs" because of its treacherous terrain.

Engineers have the captured southern air field, within fighter plane range of Tokyo, almost ready for use by fighters, bombers, and transport planes.

Fifth Marines Gain.

Dispatches from the front said the 3d had scored a breakthru that was bringing the campaign, 13 days old, into its closing stages.

After days of vicious fighting the leathernecks were in position for the final kill, said a dispatch from Morrie Landsberg, Associated Press war correspondent aboard the expeditionary flagship.

Maj. Gen. Rockey's 5th marine division, on the west coast, which previously had captured another hill 362—the hills on the island are named for their height in feet—beat off Japanese counter-attacks.

Fifth fleet warships, carrier based planes, and marine artillery supplied the fire curtain for the marines in yesterday's gains.

AMERICANS WIN ISLAND SOUTH OF MANILA BAY

Little Resistance, MacArthur Says.

MANILA, March 3 [Saturday]—(AP).—Gen. MacArthur's troops, making their 18th island invasion in the Philippines and the fifth in a little more than a week, have landed and seized Lubang. Seizure of the island, 35 miles southwest of Manila bay's entrance, completed clearance of the shortest sea route thru the Philippines from the United States.

Gen. MacArthur's bulletin today announced seizure of the 18 by 8 mile island, which is at the west end of Verde passage, a day after he had disclosed his forces farther southwest had invaded Palawan Island, where a third air field now is in American hands.

Elements of Maj. Gen. Irving's 24th division, which played a major role on Leyte Island and helped recapture Corregidor fortress, landed on Lubang "against negligible resistance."

Flag Rises on Corregidor.

Gen. MacArthur returned yesterday to historic Corregidor Island, rock fortress at Manila bay, and saw the American flag go up again. He returned, almost three years to the day, after his escape from the fortress. He came back as he left, in a navy PT boat. His party included 11 staff officers who escaped with him in 1942 to Australia.

"Well, gentlemen," he said, "it has been a long way back."

Glancing at the burned corpse of an enemy soldier, the general remarked, "It was bad enough for us when we were here, but it has been worse for them."

Flag Back on Old Staff.

The national emblem was hoisted to the same topside parade ground staff from which the Japanese tore it and trampled it in the dust in 1942.

Atop a battery, where 14 inch guns pointed out toward the China sea, MacArthur walked in silence the length of the gun positions.

After decorating Col. Jones with the distinguished service cross at the flag raising ceremony, MacArthur clasped him by the shoulders and said, "You have taken it back. You and your men have done well. Again, my deepest thanks."

11 Staff Officers Present.

The 11 staff officers who escaped with MacArthur on March 11, 1942, and returned to see the flag raised again, were Lt. Gen. Richard Sutherland, Maj. Gen. Spencer Aiken, Maj. Gen. Hugh Casey, Maj. Gen. William Marquat, Maj. Gen. Richard Marshall, Maj. Gen. Paul Stivers, Brig. Gen. Legrande Diller, Brig. Gen. Charles Willoughby, Col. Sidney Huff, Lt. Col. Joe McMicking, and Lt. Paul Rogers.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, now resident commissioner to the United States for the Philippine commonwealth, also was present.

MacArthur walked thru rubble ankle deep where his Manila home once stood. "Well," he said, "I am home again."

Seize Third Palawan Field.

MacArthur's bulletin said Maj. Gen. Jens A. Doe's 41st division Yanks on Palawan, westernmost of the Philippines, had completed occupation of Puerto Princesa harbor, midway along the island's 275 mile long east coast, and seized the Iwahig penal colony air field. Two other air fields were won the day of the landing, Wednesday.

East of Manila, in the Marikina watershed area, 1st cavalry and 6th division troops maintained their pressure against a strong Japanese defense force, while heavy bombers supported the ground drive with a 120 ton bombing of enemy positions.

Beat Tenant to Death, Flat Janitor Says

Joseph Nischt, 30, resident janitor of the apartment building at 6855 Clyde av., confessed to police early today that he killed Mrs. Rose Michaelis, 58, a tenant, and burned her body Wednesday night in a big stoker furnace in the basement.

Capt. Edward Kelly of Woodlawn station said the janitor, a lanky six footer with a mustache, broke down and wept when he told how he killed her. When Nischt was asked why, he moaned, "I don't know why . . . I liked her . . ."

Search for Trace of Body.

Lt. Philip Breitzke, Sgt. Patrick Touhy, and other members of the police homicide squad struck the roaring fire in the furnace and started an immediate search for remains of the woman's body.

Nischt was taken into custody Thursday after a witness reported he had seen the janitor picking up fragments of a bottle which Mrs. Michaelis used to carry water from a filtration plant at 68th st. and Oglesby av.

Altho a lie detector test apparently indicated Nischt knew something about the woman's disappearance, the police had no evidence and they released him yesterday after placing a technical charge of disorderly conduct against him.

Woman Provides Clew.

Then late last night Capt. Kelly said another janitor's wife, whose name was withheld temporarily, disclosed that Nischt called at her home late Wednesday, demanding to talk with her husband. Nischt mumbled incoherently that he was in trouble "about a woman."

Capt. Kelly, Lt. Breitzke, and Sgt. Touhy went to the Nischt home and aroused him from his sleep. They told him to tell them the truth about Mrs. Michaelis.

"All right," he said. "I saw her in the alley and I struck her. With my fist, I guess."

"Pushed Her In" Stoker.

After brief deliberation, Nischt said he dragged the woman's inert form to a basement stairs, opened the door to the boiler room, then returned, picked her up, and carried her into the basement.

"I laid her down," he continued, "then opened the stoker and pushed her in."

The stoker door is a yard wide and 20 inches high and the fire, sufficient to heat 36 flats, would have consumed the body easily, Lt. Breitzke said. Nischt, who has stoked and tended the furnace for three and a half years, removed clinkers from the furnace Thursday morning.

These clinkers and ashes were hauled away by a scavenger service truck.

Begin Search for Ashes.

In these ashes, if traced, the police said they would endeavor to find parts of her body and substantiate the janitor's confession.

Nischt, after he confessed, led the policemen to the basement and showed them how he had disposed of the body. The janitor said he did not know whether Mrs. Michaelis was dead when he pushed her into the fire. He said her body was "motionless" on the floor.

"I don't know why I did it," he cried. "Take me out of here, now."

Mrs. Michaelis was the wife of Milton Michaelis, an employe of the Hamilton Glass company, 401 Elizabeth st. Michaelis said he found his wife missing and the table set for his supper when he returned from work.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, March 3 (Saturday)—(AP).—The first American troops have crossed the Rhine river at Neuss, London reports indicated early today as the German radio said "Americans are making efforts to cross the Rhine." Front line dispatches to London newspapers said the first patrols already were across but no details were given. One dispatch from 9th army headquarters said, "It looks as if the Germans fell for our bluff that we were going for Cologne. I can tell you now it never was our objective."

PARIS, March 2 (AP).—The United States 9th army smashed to the Rhine at two points today, engulfed all the arsenal cities in the Ruhr basin west of that formidable river, routed the German 15th army, and began shelling Duesseldorf in the greatest offensive in American history.

It split the German defenses and sent the mauled enemy in retreat across the Rhine as the United States 1st army fought to within four and a half miles of Cologne and the United States 3rd army captured the ancient fortress of Trier, guarding the Moselle river route to Coblenz.

The Canadian 1st army on the north knocked out two other strongpoints in a five-mile surge thru the buckling lines, and was 10 miles from a junction with the 9th army, threatening entrapment of thousands of Germans.

Neuss, Krefeld Won.

German broadcasts said that between the closing jaws of this nutcracker the British 2d army went over on the offensive, and broke across the Maas [Meuse] river. These broadcasts said the British were preparing "for a crossing of the lower Rhine at Emmerich."

Duesseldorf's cross-Rhine suburb of Neuss and the steel city of Krefeld near the Rhine, 10 miles to the northwest, fell with astonishing speed as the 9th army roared 15 miles thru broken lines.

Between Neuss and the Rhine the Germans battled to keep the Americans from breaking across the river on two bridges still intact.

In the northern outskirts of Krefeld, a city of 170,000, enemy tanks battled to hold open the main Rhine bridge on the super-highway at near-by Uerdingen.

Seal Off Many Germans.

This was the principal way out of the closing trap for parts of 10 crack divisions, which broke off the battle with the Canadians and fled. The Canadians then occupied the strongpoints of Weeze and Kervenheim and neared the anchor city of Xanten on the Rhine.

Already large numbers of Germans had been sealed off along the Maas by a lightning 9th army blow that overran the strongholds of Venlo and Roermond.

The Germans were left with nothing west of the Rhine capable of halting Gen. Eisenhower's avalanche and 6,000 warplanes hammered the Germans from dawn to dusk in a gigantic display of combined land and air power.

One report said the Germans frequently stopped fighting in the midst of battle and broke into headlong retreat, and another said the Americans ran wild thru city after city.

Lt. Gen. Simpson, the 9th army's commander, was disclosed to have hurled seven infantry and three armored divisions, 150,000 men, into the offensive which in a week has destroyed five German infantry divisions of the 15th army and heavily mauled three Panzer divisions.

Since opening the drive, the 9th army had reeled off 33 miles, and tonight it was clear that the battle of the Rhine, one of the swiftest of allied triumphs, was near an end, a dispatch from the front said.

As the flight became as chaotic in some places as that in Normandy last summer, Gen. Eisenhower toured the front with Simpson.

The supreme allied commander said:

"A week ago today the 9th and 1st armies jumped off to participate in the offensive initiated by the 1st Canadian army in the north on Feb. 8. Progress has been eminently satisfactory and casualties gratifyingly light. The 9th army has reached the Rhine near Duesseldorf and Lt. Gen. Simpson's troops have captured at least 17,500 prisoners."

The suburb of Neuss, on the west banks held out only a short time before the charge of the 83d infantry division.

German guns on the east bank of the Rhine opened fire as the Americans appeared, and mobile American artillery returned the fire. The river is 1,180 feet wide at this point and is 50 feet deep.

To the northwest, the 102d division in 10 mile advance captured Krefeld.

Armored Unit Also at River.

Between the two cities, the 2d armored division also reached the Rhine last night almost simultaneously with the 83d division and today captured Boesinghoven.

The greatest peril to the Germans still west of the Rhine was rising from the Krefeld push, for here Simpson's tanks and infantry were closing fast on the best roads of retreat to the Rhine.

In the broad sweep, which won control of the Rhine plain all the way from the Maas, the 9th army captured such small industrial cities as Duelken and Viersen, with a combined population of about 30,000.

With this peril rising behind them the elements of 10 divisions opposing Gen. Crerar's Canadian 1st army broke off the battle and headed for the Rhine.

Bitterly contested Weeze fell to British troops who then advanced 2½ miles south to within a mile of Kevelaer, 10 miles from the Americans at Straelen.

Canadians six miles to the east swept forward five miles to within a mile and a half of the road junction of Sonsbeck as the Germans there also broke off contact.

Mop Up Fir Forest.

Other Canadian troops stormed to within two miles of the Rhine stronghold of Xanten, five miles northeast of Sonsbeck, and were mopping up the Hochwald, a fir forest where the Germans had stopped them cold for days with dug-in tanks and machine guns.

Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army was lashing out all along its 50 mile front gaining up to two miles, seizing nine more towns and so many prisoners that it was having difficulty taking care of them.

The 10th armored and 94th infantry divisions, which took Trier, were grinding to bits a pocket of Germans caught southwest of the old fortress.

Other elements of the 3d army were moving up both north and south of Trier, which is 60 airline miles from Coblenz on the Rhine.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' 1st army dug into the Germans fighting savagely from behind the slag heaps and hilltops to hold it back from the last four and a half miles to Cologne. Fierce fighting erupted around Moedrath, bridgehead town on the Cologne-Dueren highway, where the Germans counter-attacked.

Seven miles to the north, tanks fought into Neideraussem in an advance of nearly two miles, and four miles farther on the Americans were fighting inside Buckholz.

ILLINOISAN TOO SWIFT AT RHINE; GETS $10 FINE

Midwestern Yanks in German City.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 9TH ARMY, March 2.—Pvt. Francis Zinn of Bloomington, Ill., today was fined $10 by his company commander because of an unusual violation of regulations. Zinn tried to crawl down to the river and get the first canteen full of Rhine water.

Zinn is a member of the 1st battalion, 331st regiment. Other midwesterners in this spearhead unit include Sgt. Lewis Charol, Youngstown, O.; Pvt. Frederick Riedl, 1424 56th st., Cicero, Ill.; Pvt. Lewis Gasteier, Sandusky, O., and Pvt. Walter Czayka, Cleveland, O.

First to Enter City.

Camped in an outlying section of newly captured Muenchen Gladbach, I found Pvt. George Goldstein, 5300 Ellis av., Chicago, who had cut his leg slightly on a telephone wire. Pvt. Robert Brandes, Streator, Ill., and Pvt. Freeman Reeder, 1711 Sheffield av., Chicago, were in the American tanks which were first to enter the city.

Pvt. Quinto Baldoni, South Bend, Ind., and Corp. William Daebelion, 7956 Cottage Grove av., Chicago, are members of the anti-aircraft battery assigned to the Muenchen Gladbach area.

Smash German Attack.

Among Chicagoland men who helped rout an attack by German armor across the Erft river bridge in this area were Pvt. Jonas Gott, Rock Island, Ill., and the following Chicagoans: Pvt. George Harles, 2236 Berwyn av., Sgt. Douglas Lond, 10309 Avenue G, and Pvt. Raymond Goly, 1421 Devon av.

An incongruous sight in captured villages is industrious German housewives vigorously scrubbing the doorsteps of houses which have no roofs. All thru the area, townspeople are voluntarily effacing slogans painted along the walls—"One people, one country, one Fuehrer," and "We love Adolf Hitler," and "Work, save, and fight for country and Hitler."

BUCHAREST, Romania, March 2 [Reuters].—A British tanker today arrived at the Romanian Black sea port of Constanza, the first British ship to arrive since the Russians cleared the Black sea coast.

WIFE FIGHTS TO LIVE UNTIL HER HUSBAND IN ARMY GETS HOME

A young wife, who is near death from an incurable blood disease in a Hammond hospital, is fighting to live until her soldier husband, who is with the 9th air force in Belgium, can reach her bedside.

She is Mrs. Marie Roach, 21, and her husband is Staff Sgt. Wayne Eugene Roach, 24, an electrical specialist who has been in the army since 1942 and has been overseas since March, 1944.

Three cables requesting the return of the husband have been sent by the Hammond chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Euguen S. Carpenter, secretary, said yesterday.

The young wife is suffering from a rare blood disease, which caused the death of her father in 1940. She has been in the hospital since Jan. 26.

109 NAZI PLANES BAGGED BY U.S. IN VAST AIR BATTLE

LONDON, March 2 (AP).—American airmen fought one of the biggest battles in weeks today, destroying at least 109 enemy planes. More than 6,000 allied aircraft hammered German targets in a series of attacks which included two by R. A. F. heavy bombers against besieged Cologne.

The United States 8th air force hurled 1,250 four engined bombers and nearly 800 escorting fighters deep into the reich during the day and incited the Luftwaffe into sending aloft its carefully hoarded interceptors. American fighters shot down 67 and wrecked an additional 36 on the ground. Gunners aboard the big bombers shot down six.

The spectacular aerial battle involving the Americans was but one phase of the gigantic allied air assault which carried thru its 18th consecutive day. The operation marked the 12th straight day of attacks by the 8th air force and the 11th during that period when the force has numbered more than 1,000 bombers.

SEN. MOSES, 59, CRITICALLY ILL IN MAYO CLINIC

Rochester, Minn., March 2 (AP).—The Mayo clinic physician attending Sen. Moses [D., N. D.], 59, said tonight the North Dakotan "has taken a definite turn for the worse." He has been under treatment since Jan. 18 for an abdominal ailment.

"We are biding our time, hoping he will improve, but the chances are against it," the doctor said.

Moses served three terms as governor of North Dakota. He was the first Democrat ever elected to congress from North Dakota, having defeated Gerald P. Nye, Republican.

92d Japanese Admiral Dies in 10 Months of War

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Three more Japanese admirals have died in action, the Domei news agency reported yesterday, bringing to 92 the number of Nipponese admirals who have died in the last 10 months. The three men were identified as Rear Admirals Takeji Yamada, Shigetaka Amano, and Kameshiro Takahashi.

YANKS CRAWL THRU MUD IN BRIDGE BATTLE

Nazis Try to Hold Two Spans Over Rhine.

NEUSS, Germany, March 2 (AP).—German sacrificial troops who already had ceded three-fourths of Duesseldorf's suburban industrial area west of the Rhine tonight fought a savage "battle of the bridges."

The battle raged around the western approaches to the railway bridge and the giant highway bridge linking Neuss and Duesseldorf, twin manufacturing cities which form one of the corner stones of the German industrial empire.

Already lost was Neuss, a city normally of 60,000 population, and across the river, Duesseldorf, a metropolis of half a million, was ripe for military plucking.

This fight was in contrast to the lack of resistance which featured the 83d division's smash up to the river.

Battle in Marshes.

The battlefield was a flat, marshy stretch of soil only a few hundred yards wide at the southern edge of Neuss.

No traffic could be seen on the bridges, which have been under the jurisdiction of American artillery for several days. At the western edge of the bridge a concrete Nazi pillbox was destroyed by a direct hit.

"We think there's another pillbox at the other end but haven't been able to reach it yet," said Lt. Col. John C. Speedie, San Antonio, Tex., whose men were working slowly across the muddy flats toward three knockedout German 20 mm. anti-aircraft guns.

"All we have left between us and the river now are two hidden anti-aircraft guns and some infantry," he said. "They can't get away very easily now—but they have big eight inch guns on the other side of the river and other ack-ack guns that have been keeping us busy."

Nazis Shell Area.

One German barrage splattered with ear-aching cracks all across the battlefield which was churned for a few moments into dirty flame lit clouds of gray smoke and yellow mud from the explosions. When it was over the doughboys crawled forward again.

Lt. Robert Packer, 23, of Brooklyn, N. Y., commanded the first American company to reach the Rhine after fighting thru Neuss. Packer's Company E entered the town last night.

More than 20,000 civilians were huddled in air raid shelters here this morning. The police battalion, which was supposed to fight, was waiting to surrender with grips all packed.

Town Surrenders Docilely.

Every other town west of the Rhine is surrendering as docilely as this one. White flags hang everywhere from windows and air raid shelters. Men and women stand around sullenly but without the slightest truculence.

Last night men of one company captured 56 Germans walking down the street four abreast.

A big tank battle was raging a few miles to the north, southwest of Krefeld. Among midwest Yanks engaged in that attack were Pvt. Robert Lewis, Bedford, Ind.; Sgt. Robert Varnhort, Pierceton, Ind., and Pvt. Herbert T. Losch of 440 St. James st., Chicago.

CAPTURE 800 NAZIS

WITH THE 8TH INFANTRY DIVISION BETWEEN THE ROER AND RHINE, March 2 (AP).—This nomadic band of American doughboys, riding tanks, trucks, jeeps, and now bicycles, captured about 800 prisoners yesterday, with cooks taking 26. One German, tapping a telephone line to a command post, asked an American lieutenant to send somebody to get him.

The old "task force Church" still is operating but its commander, Brig. Gen. John Church of Frederick, Md., is in the field as an assistant division commander.

Church, a veteran of the Anzio, Salerno, Sicily, and southern France beachheads, started out the first day with a task force which gained 10 miles riding trucks with machine guns lashed on their fronts. Now the whole division is on the move.

When there weren't enough trucks and jeeps to go around the 3d battalion of the 335th infantry regiment mounted bicycles the German army had left behind and rode out into combat. This bike riding column overran a German labor battalion, giving some idea of how far the break-thru had carried.

Later in the day this same battalion met a German battalion of 300 men, killed 150 and captured the remainder. The Germans were former members of the air force who had been given rifles the day before and put into the line.

YANKS FREE WORKERS

MUENCHEN GLADBACH, Germany, March 1 [Delayed]—(AP).—Highlights in the American capture of the western Rhineland's second largest industrial city:

The birthplace of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels is still standing in suburban Rheydt, but the schoolhouse where the Nazi propaganda minister learned to juggle his ABCs was destroyed.

Capture of Muenchen Gladbach released hundreds of foreign workers impressed for labor in its vast textile and motor factories. Empty-handed but glad hearted they set out at once to return to their homelands. In the first group coming out of the city were two Polish women, one Dutchman, one Norwegian, and a former Belgian air cadet.

Bring Up Fresh Oranges.

Rolling up in one ammunition convoy was a truck loaded with fresh oranges—and pork chops and roast beef were on menus only a few miles behind the front.

Capt. James H. Wentworth, West Frankfort, Ill., went out to find a command post. He made a wrong turn and looked up to see a German self-propelled gun a few feet ahead. It fired but Wentworth spun his jeep around and was back behind the corner before Nazi gunners could correct their aim.

Repatriated Yank Gets Service

Pvt. Theodore Czapla enjoys being waited upon by his sisters, Adele (left) and Josephine, in their home at 1437 N. Rockwell st.

Taken at Cassino

Pvt. Theodore P. Czapla, 25, who spent a year in a German prison camp in upper Silesia, paid a surprise visit yesterday at the home of his father, John Czapla, 1347 N. Rockwell st., after an absence of 17 months. He was given a three day leave at Gardiner General hospital where he arrived after returning to this country on the exchange ship Gripsholm.

The soldier, who is enrolled at the hospital as an ambulatory patient, looked well despite wounds from sniper's bullets and shrapnel suffered at Cassino, Jan. 22, 1944. He said he spent seven months in a German hospital and underwent three operations. Later he was interned at a prison camp in Silesia. He related how the Germans were frantically digging fortifications when he left Germany in January.

Work of the Red Cross in German prison camps was lauded by Pvt. Czapla. He said they furnished clothing, food, and medicine for the prisoners at the time when they were most needed. Besides his father he has five sisters and a brother at home. Another brother, Pvt. Walter Czapla, is with the army in Burma.

ILLINOIS FLYER BAGS 5, PERHAPS 7, NAZIS IN DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—What may become a new American air force record for planes destroyed on one mission was established today by a 27 year old Illinois flyer who shot down five German aircraft plus two "probables."

Lt. Roscoe R. Allen of Dunlap, near Peoria, was flying a Mustang as a bomber escort when he ran dangerously low on oxygen. He headed home, but 40 miles southwest of Berlin he spotted 15 Messerschmitt 109s. He fought them single handedly for 120 miles.

"That was more meat in the soup than I had seen for a long time," Allen said, "so I dropped down to 8,000 feet to get at them and picked off the 'tail end Charley' of the group and the man next to him. By then the Jerries knew I was there and broke in all directions. I chased one flight and saw a third plane blow up. The next Jerry I attacked bailed out after I got hits all over him. No. 5 on my hit parade was one boy who tried to make a head-on pass at me. I blew him out of the sky."

Allen refused to claim two other planes until he sees his gun camera pictures. If all are confirmed he will have a record bag for one day by a margin of one aircraft.

CANADIAN CALLS FOR COMMISSION TO PROBE ARMY

OTTAWA, Ont., March 2 (AP).—John Bracken, Progressive Conservative national leader, tonight challenged the federal government to appoint a royal commission of three Supreme court justices to report on the whole matter of reënforcements, desertions, and discipline in the Canadian army since Gen. McNaughton became defense minister.

Bracken said that "for too long the unfair army call up, the discriminating two army system and the inadequacy of reënforcements have been shrouded in secrecy by a government which on this matter has been weak and vacillating and which has hidden its faults by the use of censorship and the excuse of security regulations."

[McNaughton announced Jan. 20 that 7,800 of 15,800 home defense soldiers drafted for overseas duty were absent without leave before embarkation and that 6,300 still were at large at that time. On Feb. 2 Bracken charged that Canadian drafted troops en route overseas threw their rifles and ammunition overboard. This was denied by McNaughton.]

TWO CHICAGOANS HURT IN BELGIUM NOW RECOVERING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—While fighting near Holtz in western Belgium, Pvt. Lester B. Copeland, 28, of 122 W. 78th st., Chicago, a member of an armored infantry unit, was hit in the left arm by a fragment of a German mortar shell. Within a few minutes he was taken by jeep ambulance to a field hospital from which he was flown to England. He is recovering. Copeland's mother, Margaret, lives in Miami, Fla.

During the fighting at Bastogne, Belgium, Sgt. Henry M. Tekiela, 21, of 2102 N. Lorel av., Chicago, an infantry man, was wounded in the left leg by a rifle bullet Dec. 30. He also was flown to England, where he is recovering rapidly.

COLOGNE RUINED BY ALLIED BLITZ, SAY REFUGEES

3 Bridges Destroyed; Rail Yards Wrecked.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY APPROACHING COLOGNE, Germany, March 1.—Germany's third largest city, ancient Cologne, was pictured by war prisoners and civilian refugees today as blitzed and gutted.

Three of the city's five bridges have been destroyed by allied air power and the other two severely damaged. Its railroad yards were said to be in a shambles and only a few public utilities were working spasmodically.

Once the seat of Rhineland culture and possessiong in its famous cathedral, "Dom," the finest example of decorated Gothic in Germany, Cologne was a city of despair and soup kitchens, the refugees said.

With almost every section of the city marred by tons of allied bombs, and much of the industrial districts in ruins, the 80,000 residents still there live in basements, bunkers, and forts. The city had a pre-war population of 780,000.

Most of City Damaged.

Latest reports said 85 per cent of the city was damaged. The center of the city was reported 95 per cent ruined but the incorporated suburb of Klettenberg on the southwest fared better, with only 60 per cent of it damaged. In some of the other outlying neighborhoods the damage was between 5 and 20 per cent.

How much damage the cathedral incurred is not known, but since it stands near the western end of the mighty Hohenzollern bridge, which has been a prime air target, bombs may have hit some parts of the structure, whose west towers rise 515 feet.

Newest of the five bridges spanning the quarter mile wide Rhine, the Hohenzollern, is a massive steel structure 1,400 feet long, carrying rail and highway traffic.

The northernmost bridge, the Koeln-Muelheim, a 2,300 foot suspension structure, was destroyed Nov. 28. A near miss detonated demolition charges which had been placed in chambers.

Industrial Centers Bombed.

The other two bridges destroyed were the south bridge [Sud-Brucke], a five span structure with a double track railway, which was knocked out Jan. 15, and the autobahn, a long highway bridge, destroyed Feb. 3. The other one damaged was the suspension bridge [Haenge-Brucke], carrying highway traffic, just south of the Hohenzollern. This span connects Cologne with Deutz.

In addition to the bridges, which carry most of the traffic to the western front opposite the 1st, 9th, and 3d armies, many railroad yards and Cologne's industrial centers were bombed by allied flyers who braved dense flak.

One target was the Ford works, the largest German producer of medium trucks. Others included depots, the Fritz Wihl mineral works, the Ostheim and Butzweiler air fields, and various factories manufacturing electrical supplies, metal goods, and chemicals.

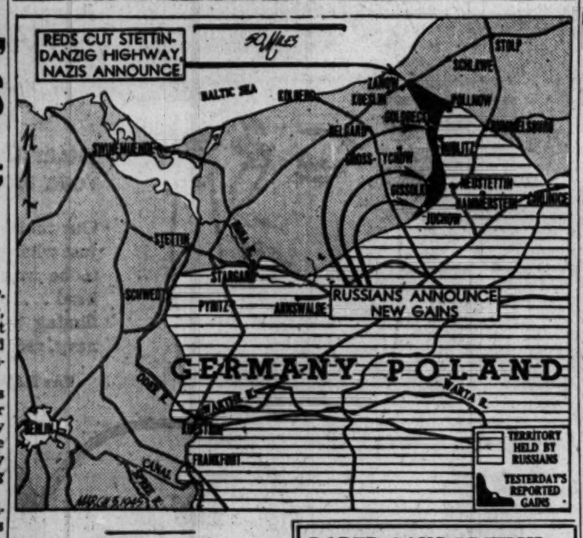
Center of Coal Area.

Cologne is also the administrative center of the Rhineland coal producing area as well as the seat of the most important government branches for the Rhineland district.

Until recently Cologne was the fiercest spot for anti-aircraft fire.

But now, with the approach of American ground troops, flyers say that the density of the Cologne barrage has fallen off considerably.

Reds Push Close to Baltic Sea



RED TANKS CUT OFF THOUSANDS IN POMERANIA

Nazis Say Spearheads 4 Miles from Baltic.

LONDON, March 3 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Germans announced last night that Red army spearheads had rolled within four miles of the Baltic Pomeranian coast, slashing the Berlin-Stettin-Danzig military superhighway near Koeslin and trapping scores of thousands of Nazi troops in a 5,800-square-mile section of northeastern Pomerania, the Polish Corridor, and Danzig.

The soviet high command told only of the capture of 30 villages on the western side of the Baltic salient. Moscow aparently was waiting until the narrow tank-tipped wedge had been strengthened before announcing that Pomerania had been chopped in two and another great trap sprung.

Railway Within Range.

Striking 22 miles north of captured Bublitz, Marshal Rokossovsky's 2d White Russian army veterans reached the Koeslin-Schlawe section of the big highway at Zanow after three days' hard fighting and the employment of 60,000 men, an enemy broadcast said.

The Berlin-Danzig trunk railway—last artery connecting central Germany with the imperiled northeastern forces—lies only a mile north of Zanow, within easy range of Russian guns, and one German Transocean agency report from the front said that soviet troops also had reached it.

With Russian seizure of the village of Dubbertech, one soviet column was only 10 miles northeast of Gross-Tychow, site of a large American prisoner of war camp.

Many Prisoners Freed.

Altho it is likely the Germans already have begun moving these prisoners westward, a dispatch to the Russian newspaper Izvestia said that great numbers of allied war prisoners were being freed in the sweep thru Pomerania.

Tightening their knot on the enemy troops pocketed in East Prussia, the Russians gained up to one mile on a 16 mile front southwest of Koenigsberg.

The Germans in this area are compressed into a 325 square mile pocket with their backs to the sea, and the Pomeranian break-thru made their sector a trap within a trap.

A midnight soviet bulletin said the Germans were fighting without regard to heavy losses. Three thousand Germans were killed and 34 German tanks, 45 field guns, and 200 machine guns were destroyed yesterday, it said. More than 800 Germans were captured.

PAPER SAYS BRITISH APPEASE ARGENTINA TO OFFSET U. S. TRADE

LONDON, March 2 (AP).—The liberal weekly New Statesman and Nation accused Britain today of adopting an appeasement attitude toward Argentina in an attempt to offset American business activities in South America and said the country was likely to become a hideout for refugee Nazis.

"One of the chief reasons for the success of Argentine fascism and its continued survival is Anglo-American commercial rivalry," the magazine said.

The magazine said Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, "the guitar playing El Caudillo of Argentina," hoped to succeed in fooling the allies where Generalissimo Franco of Spain had failed.

ALUMINUM CARS IN SHOW GUIDES TO LOW WEIGHT

J. W. Burnett, chief engineer and general manager of the Reynolds Metals company railway division, 310 S. Michigan av., said yesterday that to achieve still further savings in nonpay load weight another 5,000 pounds easily could be eliminated in subsequent production of aluminum box cars similar to the three now being displayed by THE TRIBUNE.

Burnett designed the cars now parked on a railroad siding in Illinois st., just east of Michigan av. adjoining W-G-N at the north end of Tribune Square's lower level. They may be inspected without charge from 10 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. thru Sunday.

Compared with a regulation steel box car, which weighs 46,000 pounds, the three aluminum models being exhibited by THE TRIBUNE weigh from 37,000 to 42,900 pounds. They are the first of their kind in the United States and were built for the Rock Island, the Alton, and the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroads.

CANADA PREMIER RAISES HOPE OF EARLY NAZI END

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 2.—"It is perhaps not going too far to express the hope that before the close of the San Francisco conference, organized resistance will have been crushed," Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said tonight. The San Francisco conference will open April 25.

He made this statement in announcing that parliament will be called for a brief session commencing March 19, and that it will be asked to give an "expression of support" to the Canadian delegation which will attend that conference.

He indicated a general election will come in late June or July, more likely the latter month. Parliament will be asked to approve war and civil estimates sufficient to carry the nation thru until after an election, King said.

PEOPLE'S ARMY 'SADDEST SACKS' YANKS HAVE MET

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE UNITED STATES 1ST ARMY, Germany, March 2.—Members of the German home guard, or Volkssturm [people's army], are about the "saddest sacks" American doughboys and tankers have yet encountered.

Most of them, with no heart for combat, were found awaiting the Americans in the cellars of Berrendorf, Pingsheim, and other Rhineland villages. There they sat, middle aged, fat family men, with few guns, little training, no uniforms—only army caps.

Take the case of three of them found in Pingsheim after a short and thunderous battle. Aged 47, 49, and 51, they had been alerted for duty last Friday and marched away to war on the spot.

One was a factory worker, one a clerk, and the third, a farmer. Their company commander, a factory foreman, is dead—because, as one of the prisoners said: "The stupid ass thought he could get a knight's cross."

Moved Quickly to Front.

Very few of the men in their battalion had been able to collect their weapons at the platoon leader's home so quickly were they moved to the front. During the long march from the Rhine they were told that machine pistols and rifles would be given to them as soon as they reached the combat zone.

Their morale could be described as neither good nor bad, only nonexistent. The factory worker said he had to "do my duty." The clerk spoke of a son on the Russian front and said he had left his home so suddenly that he could not even kiss his wife goodby. The farmer said nothing at all—just stared with dull eyes.

Men taken at Berrendorf said their commander disappeared after being unable to get any one to help him distribute weapons. That was the morning of the day American units entered the town to find the Volkssturm garrison waiting in cellars or at work. Their Volkssturm arm bands were still in an unopened package and only a few had pay books.

Trained Four Hours a Week.

The training of this unit consisted of four hours every Sunday morning since October.

Their company armament consisted of 25 Greek rifles, without ammunition, four Danish rifles, two French rifles, two old German rifles and six new ones, 40 bazookas, four cases of hand grenades, four American grenades, and 10 steel helmets which had been discarded by soldiers.

Not knowing who were home guard soldiers and who were not, the Americans took no chances and shipped every male between 16 and 60 back for screening at the prisoner of war cages.

YANK TO WONDER WHY HE CARRIED LOAD: STILWELL

Cleveland, O., March 2 (AP).—Gen. Stilwell said tonight that when the American soldier gets back home, he is going to wonder about a lot of things, especially why everybody could not have borne an equal share of the load.

Among other things the "grown up and developed" soldier will wonder about, he added, is how it was "that so and so could stay home and make money while he was being shelled and bombed" and how there could be strikes while he was fighting.

"We must get ready for him, he deserves all we can do for him," Stilwell said in an address prepared for delivery before the Cleveland Ordnance association.

Picturing the average G. I as a "pretty intelligent fellow who knows the score, the new chief of army ground forces said the G. I. is a realist and that his primary concern is typified by his daily prayer: "'O, Lord, distribute the bullets as you do the pay: Let the officers get most or them.'"

POST-WAR DRAFT OF BRITISH BOYS 18 TO 20 FORESEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—For several years after the war, boys 18 to 20 probably will be drafted for one year's service in the British army, it was predicted today.

Reporting that Prime Minister Churchill expected to announce such a plan in the house of commons within two months, the London Star said registration of youths 16 years old also will be continued.

CHICAGO YANK HELPS TO RAISE FLAG OVER TRIER

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TRIER, Germany, March 2.—This city, Germany's oldest, fell today to the whirlwind attack of the 10th armored division.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon the American flag was run up in the heart of the city by Capt. Robert W. Wilson, Newark, N. J., and Capt. Steve Lang, 504 W. 117th st., Chicago.

The flag was sent by Wilson's wife. "We had an exchange," he explained. "I sent her a Nazi flag. I've been carrying this American flag three months, waiting for a place to put it." It was run up over the Hotel Porta Nigra. Altho the approaches to the city were strongly defended, resistance within Trier itself collapsed so swiftly that a bridge across the Moselle river was captured intact and hundreds of prisoners were taken.

City Is Battered.

Trier, whose boast is that it is older than Rome, is battered. The famous cathedral is badly, altho not irreparably, damaged, with all the windows blown out, the huge organ smashed, and great chunks of masonry from walls and roof lying side by side with tumbled statues in front of the altar. The city's prized Roman monument—Porta Nigra—a few blocks away, however, is undamaged except for a few superficial scars showing white against the blackened stone.

Altho Trier's peace time population is between 80,000 and 90,000, we saw perhaps 50 civilians during a visit of about three hours.

Our entrance to the city was thru a compound containing huge barracks buildings, then into a street where we were surprised by civilians, waving in extremely friendly fashion. As we slowed for a curve, three soldiers started toward us from across a field with their hands high over their heads, but we didn't wait. In the center of the city we found plenty of American armor and troopers standing about. The 10th armored division hit Trier from five directions.

Meets Kankakee Officer.

We met Lt. George C. Rice, Kankakee, Ill., who said a sniper who had wounded one man and killed another in the other end of town had been killed himself by Capt. Gordon G. Geiger of Syracuse, Ind., armed with a tommy gun.

A German Tiger tank followed an American tank platoon for two hours last night under cover of darkness and fog, taking pot shots from off the road until it was finally destroyed by Staff Sgt. Robert D. Litherland of Allendale, Ill., gunner on a medium tank.

NOT EVEN A CAT GREETS G. I.S AT PALAWAN PORT

Charred Town Evacuated Under Air Blows.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

PUERTO PRINCESSA, Palawa Island, P. I., March 1 [Delayed].—Puerto Princessa, a wrecked port in which not a house was left intact, was captured at noon yesterday by a detachment of engineers from the 532d engineering special brigade as the United States 41st division invaded Palawan, Sulu archipelago island.

For the first time since the invasion of the Philippines no natives came out to greet the Americans. Not a dog nor a cat moved in what remained of the tree-bordered streets in the little town.

People Flee Air Attacks.

Four Filipinos paddled an outrigger canoe from a neighboring island to the flagship of Rear Adm. Fechtler and said that the population had evacuated Puerto Princessa when the American air attacks became intense. All that remained was a wrecked church, houses and the barracks of the Japanese seaplane personnel from which stores had been removed or burned. Alongside the pier lay a 70 foot tender which apparently had been sunk by air bombing.

The grimmest sight in the town was the charred remains of the former Philippine constabulary police barracks, where 150 American prisoners from Bataan had been imprisoned and where many had been massacred. Here the Japanese had poured gasoline and tossed torches into their underground air raid shelters.

Prisoner Cage Wired.

Barbed wire still was strung around the prison stockade in view of the Japanese parade grounds, where enemy soldiers had practiced with their bayonets on stuffed dummies in view of their prisoners.

All of the buildings around the central port and courtyard barracks had collapsed. The whole area was charred and had many bomb craters.

About the compound the G. Is saw dugouts into which American soldiers had been forced and then executed.

Palm logs which had served as rafters and the cloth of sand bags which made up the parapets were all blackened from the flames of burning gasoline. Many dugouts had caved in.

Several miles inland from the beachhead huge fires burned all night. Remnants of the Japanese garrison were believed to be firing their supplies.

TRIBUNE HANDS MOTHER LETTER FROM PRISONER

A copy of a letter written by Corp. Otis Hayden, 22, of the marine corps, who is a prisoner in Japan, was delivered by THE TRIBUNE yesterday to his mother, Mrs. Grace Hayden of 6555 Ingleside av. The letter was read over the Japanese radio at Tokyo and intercepted by Roy Epps, a sailor on duty on a warship in the Pacific.

Corp. Otis Hayden.

Epps wrote to THE TRIBUNE that he got the street number of Mrs. Hayden, but not the name of the street. He wanted Mrs. Hayden to get the message. The Haydens had moved recently, but after some investigation the marine's mother was located. The marine said that he was "all right" and wanted news of his former pals and small photos.

Hayden was 18 when he enlisted in the marines in July, 1940. He was sent to the Philippines the next October and was captured with the fall of Corregidor. Relatives did not hear from him until a year ago. He formerly attended Hyde Park High school, where he played the trumpet in the school band. He became a bugler for the marines. His father is Henry C. Hayden, an electrician.

Government to Manage Some Jap Plane Plants

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Japanese government announced yesterday it would take over the management of certain aircraft factories. This apparently is an attempt to increase warplane production. A Domei news agency broadcast said the factories would be put under the supervision of the government controled munitions industry, and that "for the time being the workers will be contributed by the companies."

CHICAGO OFFERS WATER VALVES TO AID MANILA

Public Works Commissioner Hewitt said yesterday that Chicago can give three 48 inch water main valves in response to a request by Gen. MacArthur for valves to help restore the war wrecked water system in Manila.

Arthur E. Gorman, head of the water branch of the war production board, was notified of Chicago's offer. Hewitt said he did not know whether the three valves would be accepted. Gen. MacArthur asked American cities to contribute seven 60 inch valves.

The largest valves used by the Chicago water department are 54 inches, and they are obsolete. Forty-eight inch valves weigh 17,100 pounds each. They were purchased in 1926, and have not been used.

OBLIGING JAP HELPS CORRAL IWO COMRADES

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

WITH THE MARINES ON IWO ISLAND, March 2.—Maj. Arthur Hanson, formerly of Chicago and now of Washington, D. C., was busy cleaning out Japanese cave positions left behind the front lines by our advance. He paused to report that he was named for Arthur Sears Henning, Tribune Washington correspondent. His father is Elisha Hanson, counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

Then, equipped with war dogs and a coöperative volunteer Jap prisoner, he sent men to a part of the island where caves had been seen.

"We were there yesterday," he said. "Got nine Japs. One threw a hand grenade, but we ducked into a cross passage and sent a patrol to the top. The boys killed him when he came out. We think more Japs are there."

The Japanese prisoner was used to call encouragement to his comrades to come out and join him.

War Dogs Go Inside.

One war dog was unleashed and sent into the cave. He got in about four feet, didn't seem to like it, and returned. He repeated the performance. "Smart dog," said Maj. Hanson.

Another dog went in and apparently toured the cave, coming out a different entrance. "That dog hasn't got much more sense than we have," the major remarked.

The cave was about 150 feet long. It had five entrances on one side, others opening toward the ocean, and was lined with cross passages. The rooms at one point went down into the earth 100 feet. The Japanese had used it as a hospital, a marine said, because "the smell of death came from it."

Nothing happened. The Jap prisoner told an interpreter he thought he knew of another cave where some Japanese might be induced to give up. A detail was left to guard the entrances in front of us and the party moved off to search other caves.

Maj. Hanson's men discovered and knocked out a launching cave for rocket bombs.

Two Chicagoans Take a Rest.

Reclining at the base of a hill just behind the front were two Chicagoans, F. C. Stoneberg, 2336 N. Tripp av., a hospital apprentice 1st class, and Stanley Pawlak, 3100 25th st., a pharmacist's mate 3d class.

They had just returned from evacuating casualties from the front. Two days ago they had a hot time as sniper fire followed them while they went about their duties. Pawlak had had a close call when two shells hit an evacuation center and killed a companion.

Pvt. Robert F. Sharrett, Dayton, O., celebrated his 18th birthday working with a demolition squad on Iwo after a visit with a brother who also is fighting on Iwo.

Among chaplains with the 4th division marines is Father Driscoll, East St. Louis, Ill., formerly of Anna and Cobden, Ill.

40 SUPER FORTS HIT SINGAPORE IN 5TH DAY RAID

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—India based Super Fortresses pounded Singapore again today in an action obviously a part of plans to cut Japan's stolen empire in two.

Twentieth air force headquarters here said results of the daylight operation against the great naval base and supply bottleneck were good. About 40 of the B-29s took part, bombing visually. It was the fifth daylight strike against the British base.

Targets were identified as major industrial installations and the naval base. One B-29 was lost.

One B-29 flew over Kobe, Japan, and another alert was caused by "enemy planes" southwest of Tokyo.

CHINESE RETAKE JAP STRONGHOLD NEAR HENGYANG

CHUNGKING, March 2 (AP).—Chinese forces have recaptured Chaling, important Japanese stronghold in Hunan province, 60 miles east of Hengyang, the Chinese high command announced tonight. Chaling is a key point guarding the east flank of the Hengyank-Hongkong corridor.

Chinese troops also counter-attacked entrenched Japanese seven miles southwest of Paoching, a Japanese strongpoint 63 miles west of Hengyang, and killed 120 of the enemy at a cost of 73 casualties.

[Allied headquarters in Calcutta said two Chinese columns, pushing four miles thru jungles on both sides of the old Burma road, have advanced to within 11 air line miles of Lashio, 135 miles northeast of Mandalay in Burma.]

115 G.I. CONVICTS AT PARIS TO FIGHT WAY TO HONOR

Volunteer as Privates in Combat Unit.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 2.—Announcement of the granting of clemency and the formation of a special fighting unit for 115 enlisted men given long prison terms for black market activities was made today by Brig. Gen. Pleas B. Rogers, commander of the Seine section, in which the court martial trials took place. The opportunity for these soldiers to redeem themselves by serving voluntarily in a special combat unit was provided in an order issued by Gen. Eisenhower.

Twenty-seven of the enlisted men convicted were not permitted to take advantage of this offer, while 14 others elected to serve their sentences. Sixty-two others still are awaiting trial.

All Began as Privates.

Selected volunteers will report to a replacement depot on March 7 for training. Each has been reduced to the grade of private. The ultimate assignment of the unit was not announced.

A letter addressed to the men given clemency by Gen. Rogers told the soldiers they had confessed pilfering trains and taking supplies intended for the fighting forces. The trials revealed, Rogers said, "entire trains ravaged as tho they were in the hands of bandits . . . and this continued for months while our armies were at death grips with a most powerful and dangerous foe."

"You have, however," the letter continues, "been fortunate to have a commander with a profound sense of justice and a keen interest in every individual soldier. In the repentant spirit which led to your confessions he perceives bases for your redemption."

Fighting Spirit Urged.

Rogers asked the volunteers for fighting spirit, loyalty, and no backsliding, adding, "You'll owe your honor to the commander who has given you this chance."

Convictions in the black market cases carried sentences ranging from five to 50 years, with dishonorable discharges.

Those not included in the offer of clemency were ringleaders or others who refused to coöperate in clearing up the crimes.

WPB WILL FIX HULA DANCER'S HOURLY WORTH

HONOLULU, T. H., March 2 (AP).—The barefooted girls who swish thru the romantic hula dance, overlooked up to now in the government's wage fixing program, have at last caught the eye of the war labor board.

The WLB has undertaken to decide who is a good dancer, who is only fair, and to set the price per hour the girls should get for their convolutions.

Wages now range from a minimum of $1 an hour up to $10 for half an hour. The pay scale came before the WLB in the regular course of business. The bureau of labor statistics submitted a job and wage analysis and divided hula dancers into two classes: "hula dancer, class A, female," and "hula dancer, class B, female." The A class is inexperienced. The hula dancer, class B, female, was described as "fully trained, experienced, and possessed with intense desire, but due to accumulated torso bulges, stiffened joints, and many Hawaiian moons, speed has greatly moderated and the worker uses less of footwork and rotary movement of the hips," but instead "puts much emphasis on the straight forward and backward pull and push motion."

REP. DIRKSEN FLIES TO PARIS FROM LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—Rep. Everett Dirksen [R., Ill.] flew to Paris today on the second leg of a tour of war centers that will take him as far as Chungking, China.

From Paris the representative, whose constituents gave him $4,000 for his tour, expects to go to Naples, Basra, Karachi, Bombay, Ceylon, the Burma road, Chungking, Cairo, Tehran, and Moscow.

Ranking Republican member of the house appropriations committee, Dirksen said he was checking on federal agencies abroad to decide which, if any, should be continued after the war.

In England, Dirksen inspected a huge depot where American lend-lease is repacked and relabeled for distribution to other European countries. Asked if he saw any evidence of lend-lease supplies being relabeled to make it appear they originated in Britain, he said he had no comment.

JAPS VISIT GAS STATIONS; YANKS FILL 'EM FULL

WITH U. S. 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, Luzon, March 3 [Saturday]—(AP).—There were two gasoline filling stations a corner in a small town near Manila, and so D troop of the 5th cavalry regiment decided to bivouac there for a night.

About 9 p. m. two trucks pulled in and a crowd of men jabbering Japanese piled out. The Yanks opened fire and killed about 20 Japanese. The rest scattered. About 3 a. m. two more trucks arrived. One, apparently loaded with explosives, was blown up. The driver of the second tossed a match into it, blowing it up, too. Among the Yanks were Sgt. Bill Pumo, Ottawa, Ill.; Pvt. Dante Canarecci, Mishawaka, Ind.; Pvt. Creston Inloes, Rock Island, Ill.; Pvt. Theodore Adams, Ottumwa, Ia., and Pvt. Martin Bazzett, Cedar Springs, Mich.

DE GAULLE SAYS STATE SHOULD RULE INDUSTRY

Constitutional Parley to Decide Extent.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 2.—Gen. De Gaulle told a cheering consultative assembly today that his government favored state control of coal, electricity, gas, transport, communications, heavy industry, and credit.

This point, which was in line with a joint nationalization manifesto published earlier today by the Communist and Socialist party, headed the economic program whose realization De Gaulle described as essential for national rehabilitation. He said a future constitutional convention would define the extent and conditions of state control.

Insisting on increased state control with as large a margin as possible left for private initiative, the chief of government annnounced the forthcoming creation of a state economic council representing all the country's economic elements.

De Gaulle warned the French people that hard times were in store for them. Disclosing that the French army already numbers 1,200,000 men, he said the war effort has been the top priority since the liberation of France and that everything has been sacrificed to its furtherance.

To worried financial circles De Gaulle gave a respite, telling his audience that the government's financial reforms would be announced in a fortnight by Finance Minister Rene Pleven.

"We never pretended liberation could be followed immediately by prosperity," De Gaulle said. "We never said our American and British allies, who, for the moment, have almost all the raw materials, manufactured goods, and ships, could send us the great tonnage required for our supply in a few weeks."

WOOD ALCOHOL DRINK PUTS 4 G. I.s IN HOSPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 2.—Four American soldiers in Lorraine were taken to a military hospital after drinking liquor made of wood alcohol, it was learned today.

This followed an episode a few weeks ago at Nancy, where half a dozen Yanks and several French civilians went blind as a result of drinking bootleg liquor. Earlier this week, two Polish farm hands at Beattelainville, in the department of Moselle, died from drinking wood alcohol booze.

STORM GATHERS OVER PLANS TO REBUILD EUROPE

Nationalists Seeking to Save U. S. Resources.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 2.—Nationalists and internationalists in congress are girding for a mighty battle over the Roosevelt program to pour billions of dollars worth of dwindling American resources into the industrial and commercial rehabilitation of Europe.

Many senators and representatives, appalled by the global scheme of the administration to make Uncle Sam the sugar daddy of war impoverished nations despite his own weakened financial condition, are moving to curb Presidential power to dissipate our resources under the guise of lend-lease for the conduct of the war.

Agreement with France.

Already the administration has signed a 2½ billion dollar lend-lease agreement with France, the greater part of the material to be supplied to France will be used for the rehabilitation of French industry, commerce, and agriculture and under the terms of the agreement can be furnished until July 1, 1948, even if Germany should be knocked out of the war in the next few months. The material not used in the war is to be furnished to France on 30 year unsecured credit terms at 2% per cent interest.

A new lend-lease agreement with Russia for 4 billions is awaiting signature. As in the case of the French agreement, the material not used in the war can be supplied until 1948. The Russians sought the inclusion of large amounts of heavy machinery and other goods for industrial rehabilitation that could not be delivered before the end of the war, but which they would receive as a gift in the guise of war lend-lease. According to American officials, most of such requests were disallowed.

Six Billion Loan.

In addition, the Russians are seeking a post-war 6 billion dollar long term loan, unsecured and at nominal interest. The British want an outright grant or a loan of 6 billions on the ground that the war will leave them impoverished and unable to maintain their former standard of living.

These proposed outlays and those required to carry out the plans Mr. Roosevelt advanced in his speech yesterday to rehabilitate the liberated countries of Europe would swell the American post-war reconstruction budget for Europe alone to more than 20 billion dollars on top of 40 billion dollars of lend-lease up to date and commitments of 25 billions more.

"Where is the money coming from?" is the question the nationalists are firing at the internationalists supporting the Roosevelt program, as congress considers boosting the national debt limit to 300 billions for war expenditures alone.

Believe F. D. R. Has Power.

It appears that the President under existing lend-lease legislation has the power to make outright grants or loans to any countries for post-war economic rehabilitation in the guise of lend-lease to strengthen a nation whose defense he deems vital to the defense of the United States.

The gathering congressional storm is now centered in the house committee on foreign affairs, which is considering the bill to extend lend-lease for another year. Under a section of the legislation allowing three years for completion of contracts the one year extension would enable the administration to supply material to post-war economic rehabilitation until 1949. Rep. Vorys [R., O.] and Rep. Mundt [R., S. D.] are making a fight in the committee for provisions in the extension limiting lend-lease to strictly war purposes.

Conducted "Unofficial War."

"The administration proposed lend-lease in the first place as a measure to keep us out of war," said Vorys. "Under that peace measure the administration conducted an unofficial war. Now lend-lease is represented as a war measure under which the administration is making commitments for post-war economic peace expenditures. Lend-lease should be limited to war expenditures only."

The President is not even waiting for the European countries to advance their pleas for American financial aid. In his instructions to Sam Rosenman, whom he recently sent to Europe, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I would also like you to ascertain what the needs of these countries will be for supplies and services to repair the destruction and devastation of the war and to build some of the economic foundations of the peace, in terms of possible credits or other financial assistance which may be made available by this country by means already at hand or thru recommendations for appropriate legislation."

This passage indicates that the President is well aware of his power to extend financial assistance wherever he sees fit without recourse to congress.

PAN-AMERICAN PARLEY ACTS TO NIP AGGRESSION

MEXICO CITY, March 2 (AP). — United States stipulations which would permit United States adherence to hemisphere-wide guarantees against aggression without congressional ratification have been accepted by key South American nations, it was learned tonight.

Brazil, Uruguay, and Colombia, sponsors of the declaration of Chapultepec which would pledge military force to assure existing frontiers against aggressors, have acquiesced to United States modifications.

The United States delegation has secured the approval of Sen. Connally [D., Tex.], it was learned, for a modified declaration of Chapultepec which would pledge force immediately against continental peace breakers during the war.

Sanctions Provided.

The new declaration states that the American republics consider any aggression in this hemisphere as an attack on the allied nations' war effort and will impose military sanctions, if necessary, under their executives' war time powers.

Approval of plans today to set up a new Pan-American union governing board on May 1 opened the way for Argentina to attend union meetings again whether or not the other American nations recognize that government.

A member of the union, Argentina instructed her delegate not to go to any more meetings after her request for an inter-American conference to consider her case was turned down. Buenos Aires may now change her mind and send a delegate along with the other countries.

Near Final Agreement.

The conference also swept towards final agreement on the three other prime subjects under discussion:

1. Reorganization of the pan-American union giving it political and economic powers as reported favorably by the commission on the inter-American system.
2. Economic subcommittees agreed on three resolutions combining United States and Latin American plans to ease the inevitable break from war to peace time business and help Latin America industrialize.
3. The commission on the war effort approved three resolutions providing for punishment of axis war criminals who might sneak into the hemisphere, from Nazi big-wigs down to their menial agents.

Action also was taken towards frustrating permanently any axis attempt to get a foothold on the American continent by hiding money or property here and then using it to finance any subversive act.

Interpolations in F. D. R. Speech Placed in Record

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—All of the interpolations President Roosevelt ad libbed into his speech to congress yesterday appeared in today's copy of the Congressional Record—the official account of his words. Mr. Roosevelt freely threw in extemporaneous comment as he went thru his prepared report on the Crimea conference. There were so many interpolations official White House stenographers worked until after sundown putting them in proper form for the official record.

F. D. R. SUGGESTS NAZIS BE USED TO REBUILD RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt said today that it might not be a bad idea to send some ex-German soldiers into the Crimea to clean up the war mess he saw there.

This remark came in a news conference exchange about a treaty for conquered Germany. He had referred yesterday in his message to congress to "reckless, senseless fury, this terrible destruction" wrought by the Nazis at Yalta in the Crimea. He told congress that "there was little left in Yalta except blank walls, ruins, destruction," altho the town had no military significance.

While Mr. Roosevelt did not elaborate on using Germans, there are some who believe that German man power will be the only really great source of productive German energy available to the allies after the Nazi collapse.

Begins 47 Minutes Late.

It was the President's first news conference since Jan. 19, and opened 47 minutes late.

Somebody wanted to know whether there will be many senate treaties as a result of the Big Three's Yalta conference.

Treaties and legislation will be going to congress like clockwork, said the President. He didn't grow specific but he said there will be a need for things like money—an obvious reference to the Bretton Woods agreements—and for a host of things he wrapped up as small details.

Uninformative Answers.

With uninformative answers, Mr. Roosevelt deflated questions about rumors that Commerce Secretary Wallace will take over the foreign economic administration, about the mission of former Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn to Russia, and about the reason for calling an allied nations conference in San Francisco. Reports have been current that Flynn was sent to Moscow to explore the possibilities of a rapprochement between the Kremlin and the Vatican.

WARNS AMERICA: GUARD PEACE BY OWN ALERTNESS

Senator Sees Danger in Relying on Pacts.

Assertions of some Americans that an association of nations is necessary to future peace were described as a delusion by Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] in a speech yesterday before the Executive Club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

Sen. Owen Brewster.

Brewster asserted there had been in the last 2,000 years 300 such associations, all designed to preserve world peace and that the Holy Alliance, signed in 1815 by Russia, Austria, and Prussia, was in purpose almost a duplicate of the Atlantic Charter.

The Maine senator pointed out there were no global wars from the fall of Napoleon in 1815 to 1914, when Germany challenged British sea power. This era of comparative peace, he said, was attributed by some to lack of world-wide communications, but, he said, in the previous century this country had almost constant French and Indian wars which were offshoots of wars between Spain, France, and England in their struggle for world supremacy.

Pleads for Saving Heritage.

Brewster warned against placing dependence in an association of nations, but said the American people must become informed, prepared, and alert, ready to confer with other nations but preserving the great national heritage if global wars are to be avoided in the future.

"In order to achieve this goal," Brewster asserted, "There must not be sole dependence upon a President or a congress or a senator, but rather upon the informed and alert intelligence of the great mass of citizens of the United States if we are to be true to our traditions."

He urged that all citizens become better informed and take a more active part in decisions shaping the nation's action abroad.

Brewster said he considered it particularly appropriate to speak in the middle west, for "you here in the heart of the nation have the capacity to solve these problems as you have so many of the past."

Col. McCormick's Stand.

After remarking that the middle west was sometimes referred to as the heart of isolationism, the Maine senator said, "I never heard of Col. Robert R. McCormick, who is sometimes called the leading isolationist, as opposing anything to which other countries are rightfully entitled. He simply didn't want America to become a Little Red Riding Hood in international intrigue. He even demonstrated his internationalism by saying at one time he was agreeable to the annexation of Great Britain. Lord Halifax said almost the same thing when he declared Great Britain must become the junior partner of the United States.

"Americans will become the greatest dupes of all the ages," Brewster warned, "if they believe that any understanding reached at San Francisco will be adequate to supersede the nation's armed protection."

His Policy: Stronger China.

The senator said American foreign policy of the past can be defined in two words—Monroe Doctrine—and offered two words for the country's future foreign policy—"Stronger China."

If America does not pursue this policy, Russia will "move in and do the job," the senator asserted. After recalling a conversation with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in which the Chinese leader asked, "What are the intentions of Russia?" Brewster asserted that if, after a period of reconstruction, Russia revives its drive for world revolution, "the world will face its gravest challenge."

"It is essential that 130 million Americans figure these things out," Brewster said. "We must keep America strong and well, her people intelligent, recognizing primarily that their responsibility is in preserving our great heritage. If we gave it away we would gain only the contempt of the world."

Bataan Veteran

Sgt. Joseph Donahey and his wife at North Western station after they arrived in Chicago yesterday. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

In the yellow brick gymnasium of the Emerson school in Maywood, a hundred parents and other kin of men missing in fighting on Bataan early in the war gathered last night to hear Sgt. Joseph Donahey, 30, tell of the seven days of the captured Americans' march of death. With him was his Filipino bride, Corajon, 18.

Sgt. Donahey, who returned to his home in Clinton, Ia. only a few weeks ago after escaping and fighting with the Filipino guerrillas, brought a message of hope to those who crowded around him with pictures of their loved ones. He was guest of honor of the Winfield post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"There are many Americans living in the islands who have not yet been able to report in," he said. "My own family has not yet been officially notified that I am still not missing in action, and there are Americans on northern Luzon still behind the Jap lines."

WAR IN 2 LANDS SEEN BY NEW BRITISH CONSUL

Kenneth Bumstead, the new senior consul in the office of W. H. Gallienne, British consul general in Chicago, is a man who has seen war in two countries, it was learned yesterday at a press conference he held in the British consulate, 360 N. Michigan av.

Kenneth Bumstead.

He arrived in China in 1932 to the accompaniment of a Japanese bombardment of Shanghai and later he was acting consul general in Chungking when Japanese bombs destroyed the British official residence there. During most of the last year Bumstead has been working in the foreign office in London, sometimes to the buzz and roar of German robot and rocket bombs.

His Chinese period of service ended with Pearl Harbor, after which he was interned by the Japanese for eight months. Upon his release he resumed his consular work, this time in Madagascar.

TRUCK-TRAIN CRASH FATAL.

WALLACE TAKES OFFICE, GLOWS OVER HIS FUTURE

Tells of Plan to Raise Living Standards.

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Henry A. Wallace marked out for himself today a big place in America's economic future, even tho congress has deprived him of financial power.

The former Vice President was sworn into the cabinet in a gay ceremony. Then he promptly laid down these goals for his work in what congress meant to be a close-cropped secretaryship of commerce:

"The department of commerce will continue to aid the war effort and it will likewise do its part to facilitate maximum coöperation between the nation's employes, investors, business, agriculture, and government to the end that all America, our assets and our people may be busily and profitably employed."

How great a part the department can play remained in doubt, now that the 40 billion dollar realm of finance which Jesse H. Jones ruled as secretary has been taken away.

He Makes Some Promises.

But Wallace showed no hesitancy about the department entering broad fields. His statement continued:

"It will do what it can to help develop the fullest use of all man power, woman power, money, credit, ingenuity, and science to produce even more for the peace than we have learned to produce for war so that the peace time standard of living may be continually rising."

Wallace took his oath of office from Justice Black of the Supreme court. Black's smiling remark, "You're in," brought general laughter.

But it had been a long, hard pull for Wallace to get that "You're in."

President Roosevelt, as soon as he was inaugurated for a fourth term, asked Jones to get out to make way for Wallace, saying that because of his services in the Presidential campaign Wallace "deserves almost any service which he believes he can satisfactorily perform."

Loan Job Still Open.

Jones expressed strong doubts of Wallace's ability to run the Reconstruction Finance corporation and other big lending agencies. It was not until yesterday that Wallace was confirmed as secretary. Action was held up until the lending agencies had been taken away from the department.

Mr. Roosevelt is now casting about to find some one to run the loan agencies. He told his news conference today that Jones is not holding over in this post pending choice of a successor.

Jones had no comment. He turned over his duties to Undersecretary Wayne C. Taylor on Jan. 24 and has since been winding up his affairs in the big RFC building built during his regime in Washington's banking district.

Wallace's first act as secretary was to appoint a committee of business men and bankers to report as soon as possible on "suggestions for enabling small business to do its full share" in furnishing post-war employment. Included in the group is Edward E. Brown, chairman of the board of the First National bank of Chicago.

Vargas Hints Brazil May Resume Ties with Russia

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, March 2 (AP).—President Getulio Vargas of Brazil said today that the time had arrived to examine the matter of reopening relations between Brazil and Russia. The president denied he was a candidate to succeed himself in the forthcoming elections but made clear that he was willing to be drafted.

CHURCHILL ACTS TO MAKE EMPIRE A SOLID BLOC

British to Meet Before San Francisco.

LONDON, March 2 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill's government, its foreign policy solidly supported by commons, moved today toward welding the British empire into a solid bloc with a single voice to match Russia's spreading European influence and the United States leadership in the Americas.

The British foreign office disclosed that a London preview of the world security league conference at San Francisco probably would be held in early April and that it would bring together representatives of Britain, Australia, South Africa, Canada, and New Zealand.

Behind the scenes of the strictly empire conference lies increasing realization of the economic and political inter-dependence among England and the dominions, together with the determination to maintain a position of equality with other great powers. There also is concern over Britain's voting role in the new security league.

Equality Seen in Union.

Arthur Salters, one economic governmental expert, has contended in commons that equal partnership with Russia and the United States would be possible only thru participation of the British commonwealth as a whole.

Some sections of the British press are uneasy at the possibility that small, long-neutral countries which only recently declared war on the axis will have a vote equal to Britain in the security league.

Pinned to these fears is the argument in some quarters here that Britain's position is different from that of other great powers, that Russia will be able to count upon votes of Balkan neighbors and that most of the western hemisphere countries presumably will string along with the United States.

One Spokesman Likely.

It is expected here that any request for an individual vote for each of the dominions would bring a corresponding request by Russia for the soviet republics, which would leave the United States outnumbered.

The probable course at the British conference will be to obtain agreement on a single empire spokesman under a plan which would give five big powers—Britain, China, France, Russia, and the United States—domination of the league's decisions.

The pre-San Francisco meeting will be the second imperial conference of the war.

SERVICE LEAGUE ASSAILS O. K. ON REDS IN ARMY

Denunciation of the war department's plan to permit Communists to obtain officer rank in the army was issued yesterday by the Illinois Republican Service Men's league. A resolution adopted at a 19th ward division meeting of the league said:

"We condemn unreservedly the New Deal's lifting of the ban against granting commissions in our army to Communists as being an invitation to treason and revolution and as a denunciation and repudiation of American patriotism and whole souled devotion to the Republic of the United States."

Under the terms of the recent war department directive no Communist or person of other alien leaning may be barred from officer rank unless his alien loyalty "overrides" his loyalty to the United States.

Elliodor Libonati, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Illinois department, American Legion, said that his committee approves the stand taken by National Commander Scheiberling in demanding that the order be rescinded.

BURNS FATAL TO YOUTH.

SENATORS VOTE NO ON WILLIAMS AS CHIEF OF REA

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Senate leaders were reported tonight to have proposed to Aubrey Williams that he ask President Roosevelt to withdraw his nomination as rural electrification administrator.

They told him, the report went, that there appeared to be no chance for confirmation, but Williams replied that he would prefer to go down fighting.

The suggestion that Williams withdraw was made after canvasses showed a heavy Democratic defection from support of him. Opponents were claiming 44 to 48 assured votes—depending on whose poll was used—against confirmation with many senators still uncommitted.

Ellender Sees a Chance.

But Sen. Ellender [D., La.], Williams supporter, told reporters:

"We've got a fighting chance. I have never seen such bias and prejudice as has confused consideration of this issue."

Republicans and southern Democrats fighting the nomination won the first round today with a 12-8 senate agriculture committee vote against confirmation.

Separate Agency Sought.

Talking with reporters afterward, Sen. Shipstead [R., Minn.] made clear that his committee vote against Williams was primarily one of protest against committee failure to give clearance to his bill which would move the REA from the agriculture department and re-establish it as an independent agency.

Williams is a former social worker who was deputy administrator of the WPA under Harry Hopkins and later head of the national youth Administration. Now 54, he has been organization director for the National Farmers' union since NYA was abolished in 1943.

EDITOR PLACED ON PROBATION IN REGISTRY CASE

Informs Court He Sold Political Sheet.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2 [Special].—John Alexander Mahan, 51, publisher of the Republican Register, a monthly political newspaper, was handed a suspended sentence of six months in the workhouse today when he pleaded guilty in District court to a charge of publishing an "unregistered newspaper."

District Judge Arthur W. Selover of Hennepin county, who imposed the sentence, placed Mahan on probation for one year.

Before granting probation, the judge questioned the publisher and assured himself that Mahan had disposed of his newspaper. Mahan said he had sold it to Milton F. Budde of Long Lake, a Minneapolis suburb.

"We have no objection to the Republican Register as a newspaper," Judge Selover said, "and no question of freedom of the press is involved. We are interested in preventing you or anybody else from using a newspaper as a blind for unauthorized solicitation of funds."

Complaints Received.

County Prosecutor Michael Dillon previously had explained to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that he had received complaints that Mahan was using his paper as a blind to make telephone solicitations for pretended political purposes and that the newspaper registry law offered the "most convenient" means of punishing him.

The registry law, which had been on the Minnesota books since April 21, 1931, requires the publishers of all newspaper and circulars, except newspapers qualified to accept legal advertising, to file with the register of deeds a certificate disclosing ownership.

It was introduced in the Minnesota legislature at a time when the state's gag law, under which civil courts were empowered to enjoin the publication of certain types of newspapers, was under attack in the United States Supreme court, where the case had been carried by THE TRIBUNE with the backing of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The gag law was found unconstitutional by a 5 to 4 vote of the court on June 1, 1931.

Fly-by-Night Sheets.

Sponsors of the registry law said it was aimed at fly-by-night sheets that spring up in the Twin Cities around election time. It was an attempt to force the publishers of such sheets to put themselves on record so that persons believing themselves libeled would know whom to sue.

Hennepin county records disclosed that, altho the law has been on the books for nearly 14 years, the prosecution of Mahan is the first to be brought under it. Mahan has contended that his failure to register was inadvertent. He said he was told to register his paper with the clerk of the Circuit court and did so. When he was indicted in February, 1944, he learned that this was only a registration of trade-mark and did not meet the requirements of the law.

Mahan said he went to the register of deeds on Feb. 10, 1944, and filed the required certificate of ownership. When arraigned nearly a year ago, he pleaded guilty, but Judge Selover put off sentencing until Feb. 1 of this year. Mahan was at liberty during the interval, the official explanation being that he was under "pre-sentence investigation." He published his Republican Register until last December.

Solicitation of Advertising.

At the Feb. 1 hearing the court termed Mahan's methods of soliciting advertising as "little better than purse snatching." Mahan then said that if he would be dealt with lightly for his violation of the registry law, he would dispose of his paper.

"Very well," the judge said. "I'll give you 30 days time to do that."

Today, Judge Selover, after voicing some suspicions concerning the "bona fide" character of the sale, said he would give Mahan the benefit of the doubt. He then imposed a suspended sentence of six months.

Mahan has denied that he misrepresented his newspaper in soliciting advertising. "If I had the money, I'd fight this," he said. "But they've got me over a barrel."

OMAHA RUSHES TO DUMP FOR ARMY CIGARETS

Omaha, Neb., March 2 [Special].—George Green, operator of a private dump where the army has been throwing away popular brand cigarets for the last six weeks, found himself the most popular man in Omaha today.

After yesterday's disclosure that Green was giving away unspoiled cigarets salvaged from the army's discarded supplies, his place of business was overrun by hundreds of persons. It was a dark, dismal, and rainy day, but that did not discourage the cigaret seekers.

The army has dumped 14,000 packs of four cigarets each every morning for the last six weeks. The cigarets were in two year old K ration kits brought back from the Alcan highway project. About 80 per cent of the cigarets in the kits are found to be all right and are saved, the army reported, but 20 per cent are sent to the dump as moldy.

Green insists that most of the 20 per cent are good. "Where there is so much smoke," he says, "there must be a fire."

G. F. ADDES, CIO OFFICIAL, PASSES DRAFT PHYSICAL

Detroit, Mich., March 2 (AP).—George F. Addes, acting president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, passed his pre-induction physical examination for the army today.

The 34 year old union leader had said before his examination, "I'm ready to do my part."

Addes' regular post with the auto workers' union is that of secretary-treasurer. He is serving as president in the absence abroad of R. J. Thomas.

REPORT CRIME INCREASE OF 10% SINCE DIM-OUT

An increase in crimes since the dim-out began Feb. 1 was shown yesterday in official police reports. Burglaries led the list with a rise of 10 per cent.

The report, which compared the first 28 days of January with the 28 days of February, showed 802 burglaries in January and 906 in February. One was the smashing of a darkened display window in a loop store. Four watches worth $600 were stolen. "That type of thievery would have been difficult while show windows were illuminated," said Lt. Orin Ross of the cartage detail. Larcenies rose from 1,035 in January to 1,052 in February.

There were 302 robberies in January and 312 in February.

ONLY ALL NIGHT CAFES MAY KEEP OPEN AFTER 12

rant. "The curfew," he said, "has made it impossible to operate successfully. I would have closed the night after the curfew if it hadn't been for my contract with the musicians." More than 65 employes will be discharged, he added.

Cafe Association Meets.

Meanwhile at a meeting in the Hotel Sherman members of the Cafe Owners' association agreed to discharge their musicians if they should receive word that the musicians' union refused to compromise the wage contracts for musicians and entertainers.

Taking the position that the Byrnes order invalidates existing contracts, the association offered the union a compromise agreement whereby musicians would be employed a minimum of five hours a day six days a week. Most AFM contracts now call for a minimum of eight hours a day six days a week.

Milton Raynor and Thomas Rosenberg, attorneys for the association, said the union had indicated it would not compromise on existing contracts. Rosenberg said that a union official told him at a meeting of union officials and cafe owners during the day, "We don't have to resort to courts; we have economic pressure."

Plan to End Contracts Monday.

Rosenberg said the night club men were agreed that Monday would be the effective date for termination of existing contracts. That is two weeks after the curfew went into effect, the usual notice required by musician union contracts.

"By that time they must compromise or we'll tell them to go to hell," Raynor told the group. "None of you are in a position to pay thru the nose. We can use economic pressure, too. Let them pull out their musicians. We can fire them."

Altho Hugh Cox, assistant United States solicitor general, has unofficially given the opinion that the curfew order invalidates contracts, Rosenberg said, the government has not committed itself officially.

Other Entertainers to Negotiate.

John Comise, president of the Cafe association, said the owners will take the same attitude toward contracts with entertainers who are not members of the AFM. However, he said, the American Guild of Variety Artists, which represents most of this group, has agreed to negotiate a new agreement.

It is generally understood that the outcome of this battle between the Cafe association and the AFM will set a pattern for the rest of the country, since the AFM controls national policy. James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and of the AFM, was not available for comment.

Rosenberg said he hoped the union would give a definite statement of its stand today.

A circus means elephants. Elephants eat peanuts.

It was as simple as that to some 2,000 grade school children who arose from their seats in Medinah Temple yesterday afternoon and let go with fistfuls of peanuts as three elephants lumbered onto the stage for their act in Polack Brothers circus.

The peanuts disappeared, into the elephants or swept up by broom squads, and the act went on—one of a score in the opening performance of a 10 day run of the circus's third annual engagement here for the benefit of the Shriners' Crippled Children's hospital in Oak Park.

The circus, which travels all year in the interest of the hospital for crippled children, will put on performances twice daily, with three shows on Saturdays and Sundays.

4 KILLED WHEN FIRE AND BLAST LEVEL FACTORY

Columbus, O., March 2 (AP).—A sudden fire, followed by an explosion, leveled a one story brick building of the Kilgore Manufacturing company in Westerville today and killed four employes. The dead are Mabel Seely, 21, Clara Dougherty, 44, Betty Case, 23, and Harold Smith, 48.

Flares and fuses are made at the factory. The Westerville fire department prevented the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

WARNING! The traffic toll in winter regularly climbs to a peak fifty per cent higher than the summer accident rate.

And this winter, because tires and cars are older, both cars and lives will be wrecked at a rate far faster than ever, unless YOU do something about it!

So take every possible precaution . . . Drive slowly and alertly, because it requires from four to eleven times the usual braking-distance to stop a car, without chains, on wet snow or ice . . . Don't close-in on the car ahead . . . Slow down well before reaching crossings . . . And watch out for pedestrians picking their way in hazy twilight or darkness.

At any other time in our nation's history, there would have been something sacrilegious in discussing the saving of cars in the same breath with the saving of human life. Today, however, the country's war effort and well-being depend on an ever-dwindling supply of essential transportation. Lives are important; so are irreplaceable automobiles.

36 BEGIN SLOW STARVATION TO TEST WAR DIETS

Eat Only Food Available in Famine Areas.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2 (AP).—Thirty-six men are being slowly starved at the University of Minnesota.

The men, chosen from among thousands of conscientious objectors thruout the country who volunteered their services, are being used to test the effects of "starvation" diets now common in Europe. Later they will try various suggested "rehabilitation" diets.

Information obtained during the course of the experiment will be used in rehabilitation programs in war torn countries.

Go on "Famine Diet."

The program is under direction of Dr. Ancel Keys, director of the university's laboratory of physiological hygiene, whose idea it was.

For six months the men will eat the type of food commonly available under European famine conditions—dark bread, potatoes, turnips, and macaroni, with only two or three ounces of meat or fish each week and no milk or sweets. That part of the program began three weeks ago after the men went thru a three months standardization period.

After starving for six months, the 36 will be divided into groups for a three months rehabilitation test.

Cut to 1,800 Calories a Day.

During the standardization period the average daily intake was 3,200 calories with adequate proteins and vitamins. That now has been reduced to about 1,800 calories, with low protein content and borderline vitamins. The men do measured physical work on treadmills to keep their daily energy output at 3,000 calories.

Thus far the men have lost from 10 to 12 pounds each.

One of them, Gerald Wilsnack of Malvern, N. Y., said he was losing the "will to activity" and added that the men often dream about food.

The men, who live in a barracks-like quarters in Memorial stadium, are studying at the university with a view to being used in foreign relief work. Their interest in this work was one of the factors that determined their selection to participate in the test.

DIES WHILE TAKING WALK.

John Valkenburg, 77, a house painter, died yesterday of a heart ailment while walking near his home at 4541 Loomis st.

"Remember how he used to keep his room? I can just see his socks, shirts and underwear scattered all over the world!"

SENATE VOTES CURB ON DRAFT OF FARM YOUTHS

BY PHILIP DODD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 2.—Senate Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] pleaded with the senate today to speed passage of man power legislation after the senate had concluded its first week of debate on the pending job control bill with action on only one amendment, which would prevent further drafting of essential farm workers.

The amendment adopted today, authored by Sen. Tydings [D., Md.], is similar to a resolution passed by the house Tuesday which would prevent draft boards from comparing a man's value as a farm worker with his usefulness in military service.

Before adopting the Tydings amendment the senate eliminated a penalty of five years in jail and a fine of $10,000 which the senate military affairs committee had placed on any farm worker who leaves agriculture after being found unfit for military duty.

New Bill Anticipated.

Barkley, whose job is to steer administration sponsored legislation thru the senate, was believed to have given up hope of the senate's approving the New Deal's "work or jail" bill which passed the house a month ago. He told the senate, in pleading for early action on man power legislation, that a new bill probably would have to be written by a house-senate conference, a step necessary when the senate adopts a substitute for a house bill.

Further indication of the fate of the administration bill came when Sen. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], a New Deal spokesman, attacked any labor draft measure as "the last step toward totalitarianism." He asked, instead, for approval of the military committee's substitute which would authorize War Man Power Chairman McNutt to dictate employment ceilings in any establishment and control the hiring of new workers.

"I characterize this [house] bill as a totalitarian measure," O'Mahoney told the senate. "It would subject the male citizens of the United States between 18 and 45 to compulsion, the extent of which no man can foretell. When the President says unconditional surrender means the end of Nazism, congress should not advocate sanctions on the free life of American citizens."

Taft Amendment Beaten.

The senate voted down, by a close standing vote without a roll call, an amendment to the committee man power bill which would have prevented McNutt from fixing ceilings for newspapers and other publications below 1944 employment levels. Its sponsor, Sen. Taft [R., O.], had asked passage of the amendment because, he said, under the bill as written McNutt would have power to put any newspaper out of business.

The senate also voted down, by voice vote, an amendment by Sen. Capehart [R., Ind.] which would have directed McNutt to fix minimum requirements of industrial production instead of fixing employment ceilings, and forbidding employers and employes from performing any act or entering into any agreement to slow down production.

Wheeler Offers Objections.

The Capehart amendment seemed headed for passage, with minor modifications, until Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] told the senate that under the amendment a worker could be jailed for quitting his job and that it could be applied against strikers as well. Capehart denied he had intended the amendment as a strike breaking measure.

"I believe," said Wheeler, "we can maintain the United States as a democratic republic. I'll fight any step for a military or any other kind of a dictatorship. But that's where you're headed if you pass any law under which a man could be sent to jail for quitting his job."

FREE WORKERS MAN THE ARSENAL.

William L. Batt, vice president of the war production board, in releasing figures on the tremendous output of American war industries in all categories, said that our production of war materials now is equal to that of "all our allies and enemies" combined. The staggering figures he disclosed should be cause for pride in every American and they will send a chill thru our enemies. Yet on the other side of the government street from Mr. Batt, Mr. Roosevelt and the New Dealers are saying that we have fallen down on the job and that only a forced labor bill will enable us to hold our heads up among our allies.

Mr. Roosevelt a few years ago liked to say that this country would prove itself the arsenal of democracy. Now he wants to forget democratic methods and to introduce a totalitarian system into the arsenal, so that as commander in chief he will boss not only the man in uniform but the civilian worker. In his behalf Secretary of War Stimson has been raising the principal clamor for a work draft.

Mr. Stimson recently made a radio speech bemoaning the fact that we have not "organized our workers." He stated: "In this we are alone among our allies. While we have no service law, Britain and Russia have been working under such laws since the very beginning of the war. We alone are depending upon voluntary and, therefore, ineffective methods of organization among the workers who are producing the arms and equipment of our soldiers and furnishing them with their ships and all the other necessities of war."

We think it necessary to emphasize that phrase "voluntary and, therefore, ineffective." There, in four words, you have the New Deal approach to everything. Regiment us all and we'll become effective—or, at least, Mr. Roosevelt's command over us will become effective. Allow us to remain free and we'll be "ineffective."

Will we become as effective as the Russians, or the British, who know the joys of regimentation? If so, our production will slump to a fraction of present output, for the "organized" British and Russians, together with all our enemies, are just managing to produce what free American labor is producing.

Russia's population is, perhaps, 175,000,000. Britain's is 45,000,000 and, with the dominions, perhaps 70,000,000. There are 90,000,000 Japanese and something like 70,000,000 people in the German sphere. We are producing more war materials than all the 380,000,000 people divided among our allies and our enemies, which is to say that, man for man, we are outproducing them about 3 to 1 and, in addition, are making our proportionate contribution of fighting men.

In every comparison free American labor outstrips foreign impressed labor. The British cotton textile mission disconsolately reported that American workers produce from 1.25 to 10 times more per hour than do Lancashire workers. American coal miners produce four tons more of coal a day than they did two years ago. In England, under compulsion, the miner is producing only one ton more a day. Today American workers are producing 30 per cent more rubber per man per day than they did two years ago. Aircraft workers are producing 83 per cent more per man than two years ago. All this has been done without slave labor.

We have not the slightest need for the importation of foreign models to utilize our productive resources and our man power. We can teach the rest of the world. The other nations are inefficient failures in comparison.

The only objective which can be attained by totalitarian control over the people is the political result of establishing a clique and its leader in control of the life of every one. That is the only purpose of the proposed work draft legislation.

THE MACHINERY CREAKS.

All is now love and kisses between the CIO and Comdr. Harold Stassen, whom Mr. Roosevelt is so assiduously building up to run against himself or some other New Dealer in 1948. This wasn't the situation of Mr. Stassen, as governor of Minnesota, when he sponsored legislation to suppress strike violence, the principal stock in trade of the CIO.

There is no reason why any intelligent Republican office holder or politician shouldn't be friendly to the membership and legitimate aims of the CIO. There is a very good reason, however, why the leadership of the CIO isn't going to be friendly to any genuine Republican. That organization, thru its political action committee, has already become a principal shareholder in the perquisites and organization of the Democratic party, and its leaders naturally are not going to damage that investment by strengthening the opposition.

Mr. Roosevelt has acquired Mr. Stassen as a political property. The former governor departed spectacularly to defend his country and it now develops that his services in that respect have been as an aide to some admiral. His naval duties are not so essential that he cannot be spared from them for carefully staged participation in the San Francisco conference of the united nations. Now Sidney Hillman's Communists embrace him. All that is lacking is a directorship on the New York Stock exchange. The machinery is too visible and creaks too loudly to deceive any one.

DEAD WEIGHT.

Three aluminum freight cars, built by the Mount Vernon Car company for three different railroads, have been on exhibition beside Tribune Tower. The cars are more spacious than standard steel cars and weigh considerably less. Railroads that buy cars of this type will, for the same amount of coal stoked into a locomotive firebox, pull more freight and less freight car.

It is not certain that all railroads are going to turn to aluminum cars after the war. The ingenuity of the steel industry should not be discounted. Some years before the war the steel companies were calling the attention of their customers to low alloy steels, which also make possible large savings in the weight of railroad equipment. It is obvious, however, that whether they select aluminum, steel alloys, or perhaps magnesium, railroads are going to be able to cut down the dead weight in their freight trains and thereby enhance their efficiency and earnings.

A few years ago it would have been possible to take this development, and the many others that can be expected of American engineering and business ingenuity, as assurance that railroad workers would earn higher wages and consumers would pay less for goods hauled in such cars. Today about all that can be expected, provided ingenuity is given the fullest opportunity to make such improvements, is that thru them we may be able to hold on to our former standard of living. Any surpluses, which in the past would have gone to raise the living standard, must in the future go to take care of the federal debt.

The American people have not started yet to pay, in the food they eat, the clothing they wear, and the houses in which they live, for the dead horse of New Deal extravagance. But the bill is there and it cannot be evaded indefinitely.

CONGRESS HEARS ABOUT YALTA.

Mr. Roosevelt's report to congress on his trip to Yalta made it clear that he had enjoyed the excursion, but added nothing to what was already known of the decisions reached and the reasons which prompted them.

He did make it clear, however, that he was not going to try to evade the Constitutional requirement of a two-thirds majority in the senate to confirm a treaty. Both his words and his tone said that he had surrendered to the Constitution without reservation. We hope he will not change his mind and we hope so particularly because the Republican party has been so corrupted by him and by Wall street that it no longer can be relied upon to act in the national interest.

Mr. Roosevelt said that nobody got everything he wanted at Yalta. Everybody made compromises for the sake of harmony. It looked for a moment as if Mr. Roosevelt might say what he and the others had asked for and how far each of them had missed getting it. This would have been particularly interesting with regard to Poland and the little Baltic states—Esthonia, Latvia, and Lithuania. Did Mr. Roosevelt ask for a plebiscite in these areas to determine whether the people there wanted Russian rule? It was the obvious solution of the problem, but Mr. Roosevelt didn't volunteer any information beyond an echoing of Mr. Churchill's assertion that the Poles lost nothing of great value and will receive very large compensation at the expense of Germany. The other enslaved peoples of the Baltic and the Balkans were scarcely mentioned.

There was no hint in Mr. Roosevelt's talk that the deal he accepted contains in it the seeds of the next world war. The three conferees have decided, for example, to give Poland territories which have been German for centuries. Can any one who knows modern European history and the strength of European nationalisms suppose that this arrangement will have real permanence? There are compromises which make for peace, but this plainly is not one of them. It is a dangerous and provocative makeshift, certain to cause resentments now and serious trouble in the future.

Mr. Roosevelt had another opportunity to reveal something when he talked about the temporary government of Poland, but here again he said nothing. Plainly, the temporary government is to be communist dominated. It is, therefore, scarcely conceivable that the election of a new government under such auspices will provide a free expression of Polish opinion. Mr. Roosevelt had his chance to reassure his countrymen and the world that the appearances of a rigged election were deceiving. From the fact that he had no reassurances on this point to offer, the conclusion is inescapable that there aren't any. He couldn't even tell the congressmen that American newspaper men are to be permitted to observe what goes on in the central European countries occupied by the Red army.

Mr. Roosevelt's evasions on Poland were paralleled at every point in the hour long address. He closed with an appeal to the senate and the country to approve the program outlined at Dumbarton Oaks. The speech could only raise new doubts on the wisdom of American participation in such an enterprise. Plainly, the new league of nations will have as its primary purpose the enforcement of inherently unstable terms, arrived at in secret. The parallel to the Holy Alliance which pursued the same goal after the Napoleonic wars is striking. This time, however, the men and wealth of the United States will be thrown into the balance. This will assure that when the next war comes we shall be in it on the side of oppression.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS' QUIET LIFE.

3d March—Thus far have said nothing about March coming in like a lamb for fear of annoying the brute and causing him to show the other side of his pelt. But whether mild or wild, the old blusterer is welcome, for on the 21st we can boast we have pulled thru another winter. Even now the bare branches of the trees tell the story, for the little knobs where the leaves will be are swelling.

March also brings the ides, on the 15th, when Julius Caesar's hash was settled for destroying a republic, and in recent years I have come to look for some astonishing event on that date. Nothing ever happens, but I am betting the newspaper cartoonists will bring up the subject as usual.

During this week have felt that life on the civilian front has suddenly grown quieter and duller. Have an uncanny feeling that people had decided to stop talking. Even found some buses and elevated trains not overcrowded. Perhaps it is the mood of Lent, but it may be on account of that man Byrnes, who is shutting up amusement places at midnight. It seems to me the people are mooching around like zombies.

Interviewed my colleague Dr. Avery on this subject, and he said he had noticed nothing of the kind, and if so, what of it, because old books and correspondence chess games are more worthy of study than the human race. I call him doctor, which is what he calls me, because we have doctors' diplomas. Our corner of this office sounds like a clinic or a faculty meeting, for also present are Drs. Babcock, Guilfoyle, and Davidson, close to our elbows. The diplomas, printed in Latin, were bestowed by the Boswell institute, a merry circle of scholars, eaters, and drinkers, and the full title is Doctor of Frustration.

The Boswells make a cult of Dr. Samuel Johnson, whom Vincent Starrett recently called in print "a tiresome old hack." On reading this insult the Boswells promptly made Starrett a Doctor of Frustration and sent his diploma for me to deliver. Will Dr. Starrett kindly jump off his ivory tower and report for the hooding ceremonies?

Mr. Big Gets a Shock.

The big business executive refused to be impressed with the north woods country on his first fishing trip above the north-south divide. Hadn't he lived on a farm in his youth? This was just like the old wood lot, except there was more of it.

One night, after talking woodcraft and playing poker until a late hour, he set forth alone for his cabin at the far end of the fishing resort. The night was pitch black. Not a light showed in the widely separated cabins.

Half way to his cabin he heard a crashing sound in the underbrush up ahead. "Careless of the neighboring farmer," he thought, "to let his cow wander around after dark. Might break a leg." A few moments later his flashlight gave out and he had to feel his way along the rest of the trail.

Next morning, at the dining hall, the guides were excitedly discussing the bear tracks they had found around the icehouse. One of them was briskly cleaning his gun. Suddenly the big bus. exec. realized he wasn't on a farm, there were no neighboring farmers, and no cow!

What you don't know won't hurt you . . . if you can survive the shock when you do find out. Hig.

A CENTURY FROM NOW.

A century from now, or two or three,
Will kindly eyes accept these lines I write,
Read them in tolerant apostasy
With no real literary appetite?
Or will their hearts reply to what I ask:
Eternal questions from the breast of youth?
And will their reason tear away the mask
That years employ to camouflage the truth?
Will these, my little lyric embryos
Develop wings to lift above dark hours?
Or will posterity scuff shameless toes
Among the ruins of my ivory towers?
Or will they find the breath and tears I rhyme
A mummy cradled in the husk of Time?

C. V. T. writes: "A friend of mine, also a World War II. widow, said that she had received about $600 on an endowment insurance policy her husband had taken out in 1934. They had borrowed all they could and let the policy lapse; still she claims to have been paid this $600. How could that be?"

We are informed that in many instances persons have taken out civilian insurance policies and carried them for years and then have let them lapse or have borrowed on them, or both. Depending on the type of policy, there sometimes is a reserve or equity remaining which may be paid to the insured at the normal maturity date of the insurance or paid to a beneficiary if the insured dies before the normal maturity date. It is advisable for any one holding a lapsed insurance policy to check into the matter with the company to determine whether there is something due them. Insurance companies have advised us that "in thousands of cases the insured and/or the beneficiaries have entirely forgotten about these policies, with the result that insurance companies have a great many of these equities piled up drawing interest and would be glad to get rid of them."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Dr. Irving S. Cutter

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PUZZLING ASPECTS OF ABDOMINAL PAIN.

THE question of abdominal pain—where is it, what causes it, and what to do about it—may present a puzzling problem. To confuse the issue, distress may not be felt in the neighborhood of the structure most seriously disturbed. Furthermore, it may not always be of the same degree of intensity, and it may wander about so widely that the tendency is to conclude that nothing is wrong. Thus many individuals have been accused of hypochondria.

The contents of the abdomen have no nerves under the control of the will. Their fibers come from the sympathetic [autonomic] system. This explains why we can cut, pinch, or burn the intestine without producing pain.

Where and how, then, does discomfort arise? Distend a loop of bowel, and we will have trouble. Obstruct another part, even the appendix, and we will encounter steadily mounting contractions, with severe suffering. Cramps which are experienced because the digestive tract needs food, are the result of muscular movements within the coats of the gastric pouch. Let the patient eat green apples and he will face a typical attack of colic.

Another difficulty is to associate the sensations with the seat of the disease. In an inflamed appendix, the area which lies above may become rigid and, while pressure in that locality will be resisted in many instances, soreness may be centered in the pit of the stomach. If a bowel ulcer has perforated, it is almost impossible to tell which segment is affected. We can, however, locate the source within a reasonable distance because the ensuing irritation of the peritoneum will bring on stiffening of the abdominal wall. In this way we find local tenderness in and about the involved region.

The surgeon, perhaps, will say, "Why all this fuss? Why try to determine exactly what is happening? If we know that the victim has long combated a duodenal ulcer, excruciating agony which develops quickly usually means one thing—rupture into the peritoneal cavity."

But much the same picture may be exhibited by one whose inflamed appendix is pouring pus into the space surrounding the bowel. This state of affairs is frequently mistaken for stomach ache, and the sufferer may be walking around or driving a car for several hours. Only when the abdomen is opened and the parts exposed, will the precise site of the lesion be clear.

Now and then the condition is masked by a sensitivity which will give so many significant signs that even a skilled physician will be in doubt. Because these manifestations are not wholly characteristic, surgery may be invoked. The expert is fearful that he may be overlooking something of importance and will advise an exploratory procedure. If no abnormality is disclosed, the situation may be ascribed to a food deficiency, to an allergy, or to that odd nervous complex known as "neurasthenia."

We have all heard the statement that inflammation within the neighborhood of the gall tract may cause pain in the right shoulder, which bores thru to the back. But there are many other diagnostic measures that can be employed safely. The X-ray, together with a history of prior attacks, as a rule will offer ample evidence.

CONFUSED TERM.

D. E. K. writes: Please settle an argument. Are there, or are there not, growing pains?

REPLY.

The term is often used to designate unexplainable vague pains in the limbs of children. Whether they are caused by growing or secondary to the muscle strain of overactivity has never been established. The possibility of rheumatic fever should always be considered.

NASAL BLOCKAGE.

C. H. W. writes: My head is always "stuffed up" and I have trouble breathing thru my nose. Will salt water help?

REPLY.

Your doctor can tell you where the obstruction is located. In simple cases, irrigation with a solution of a quarter teaspoon of salt added to half a glass of water is an excellent remedy.

EXHAUSTED.

W. G. W. writes: Lately I have been feeling "all played out." How can I regain my pep? I am 49 years of age.

REPLY.

Fatigue at your age calls for a visit to your physician for a complete checkup. Overwork, strain, or worry must be considered. An adequate diet supported with vitamins—especially B—is often beneficial.

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

The Elemental Roosevelts.

Today brings an earnest letter from B. Reynaldo Reyes of San Juan, Puerto Rico, announcing his discovery of two new elements, one a metal of a plain golden color named Roosevelt, the other a silvery metal named Eleanor. Proper use of this discovery, for which he has filed application for patents in Washington, will, he says, "Widen the world's activities and sell forth chances of ways of living for thousands of persons in industries and researches."

This department doesn't pretend to know a thing about the periodic table of elements, or about elements for that matter, but these two, as described by Senor Reyes, are fascinating:

"Among the properties of Eleanor metal one significant is that it is charged with a special kind of electricity and is able to change said charge to neutral or negative or positive, and this fact has several branches of demonstrations as in air or upon liquids or solutions or otherwise.

"Roosevelt element changes its golden color to copperlike and then oxidized to a black powder in a few days, but alloyed with one or other of the known metals able for this, it can keep its solid metallic texture and can be used thus for the construction of metal objects as of adornment just like Eleanor.

"Roosevelt metal as well as Eleanor metal or the compounds of any of this new element will be found useful for the cure of many diseases after experimented and approved. As of my personal feeling, but subject to ratification, when fusing Eleanor I perceive a sensation of nervous rest, and smelling the vapors of Roosevelt makes nervous unrest."

Paging Gertrude Stein.

A Seabee in the Marianas recently found some Japanese stenciling equipment, including a sponge rubber roller and a tube of white ink. The tube bore a gaudy label in both Japanese and English. No one could translate the Japanese, but the English label stated: "Direction—Squeeze out the ink on the ink slate and kneed it wither roller or spatula sufficintly then apply it all over the stencil paper averagely."

Tit for Tat.

America's warriors may be getting a little tired of those hard tack chocolate bars, but out in the Pacific the native will do anything, literally, to get one. Mrs. Rose Marie Kiefer, secretary of the National Association of Retail Grocers, speaking here last week, passed on the tale of the soldier who, seeking to show his appreciation for the many services of the little black man who had attached himself as valet, gave him two mothy chocolate bars. The native was so delighted that he raced around, one on the upturned palm of each hand, to display his prize to all his relatives. As he did this, the tropical sun beat down, and the nordic chocolate melted into soup. Finally he began to drink it down, and as he did so, he suddenly remembered he had not thanked the soldier. He hurried back to express his gratitude in pidgin English. "Now me get present for you," he promised. An hour later he returned to the soldier. Beneath each arm he had the head of a Japanese.

Notes from the Siegfried Line.

A scout in Europe passes on the word that the most Americanized Briton in those regions is a sturdy Welshman, Vaughan Thomas of the BBC, whose association with his betters [Americans] has so affected him that he now cracks American jokes about the British. He is said to wear the oddest regalia on the front. This includes a British battle jacket, a French sweater, a garment which resembles a butcher's apron, and a hat of ancient and indefinite origin. Not long ago an American M. P. stopped him and said: "You're not an American?" Vaughan said he was not and produced his credentials. He then asked the M. P., "Where do you come from?" The M. P.'s reply was "Texas," to which Vaughan remarked, "O, then you're not an American either."

THE MORTGAGED FUTURE.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 21.—Hardly a day passes without Americans reading about British war aims, or Russian war aims, or French war aims. But when can any American recall reading about American war aims? America the great, America the magnificent, America the all powerful, is destroying itself in this war. Aside from making the world a better place to live in [supposedly], America has no war aims.

The gray beards in Washington are giving our youth's country away instead of increasing its wealth. Every gallon of gasoline given away is one gallon of gasoline that a future American will have to do without. Everything we give away is something a future American will have to do without.

Let's stop giving away our country and its resources. Instead, let's decide what America is going to get out of this war besides broken hearts and grief. A nation is only as strong as its natural resources. As a young American, I believe it is the duty of our public servants to safeguard the future of America by safeguarding its natural resources.

BOND BUYING RECORDS.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 15.—Noting the batting averages of the various states in the percentage of 6th war loan subscriptions, I list the northeastern states that cried for war, first and loudest: Massachusetts, 80 per cent; Maine, 92 per cent; Rhode Island, 95 per cent; New Hampshire, 95 per cent; and contrast them with the middle west: Iowa, 146 per cent; Minnesota, 121 per cent; Wisconsin, 117 per cent; South Dakota, 126 per cent; North Dakota, 155 per cent; Illinois, 114 per cent.

While I was in the east during 1940-'41 the northeastern states acted as if we had both feet in Europe then.

How does any one account for their record of bond buying? C. B. JACKS.

NON-ESSENTIAL SALOONS.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—This new crew on cabarets and taverns, my understanding is, was put thru to save man power as well as coal and other utilities. This being the case, why did they not put a ceiling on new business, especially nonessential business? It is my understanding that the City of Chicago alone has increased the number of liquor licenses by 300 in the last six months. INTERESTED.

VETERANS OF FUTURE WARS.

AND WE'RE SHORT OF NURSES.

Alexandria, La., Feb. 26.—Last November an anti-aircraft medical detachment was shipped, we were told by mistake, to Camp Livingston, an infantry training camp.

All of these medical men, 14 of them, one by one, were assigned to the infantry. Every one of these men has had from two to three years' experience and periods of extensive training in the medical field. One of them completed a course in advanced surgery or 861, and holds a certificate of graduation as a male nurse from Letterman General hospital in San Francisco, Cal. This man, with his buddies, is crawling in the mud on bivouac trying to learn enough in six weeks about rifles and combat to fight.

Meanwhile an engineering unit trained in rough warfare tactics, sweats out hours taking temperatures and acting as ward boys, much to their disgust, in a hospital for returning wounded vets in Utah.

And we are told the country is compelled to draft nurses at twice the salary these already trained G. I.s are getting for cleaning guns they have no idea how to shoot. ARMY WIFE.

HE DOESN'T LOAF.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Regarding the letter of Feb. 22 about absenteeism at the Dodge Chicago plant, I have been one of the so-called employes of Dodge for the last eight months. I have yet to see any one sleeping or washing up or changing clothes an hour early. We in the gear division 5 have a quota which must be made and is being made, despite the handicap of three out of five new employes who have never run a lathe or gear grinding machine before. This is precision work, some with a tolerance of .0005 of an inch. Under the circumstances I think our foremen and setup men deserve some credit for their work. As far as loafing, you can't even get first aid until you get a slip from the foreman, which must be punched in upon entering and out on leaving the first aid station for minor injuries. Despite all they say the B-29 engines are being turned out just the same. BARNEY.

SOFT MUSIC, PLEASE, PROFESSOR.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Perhaps you as a merchant, sales person, etc., have often wondered what that kindly old lady was doing in the cigaret line. She seems much too old to be smoking tobacco in any manner, shape, or form. Has it ever occurred to you, as you gruffly said "no," that she is some defense worker's grandmother or mother? Give that little gray lady a package, altho she hasn't got a corncob pipe in her mouth to prove she is from Kentucky. DEFENSE WORKER.

VANISHED HUSBAND.

Rock Island, Ill., March 1.—Three days after we were married my husband vanished. This happened 20 years ago and I haven't heard of him since. I want to marry again and should like to know: [1] Does the length of time we have been separated free me? [2] Do I have to obtain a divorce in order to remarry or provide proof of his death, if the latter is a fact? B. B.

COLEBOURN BABY GAINING; GIVEN 3D TRANSFUSION

Champaign, Ill., March 2 [Special].—The Colebourn baby, whose life was imperiled by the opposing blood types of her parents, was reported improved today at Burnham city hospital. Yesterday the two day old, 6½ pound girl was given only a 50-50 chance to live.

A third blood transfusion was given to the tot, who is in an incubator, and her count of red blood cells was higher. A hospital attendant, commenting on the infant's improvement, said, "We're beginning to feel pretty hopeful." He said the jaundice which made its appearance yesterday probably would continue for about a week.

The baby, delivered a month prematurely by Caesarean section, is being administered transfusions of type O-RH negative blood, the unusual type of her mother, Mrs. William G. Colebourn, 29, a registered nurse. The father, an army warrant officer, has O-RH positive blood. The combination tends to cause destruction of the infant's red blood cells.

1,546 Pullman Cars Used by Casualties in January

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—The office of defense transportation reported today that 1,546 pullman cars were used to move military casualties in January. This compares with 283 used in June, 1944, first month of the cross-channel invasion of the continent.

G. O. P. APPROVES DEBT LIMIT HIKE WITH MISGIVINGS

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Republican members of the house ways and means committee said today they reluctantly voted to boost the nation's debt limit "because we are unable to prevent the continued shameful waste by the administration in public spending."

The 10 committee Republicans filed a minority report with a bill raising the debt ceiling from 260 billion dollars to 300 billion. The measure has been approved by the ways and means committee and is awaiting house action.

"The federal debt alone, at 300 billion dollars as contemplated in this bill," the minority report said, "will be a charge of close to $10,000 on each of the estimated 30 million families in the United States. It means that every new-born American babe starts life tagged with a debt to the federal government of nearly $2,500.'"

Justice Stone Marks 20th Year on Supreme Court

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Chief Justice Stone today reached his 20th anniversary on the Supreme court. He spent the day as usual on the bench. Friends predict he will remain on the tribunal so long as his good health continues. He has been eligible to retire at full pay since his 70th birthday, Oct. 11, 1942.

BROWDER LAUDS LIFTING OF BAN ON RED OFFICERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 2.—The Communist political association, successor to the Communist party, announced today that its president, Earl Browder, will render an enthusiastic tribute to the war department next Sunday for its Dec. 30 directive removing previous impediments to the commissioning of Communists. His views will be carried in the Daily Worker, official organ of the Communists, under the heading, "United States Army Kills Red Bogey."

In the article Browder will challenge the recent statement of Assistant Secretary of War John J. McCloy and Maj. Gen. Bissell, head of army intelligence, that no Communist has been given a commission. "Of course," Browder's article states, "Communists are now holding commissions in the United States army."

Browder has served time in prison in both World wars. He was pardoned by President Roosevelt in May, 1942, after being convicted of passport frauds and given a four year sentence in January, 1940.

WAR DAD DECLARES ARMY TOOK HIS SEAT FOR NAZI PRISONER

Petersburg, Va., March 2 (AP).—Remmie L. Arnold of Petersburg, national president of American War Dads, registered a protest with Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, army provost marshal general, when he was forced to give up a train drawing room to a German war prisoner. He has been told a policy fixed by the Geneva convention was followed in so doing.

In a letter to Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], forwarded to Arnold, Gen. Lerch said the prisoner was tubercular and that, according to war department policy, when prisoners "are transferred on regular trains they will be segregated from the public." Policy states further that "in the event a prisoner of war is afflicted with a contagious disease, segregated travel accommodations shall be furnished."

The provost marshal said, however, that the use of the dining car by the prisoners, which Arnold had taken exception to, is "a direct violation of our policy."

GOVERNOR BARES RING OF FORGERS IN STATE PRISON

Convicts and Guards Steal $13,000.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 2 [Special].—A ring of forgers who carried on their profitable penmanship despite their imprisonment in the state penitentiary were disclosed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly today to have cashed thousands of dollars' worth of state checks with the help of prison employes they hired.

The known thefts total more than $13,000 but may run into many more thousands. The governor, who personally led the investigation that broke the ring, said he had "no idea where it will end."

Much of the proceeds from the forgers' spree was believed to have been used in gambling in the prison. Some was expended in paying for cashing the spurious checks and some was used in buying articles at the prison commissary—and ordering goods from outside—to make the forgers' existence more comfortable.

Discovered by Chance.

The manipulations were disclosed to have been going on apparently unsuspected under the noses of state law enforcers since at least last September. And even their discovery was due to chance.

A love letter was sent by Thomas Fleming, described by the governor as the ring's "master mind," to an inmate of the women's prison in Jefferson City. To try to conceal his violation of prison regulations, he hid the letter in a magazine and attempted to mail it but it was intercepted.

Fleming, who had previously served a term for forgery and now was serving a grand larceny sentence, decided to turn "stool pigeon" on the forgery ring. He wrote a letter to Warden Thomas Whitecotton asking to "clear the slate" and telling of his own forgeries as well as implicating others.

Nine Involved in Deals.

Six convicts and three prison employes are known to have been involved in the operations.

Legitimate checks which the prison owed various persons and companies for services were made out in the prison auditing office, where a third of the trusty employes are serving terms for forgery. The checks would be sent to the state auditor and state treasurer for their required approval and would be returned to the prison for distribution.

At that point members of the ring stole the checks and forged indorsements. Prison employes then took them outside for cashing. The wife of a convict cashed one check.

Religious News Notes

—By the Rev. John Evans—

A special Red Cross message was delivered in the orthodox synagog pulpits last night and will be given in other synagogs today. The same message, calling attention to the fact that the Red Cross "is at his side" on six continents, in more than 52 countries, with more than 16,000 workers, will be presented in Christian pulpits tomorrow. . . . Red Cross clubs numbering 727 serve and entertain an average of 7,130,000 men and women in uniform a month, and the Red Cross hospital service has helped 1,300,000 persons the last year. The national goal is 200 million dollars of which the Chicago quota is $11,300,000. . . . The Rev. Dr. H. A. Ironside will celebrate his 15th anniversary as pastor of Moody church Wednesday night. Speakers will include President Will H. Houghton of Moody Bible institute, President V. Raymond Edman of Wheaton college, President Charles W. Keller of Northern Baptist Theological seminary, theRev. Dr. Howard C. Fulton of Belden Av. Baptist church, and the Rev. Torrey M. Johnson of Mid-West Bible church. . . . The Rev. Dr. Walter A. Maier, International Lutheran hour preacher, will be the speaker at the mass prayer service, "A Call to Repentance," Sunday afternoon, March 11, in the Chicago Stadium. . . . The 92d annual St. David's day celebration will be held tonight at 2410 N. Kedzie av., sponsored by the Cambrian Benevolent association, headed by Robert J. Williams. . . . President J. Harry Cotton of McCormick Theological seminary will preach tomorrow morning in Rockefeller Memorial chapel, University of Chicago. . . . Elder Jabez Taylor of the Christian Apostolic church will lecture on the Zion Passion Play tonight in Bethany Mission Convenant church, Garfield blvd. and Wells st.

Tomorrow is the Day of Compassion in the Methodist church, marking the climax of the 25 million dollar Crusade for Christ campaign for post-war relief and reconstruction. "It is not to be a day of quotas," said Bishop J. Ralph Magee, "but one of mercy and dedication to the cause of a Christian world order, aid to the distressed, and for all Methodists to pledge their service to Christ." . . . The Rt. Rev. Alexander, superior of the Society of St. Basil, will make his episcopal visitation tomorrow morning to the Eastern Orthodox Catholic church of St. Thomas-the-Apostle, 3716 Belmont av. He will celebrate mass and preach on "The Eternal Quest." . . . "Religious Freedom and Public Duty" will be the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle's topic tomorrow night before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall. . . . The Rev. Dr. D. Elton Trueblood, dean of Leland Stanford university chapel, will address the Society of Friends' meeting tomorrow morning in Morgan Park Methodist church building, Longwood dr. and 110th st. . . . The Catholic club of the Episcopal diocese will meet Wednesday night in the Church of the Ascension, Elm and La Salle sts. The Rev. Bonnell Spencer, O. H. C., West Park, N. Y., will speak. . . . The Rev. L. H. Sone of Nanking Theological seminary in China will speak Wednesday night in Hyde Park Methodist church, 5400 Blackstone av. . . . Speaker at the Salvation Army Temple corps, 1512 Madison st., Wednesday night will be Lt. Col. Frank Genge, central states director of the men's social service department. . . . Dr. David Shapiro, rabbi of Congregation Agudas Achim, Indianapolis, Ind., will be the principal speaker at the rabbinical ordination service of the Hebrew Theological college Wednesday night in Anshe Sholom synagogue, Polk and Independence blvd.

The Rev. Walter K. Morley, executive secretary of the social service department of the Episcopal diocese, has been commissioned a lieutenant in the navy chaplain corps and is being indoctrinated at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va. His son, Kenneth Morley, student at Shattuck Military academy, Fairbault, Minn., attended the swearing-in. The oath was administered by Lt. Comdr. A. J. McKelway, formerly chaplain on U. S. S. Essex. . . . Sermons in the Lenten series on Christian marriages in Holy Name cathedral will be preached tomorrow night by The Rev. James Hardiman of the cathedral staff on "Outlines of a Good Life Partner" and Wednesday night by The Rev. Charles Meter of Quigley Preparatory seminary on "The Indissolubility of Marriage." . . . The Rev. H. G. Twietmeyer of Grace English Lutheran church, 600 Belden av., says in its current bulletin that during services 23 per cent of United Lutheran church pastors wear business suits or frock coats, 49 per cent the black gown, 17 per cent the black gown with stole, 10 per cent cassock, surplice, and stole, and 1 per cent alb and chasuble. . . . Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., in special convocation last week, awarded a doctorate in sacred theology to The Rev. Howard H. Hassinger, assistant professor of moral theology and Christian ethics at Seabury-Western Theological seminary, Evanston. . . . The Rev. A. G. Merkens, Pittsburgh, Pa., has accepted the call of the Northern Illinois district of the Missouri synod to become director of Christian education. . . . FINDER OF $1,000 RETURNS IT AND GETS $200 REWARD

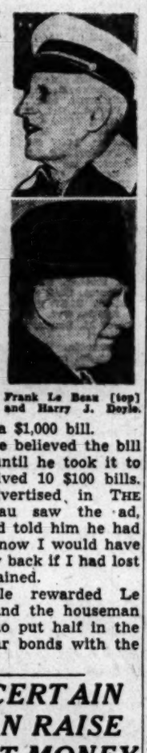
Thru the aid of an ad in THE TRIBUNE and the honesty of Frank Le Beau, 69, a hotel houseman, Harry J. Doyle, 1226 Jarvis av., yesterday recovered the $1,000 he lost Saturday night when he dropped the bill at Montrose av. and Sheridan rd.



Frank Le Beau [top] and Harry J. Doyle.

Le Beau said he found the bill on the sidewalk the same evening, thought it was a $1 bill, and stuck it in his pocket. When he got home at 3951 N. Keeler av., he gave it to his wife. Both were amazed when they saw it was a $1,000 bill.

Le Beau said he believed the bill was a fake one until he took it to a bank and received 10 $100 bills. When Doyle advertised in THE TRIBUNE, Le Beau saw the ad, phoned Doyle, and told him he had the money. "I know I would have wanted the money back if I had lost it," Le Beau explained.

Yesterday Doyle rewarded Le Beau with $200 and the houseman said he planned to put half in the bank and buy war bonds with the remainder.

MAYOR CERTAIN CITY CAN RAISE TRANSIT MONEY

Mayor Kelly said yesterday there was no doubt that the city would be able to borrow all the funds it needs to acquire and operate a unified traction system under municipal ownership.

He added that it would not be necessary to borrow, on bonds secured only by system earnings, more than the 87 millions to acquire the surface and elevated lines. Improvements at the start would be made, he said, with nearly 30 million dollars in the surface lines treasury, which would be among the assets purchased. Further borrowing, he asserted, would not be necessary for some years.

"Investment banking firms are anxious to purchase such securities as ours, which would be tax free," the mayor said. "They are working closely with us in preparing legislation to create a metropolitan transit district, favored by the city and Gov. Green."

A draft of the proposed legislation, made by the corporation counsel's office, is to be presented to the governor this afternoon, the mayor said. He added that it was probable changes would be required before it gets to the legislature.

KILLER IN IRONS GRINS WHEN HE GETS 199 YEARS

Manacled and guarded by bailiffs, Kermit Breedlove, 33, a powerfully built, Negro, grinned yesterday when a jury in the Criminal court of Chief Justice Harold G. Ward fixed his punishment at 199 years for the murder of Policeman Samuel Black, 56, Negro. The jury of seven women and five men deliberated six hours.

Breedlove shot and killed Black, another policeman, Ezra Caldwell, Negro, and his own wife, Goldane, in a fight in their home at 5149 Prairie av. last Dec. 16. Alex Napoli and Edmund Grant, assistant state's attorneys, had demanded the death penalty.

Judge Ward set March 9 for hearing on a motion for a new trial. The prosecutors announced they would again ask the death penalty when Breedlove is tried for the other killings.

GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENT KILLS 2 IN HAMMOND

Two persons, tentatively identified thru cards as Charles J. Thomas, 30, of 6607 Alabama av., Hammond, Ind., and Miss Lucena Deyle, 25, of Rochester, N. Y., were killed yesterday when their car was struck by a New York Central passenger train at the Kennedy av. crossing in Hammond.

Witnesses told police the couple waited while a freight train passed and then drove onto the tracks in the path of the passenger train coming from the other direction. The crossing is protected by blinker signals.

Daniel McNair, 62, of 1751 Cleveland av., was killed early yesterday when he was struck by the car of a hit and run driver at Cleveland and Ogden avs.

F. McCORMICKS PAY RECORD ON ANGUS HEIFER

A new high record for the sale of an Angus heifer was set yesterday at the national Aberdeen-Angus sale in the stock yards when Mr. and Mrs. Fowler McCormick of Barrington paid $9,100 for the reserve grand champion, Idessa Sunbeam, from the estate of Sam C. Fullerton of Miami, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick also bought the grand champion, Zara of Great Oaks, for $8,000 from Howard L. McGregor of Rochester, Mich.

Heaviest buyers in the two day show that ended last night have been the Painter Hereford ranch of Roggen, Col., Highview Angus ranch of Dallas, Tex., and the Oxbow ranch of Prairie City, Ore.

4 LAKE COUNTY BROTHERS MEET ON WEST FRONT

Four of the five living Balmes brothers of Lake county, whose last previous meeting was in 1942, held a reunion in the 3d army sector of the western front on Feb. 18, Lt. John Balmes, 27, of the 703d tank destroyer battalion, disclosed in a letter received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Balmes.

"We don't meet so often as Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin," Lt. Balmes wrote, "but we have a better time."

Lt. Balmes first met brother Pvt. Mark, 21, an infantry man. The army lent them a jeep to keep a rendezvous with Pvt. Francis, 26, also an artillery man, and Lt. Wilfred, 25.

The Balmes brothers were six before the death of Flight Officer Frederick, 20, in Tunisia. One brother, Tech. Sgt. James, is at Scott field, Ill. The family home is on Green Bay rd., two miles northwest of Waukegan.

WOMAN IN EGYPT WINS DIVORCE IN CHICAGO COURT

Mrs. Beatrice Schenk, 29, of 5654 Kenwood av., who is in Egypt, was granted a divorce yesterday on the ground of desertion from Pvt. William P. Schenk, 30, who is in Greenland. The divorce, granted by Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court, was the first in Cook county in which both principals were out of the United States. Mrs. Schenk, who was represented by Atty. Elmer Gertz, is on the staff of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration. Gertz offered a deposition from Mrs. Schenk, supported by testimony by local witnesses, that Schenk deserted her May 1, 1943. They were married Feb. 14, 1939. Schenk was represented by Atty. Sol R. Friedman.

Miss Hopkins Will Be Bride of David Ruml

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT LAFAYETTE HOPKINS of E. 58th st. announce the engagement and approaching marriage March 26 of their daughter, Catharine, and David Ruml of the army, son of David Ruml of Baltimore, Md., and nephew of Beardsley Ruml of income tax fame. He also is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur K. Jordan, with whom he lives. Mr. Jordan, now president of Radcliffe college, and his family reside in Cambridge, Mass., but were Chicago residents when he served as director of the University of Chicago Press.

Young Mr. Ruml is a student in the college of medicine of Syracuse university. He attended the University of Chicago, at which Beardsley Ruml served as professor of education from 1931 to 1933.

Miss Hopkins is a graduate of the university, and she and her sister, Mrs. William John Haskins, now are studying in its graduate school. Miss Hopkins also serves as a Red Cross nurses' aid in Billings hospital. Corp. Haskins is with the army in Belgium. The wedding will be small, with only the families present, and a small reception will follow.

Other Engagements.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Grant Keehn of Kenilworth today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nora, to Roderick Fabyan Read of the naval reserve, son of Capt. William A. Read, U. S. N. R., and Mrs. Read of Purchase, N. Y. Miss Keehn, a graduate of the Emma Willard school, is a student at Wellesley college. Mr. Read, who was graduated from St. Paul's school, is a member of the navy V-12 program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

From Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Allen of Montreal, Que., formerly of Chicago, comes news of the engagement and approaching marriage Tuesday of their daughter, Elizabeth Jane, and Lt. Robert Henry Horder of the naval air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Horder of the Georgian hotel, Evanston, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Y. Horder of Oak Park. Miss Allen is a graduate of Northwestern university, at which her fiancé studied. He is at home on leave after 18 months in the South Pacific.

The wedding will take place at 4:30 p. m. in the chapel of St. Luke's church, Evanston. After a wedding trip to the Horders' winter home in Magnolia Springs, Ala., Lt. Horder and his bride will go to the west coast, where he will report for orders.

Today's Events.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody will head the receiving line which will greet members and friends of the Chicago Historical society from 4 to 6 p. m. today when the society holds a preview showing of the fourth Chicago international salon of photography. Mr. Peabody is chairman of the society's photography committee.

Of the 1,094 photographs submitted from the United States, Canada, England, and India, 254 were chosen for the exhibit. Members may bring guests to the preview, and tea will be served.

The first lecture in the third annual series on modern arts sponsored by Poetry magazine will be given at 11 a. m. today in the Arts club by Francis Chapin, who will speak on "An Artist Paints." Mr. Chapin will illustrate his talk by painting from life. He will be introduced by Daniel Catton Rich, director of fine arts at the Art institute.

Members of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and their guests will hear a talk on "British-American Relations in Military Government," by Lt. Col. T. V. Smith at luncheon at 12:45 p. m. today in the Palmer House. Col. Smith, who served with A. M. G. in Sicily and Italy, has been professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago since 1927.

On the Calendar.

The Bryn Mawr College Club of Chicago has invited prospective students and their parents and the heads of various preparatory schools in this area to a tea today in the Woman's Athletic club. Mrs. T. R. S. Broughton, dean of freshmen and director of admissions at Bryn Mawr, is here to address the meeting, at which Mrs. Merritt Starr will preside. The entire club has been invited to attend a luncheon at the club Tuesday for Dr. Rhys Carpenter, head of the archaeology department at Bryn Mawr, who is en route to hold the Sather professorship in classical literature at the

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

How Smart?

How smart can a white collar girl be? A writer of a recently published magazine article contends that the men in her business life didn't like her because, she says, "I thought quickly and frequently out-thought them. This would have been all right, but I did not have sense enough to hide my mental calculations. They thought I was rubbing it in."

A reader raises the query, "Is it safer to play dumb, for, after all, the boss wants to keep his job?" It's a question to which 50 white collar girls might give 50 different answers. The reply of one, Althea McCullen, is: "You are fortunate if you may exercise your ingenuity and skill, and apply what wisdom life has given you without reprisal. I know. I worked for a generous gentleman who never squelched my efforts to learn about the business and never failed to recognize my accomplishments, whether it was unscrambling his dictation or catching an error that might have cost the company money. Of course, he knew I could not oust him from his $20,000 a year position, but he treated the person next in line to his job with the same consideration."

Gay Deceiver.

My gay new hat—
A flower show—
Has bloomed too soon;
Today there's snow.

Umbrellas can Make showers leave;
Will my spring hat
The snow deceive?

The Little Things.

It's the little things and the little courtesies that make our office life one of contentment. Our Mr. Phil often distributes hard-to-get cigarets to all of his office gals.

Backstage.

White collar girls who go home at night and stitch up a blouse or a dress so as to have something different to wear to the office may be interested in a backstage story of the dancing team, Del Mar and Renita. Like many another girl whose husband donned a uniform, Renita got herself a job when Bill went into air force training. She took a job in a dress shop because already she had learned about clothes. In fact, back in 1940, she found that costumes for the feminine half of a dancing team were plenty expensive, that is, durable clothes that would stand the strain of performances and the packing and unpacking of a tour. So, she bought a toy hand powered sewing machine and since then has made all her professional and street costumes.

Now, with her husband having received a medical discharge and the dancing team back of the footlights once more, she still is "costumer" as well as dancer . . . makes sketches and patterns and linings . . . travels with an electric portable sewing machine, to make—and keep in condition—her stage wardrobe of 20 gowns.

Insects Inspire Spring Jewelry of Paris Stylists

BY ANNE BRUYERE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 2.—Flies, grasshoppers, and peacocks inspire the new spring jewelry created by Boucheron, Cartier, and Mauboussin and which enhances the latest designs of the Parisian milliners and couturiers.

Boucheron shows large earrings and clips fashioned of brilliant green gold in the form of flies and moths. These sets are to be worn with airy beige and brown dresses of net designed by Madeleine Vramant.

Glittering ebony beads shaped like roaches with diamonds for eyes form a necklace which appears on Paquin's short sleeved, tangerine colored afternoon frock trimmed with a wide, diagonally draped belt.

Cartier has created foot long clips shaped like birds of paradise, and peacocks with long iridescent plumage covered with rubies, sapphires, and emeralds. These clips are worn on elaborate snowy white formals of lace with full, second empire skirts designed by Lucien Lelong. The latest jewelry presented by Mauboussin includes twin bouquets of five and seven petaled flowers of emeralds, rubies, and diamonds to wear at front and back of a peaked muslin and glass coiffure in banana beige created by Janette Colombier.

Another evening headdress, fashioned of winding plaited ruffles of pink tulle, was designed by Rose Descat. It is trimmed with brilliant jeweled leaves.

Fashion Flashes: Marcel Rochas is designing a new spring dress and coat of white sheer wool with four six-inch wide fringed ruffles on the skirt. . . . widely draped sleeves containing yards of silk jersey appear on a new hostess gown of canary yellow designed by Mme. Gres. . . . huge sparkling fans made of spangle studded tulle are featured by Raphael and go with pastel pink and sky blue dance frocks of matching tulle.

Marjorie Mock to Be Married This Afternoon

Miss Marjorie Mock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Edgar Mock of Evanston, and Yeoman Wayne Lawrence Gregory of the naval reserve will be married at 4:30 p. m. today in the chapel of St. Mark's church, Evanston, with a reception following in the Mock home.

Miss Mock attended the Roycemore school, Wells college, and the University of Arizona. Mr. Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Gregory of Peoria, Ill., attended Northwestern university.

In a small family ceremony at 4:30 p. m. today in Highland Park, Mrs. Aliceve Winters Warren, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leander LeRoy Winters of Highland Park, will become the bride of David Simpson Schmid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Schmid of Winnetka. The Rev. Louis Sherwin will perform the ceremony in the home of Dr. Harry Gradle, who is in South America.

The bride has two children, Lee and Sterling Warren Jr., the former of whom will serve as maid of honor. Warren Schmid will be his brother's best man, and Flavel Robertson will give his sister-in-law in marriage. The Robertsons and their daughter, Mrs. Sanford Dietrich, are here from Kansas City, Mo., for the wedding, and the Warren Schmids have come from Scarsdale, N. Y. Mr. Schmid and his bride will live in Highland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Dalgety of Evanston are in Washington, D. C., for the marriage today of their daughter, Jean, to Lt. Omar Legant of the naval reserve medical corps. Miss Dalgety was graduated from Rockford college and received her master's degree from Northwestern university. For the last two years she has been doing government work, returning to Washington recently from London, England.

Lt. Legant, whose home is in New York, was graduated from the Columbia university medical school and interned at Bellevue hospital. A veteran of the Pacific war theater, he will take his bride to Norfolk, Va., where they will live temporarily.

Lt. Bruce Morgan of the army medical corps has arrived by plane from Camp Barkley, Tex., and at 4 p. m. today he and Miss Joan Mestjian will be married in the Howes Memorial chapel in Evanston. Later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Mestjian of Evanston, will give a reception in the Georgian hotel. Lt. Morgan's sister, Helen, will serve as maid of honor, and Ensign Hunter Smith of Indianapolis, Ind., will be best man. Lt. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Morgan of Wrightwood av., will take his bride to his new post in Maryland.

Council Fire to Hear Round Table Speakers

The Indian Council fire will hear three speakers from the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews at a 3:30 p. m. meeting tomorrow in the Hamilton hotel. On the panel will be Dr. Sterling W. Brown, associate director of the round table; Daniel Lamont, Chicago attorney and an alumnus of the University of Notre Dame, and Arnold Aronson, director of the Jewish vocational problems bureau.

Journey Underground

(Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.) —o— By Flight Officer David G. Prosser

SYNOPSIS: The author enlisted in the Canadian air force in 1941, at the age of 20, and won his wings as a navigator. In 1943 he transferred to the American air force in England. On his ninth combat mission, Prosser's Flying Fortress was shot down over France and the crew bailed out. He landed alone in a field, seriously injuring his ankle. As he limped along, he met two men, Jacques and Marceau, who took him to Marceau's home. Marceau's mother, Mere Louise, bandaged the injured foot, and they hid him in the attic of the family's home and furniture making shop. He met Marceau's wife, Renee; Marcel, who helped in the shop; Germaine, whose husband was a prisoner in Germany, and Jeannette, whose father was a prisoner. Marceau arranged, thru his brother-in-law, who worked at the district police station, to get Prosser a false identity card. The card gave his correct name, David, and identified him as a 21 year old electrician. One evening he watched an air battle from his attic window. The next day Marceau left with a load of furniture to be sold in Paris.

INSTALMENT VII.

By 8 o'clock Marceau had still not returned from his furniture selling business in town. Renee was worried and Mere Louise a little frantic. Marcel assured them many times that during the alerts, the trains and underground often stopped and that probably Marceau had been stuck somewhere and had to wait until the transport became normal again. Mere Louise said rather nervously, "Dinner is ready and waiting in the oven for him to return."

Another hour went by, and I was very hungry. It was annoying not to be fed until 9 o'clock or later each evening, and I felt that some of the indigestion which had troubled me the last few days was attributable to these very late evening meals. So when La Mere next appeared in the attic I asked if I could have my dinner then. She said I certainly could and added, "I am sorry that you have to eat so late, but with la petite Anniette, Renee's 4 year old daughter, we have to be very careful. She does not know that you are here. It is best like that, for one can never be too careful with a child of her age."

The author as a Canadian air cadet in 1940.

Shortly before 9:30 Marceau arrived. It was a great relief for us all to see him and to know that he had gone unscathed thru the air raid. Before coming up to the attic, he ate his dinner, leaving me in suspense about the details of his day in Paris.

Only the next noon, did I hear any information concerning the bombardment. Marcel had gone to the village in the morning and returned with a Cri du Peuple and a fine crop of rumors.

French casualties had been high, but Marcel said, "Les Bouches never announce their own, which are probably heavier. As they are most numerous in the central part of Paris, we are glad to see that area bombed, even tho some of our oldest and finest buildings are destroyed."

I asked him if the Parisians felt exactly the same about this. "Probably not," he replied. "Of course, we live in the country and don't actually have to undergo the bombardments."

The day before, Germaine had gone to see her husband's friend who had returned on leave. The man told her that conditions in the factory had become worse. Older groups of Hitler Jugend [youth] were now maintaining order among the foreign workers. They were brutal; when the workers did not move quickly enough they were beaten with the butts of rifles. Her husband had grown a little thin, but otherwise was reported to be all right.

I asked if her husband would ever get a leave, and she shrugged her shoulders, and said, "There does not seem to be much system to the leave program. I have been hoping for over a year, but still there is no indication that he will get one.

Eventually the subject of her husband, our principal topic of conversation, would become exhausted, and the long, painful silences would begin. When I looked at her, she usually caught my eye and smiled, making the situation even more discomforting. This wonderful opportunity to speak French was too much for me to miss, so one afternoon when the conversation came to a dead stop, and we were each looking uneasily around the room waiting for the other to speak, I asked if she would mind if I read a newspaper to her in order to improve my pronunciation. She seemed to like the suggestion, and proved to be a great help in correcting me, so from that time onward we spent about half an hour of her visit reading.

An hour was about all I could stand at one time, and when I quit, we again sat silent. She invariably spent two hours with me and occasionally three. It was incredible that these cessations in conversation caused her none of the terrific uneasiness they did me, she merely sat with an expression of unconcern on her face and looked as if she could wait forever until I said something.

One day I was especially restless and yawned several times; this seemed to distress her so much that she asked, "Are you tired?"

I casually answered, "O, a little."

Evidently she thought of me as an invalid who, when sleepy, must be given the opportunity to sleep, for she said, "Well, then I shall leave you and let you sleep," and immediately trundled down the stairs.

After nine days in the attic, I began to feel restive, and eager to leave the house. Remembering stories of people in the French underground who never stayed in one

Gay Coloring Marks Newest in Accessories

BY REA SEEGER.

Spring costume accessories definitely colored to celebrate the fact that, finally, you can take your neck out of a fur collar, have taken over the shops and stores. The most eye-catching trifles are those crackling swish ascots of plaid, striped, and checked taffeta. They are gay and giddy, slick for spring coats and suits. There are two models, one wide and simple with delicate fringed ends, the other a shaped regulation ascot lined to make for extra bulk so as to tie or knot effectively at the throat.

Colors and combinations are vivid enough to provide contrast for smart navy blue suits and coats and to double for duty with gray outfits. Most of the plaids are huge, the stripes vary in width from quarter inch to two inches, and the checks are just as exuberant in size and color. Prices are exceptionally easy to take and the results tucked away around the throat are the very smart and proper finish for the costume. Pastel colored ascots and scarfs are also plentiful in such bright colors as gold, canary yellow, lime, palest pink, sky blue, and mauve.

Other accessories ready for spring duty include short kidskin gloves in two color combinations, such as navy with red, beige with navy or brown, black with gray, and gold with brown. These have a somewhat surprising effect after weeks of drab, dark colored suedes and gloves in classic beige tones. The colors are divided half and half, front and back, with the thumb the lightest color. The first fabric gloves are out, too, in a grand array of colors, bright and pastel. The shorties, those that reach the wrist only, are the smartest models. The colored thread stitching provides the only contrast.

place more than one or two nights, for fear of being detected, I thought my time to go was certainly at hand. Eating so much of these people's scanty food supply made me rather uncomfortable. The danger for them was slight—unless some one had talked carelessly, but that seemed unlikely to occur in a family where even the 4 year old daughter did not know I was in the house.

But, however strong was my wish to leave, I knew it was stupid to think of traveling with my ankle in the state it was. I could hardly limp well, and walking was out of the question. Nevertheless each morning I told Mere Louise that I should leave on the next day. She replied, "Don't you think you ought to stay a little longer? That ankle is still very swollen." I half-heartedly agreed.

During the morning I tested the foot, just to see how well it was—that also was discouraging, and then at noon Marceau came up and said, "I hear you are thinking of leaving today. That is silly, David. Stay another few days; stay the whole winter and wait until the allies come. We are glad to have you. I know this attic is like a prison, but it is safe, and you should not go until that foot is really well."

A day or two after I started to think of leaving, I had an opportunity to go downstairs.

Renee took la petite Anniette to her mother's house in the afternoon, so there was no danger in my descending to the first floor and the workshop.

The pain I suffered with my ankle convinced me that I should have to wait a few more days before leaving. I was just able to go down the stairs and walk slowly around the ground floor.

On the way down, I wandered into Mere Louise's room by mistake. It was a dirty, depressing bedroom. The bed was sheetless and unmade and looked as if it were never aired. The remainder of the furnishing consisted of one dresser, so covered with clothing hanging out of the drawers and thrown on its top that I could not see any part of the dresser itself.

I quickly backed out of the room and set myself on the right way down to the kitchen. This room was also rather gray and dreary. The floor was covered with what were once blue and yellow tiles, but which had lost their original color and now took on a gray tint. The rough wood walls were unpainted. The kitchen was sparsely furnished; a long sideboard and a wood stove extended along the far wall; two or three straight wooden chairs were placed indifferently around a large table covered with blue oilcloth. The flies on this oilcloth were so thick that it was rather difficult to distinguish its color.

When I had complained about the flies in the attic, Renee had told me that I was lucky not to be in the kitchen; it was easy to see what she meant. The thought that all my food was prepared in the midst of these insects made me slightly ill. In one corner of the room there was a little sink which was used for everything—washing dishes, laundry, shampoos, baths, shaving, etc.

That afternoon I shaved in it, for shaving in the attic was too trying.

After shaving, I started to explore the rest of the first floor, and particularly the workshop where Raymond and Marcel were working.

The workshop must have been about 100 feet long, filled with large machines and piles of lumber. I could not see either of the men, so I walked toward the other end of the shop and found both bent over a small workbench there. They were doing some fine woodwork for the back of a set of chairs.

The power driven saws, planes, drills, and sandpapering machines were all described in detail, but the most interesting thing was the power plant. As I mentioned before a small stream ran thru the courtyard, and it was this water that furnished the power for the machines.

Behind the anteroom off the kitchen there was another roomlike space, filled with a mill wheel 12 or 15 feet high. This wheel furnished all the power for the shop machinery, electricity for the house and for grinding the grain. I asked Marcel if maintenance for these machines was difficult.

"The machinery was new just before the war, so we have not had much trouble with it," he replied, "but when a part does break we have to spend a fortune to have it replaced. Grease and lumber are also difficult to obtain. We can only get these materials on the black market, and they are expensive, and we have to spend a large part of our profits in keeping ourselves supplied."

The tour finished, I returned to watch Marcel and Jacques at their work. They had to use an electric light during the day because the windows of this shop were so small and dirty. Almost no daylight fell upon their benches. The floor was very creaky indeed; many of its planks looked as if they would collapse when stepped upon, and the building itself gave one a somewhat similar impression. It must have been more than 100 years old.

Stage Notes

Our company of "Dear Ruth" is scheduled to arrive April 16 with a cast including William Harrigan, Augusta Dabney, Aileen Poe, Herbert Evers, and Rosemary Rice. No theater is named. . . . When Burton Holmes ends his Orchestra hall series and the extra performances demanded by capacity crowds, he will move to the Civic Opera house for two additional shows. . . . That black beard in uniform at the Pump room the other night was Moss Hart, on his way overseas to play his own "The Man Who Came to Dinner." The uniformed actresses with him were Haila Stoddard, Paula Trueman, and Janet Fox.

Ruth MacKay to Speak on Library's Book Series

Ruth MacKay, who conducts THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE column, "White Collar Girl," will discuss "Secrets of a Columnist" at 12:15 p. m. Thursday in the Chicago public library. The lecture, which is free to the public, continues the library's weekly book talk series.

Purcell Chapter Session.

The Evening group of the Henry Purcell chapter of the D. A. R. will meet Thursday night in the Hayes hotel to discuss plans for raising money for the national society's war service projects.

WAC Sergeants Put on Their Finery for a Wedding in Rome

ALLIED FORCE HDQ., Italy.—What the best dressed sergeants are wearing was disclosed recently when Sgt. Doris Callahan, Minneapolis, Minn., was married to Capt. Jack Senseny in the first WAC wedding in Rome.

Dresses for the bridal party were sent from the United States. First Sgt. Lucille C. Smith, Milwaukee, Wis., "top kick" of a WAC company and a bridesmaid, was gowned in what was described as lovely yellow crepe. The bride's dress, designed by an Italian, was of white eyelet embroidered satin. A shoulder length veil of fragile Italian lace was held in place with delicate white blossoms.

Among guests at the wedding party were Sgt. Marguerite Carnal, De Kalb, Ill.; Sgt. Gertrude Levin, 165 N. Pine st., Chicago; Maj. Dorothea A. Coleman, Kankakee, Ill., and Capt. Louis M. Winslow, Ladoga, Ind., commanding officer of the bride's company.

Phi Beta Meeting.

Gamma chapter of the Phi Beta fraternity will present Irwin Fischer in a musical talk on "Thought in Interpretation" at 8 p. m. Tuesday in room 617 of the Kimball building.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Welcome Is on the Mat.

At long last Gloria Swanson has arrived with her new husband. Her friends are sorry she didn't bring her younger daughter, Michele Farmer, along. That one will certainly have a career. She's mother plus, plus, plus. At present she's still going to boarding school. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Boomer are in town. Only Mrs. has seen the picture "Week-end at the Waldorf" and I'm told is delighted with it. Mr. B. tells me that the snow in the mountains, the sun in the valley, and the orange groves live up to every colored postcard he's ever seen. In fact, to hear him talk, he should be a member of our chamber of commerce. . . . Mary Martin writes from Philadelphia that she'll finish the road show of "One Touch of Venus" about May 10, go to Florida for a couple weeks' vacation, and then come out for Mary Pickford's production of "Venus," which is supposed to start June 15. Mary says she's in the pink, has added 8 pounds to the 104 she left here with, and hopes to stay that way. In her haste to leave Hollywood she sold her house and now regrets it. Wonders if anybody has a doghouse, roomette, or garage that she can buy, beg, borrow, or steal.

Can't Improve on Nature.

"Ingrid Bergman is unfair to women!" says Edie Head. Well, what the——! "She is, too!" says Edie. "Why, I saw her being photographed without a speck of makeup—not even powder or lipstick—and she looked beautiful. And if that isn't being unfair to women I don't know what is." . . . I'm hoping Elizabeth Taylor won't be in "Bells of St. Mary's." She'd start out as a nasty, naughty little girl, which would be too bad after "National Velvet." Elizabeth will never forget her 14th birthday. Her boss, Louis B. Mayer, gave her the horse she rode in that picture. . . . Signe Hasso has just received from Sweden what they consider their academy award for a picture she did over there in 1937. . . . Watched Pat O'Brien, Adolphe Menjou, Ellen Drew, and Miana Gombel do a scene in "Man Alive" where all four are riding in a model T Ford roadster. Scene itself is funny enough, but dialog made up as they go along promises to be even funnier.

A Few Party Notes.

Cruel Mother Is Driving Son from the Home

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"They're hoodlums, running wild in the streets, breaking windows, and stealing fruit from the market stands; they should be before the children's courts. What's the matter with today's children?"

Not I alone, but judges, police officers who see young offenders, social workers, and others know that when home is made an attractive place which a child feels belongs to him and in which he finds interest and understanding, he [or she] is not apt to roam the streets and get into mischief.

Sometimes, to be sure, the whole family situation is so desperate that only the community can help thru clubs, youth centers, and so forth. But more often the trouble can be laid at the door of one of the parents, and is entirely preventable.

One of the hoodlums described in the opening paragraph of today's article could easily have been the boy described in the following letter, whose father is greatly troubled about him:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I am the father of three children: two boys of 7 and 12, and a girl, 8 years of age. My wife and I get along fine, but the trouble starts between us on account of the children.

"The boy of 12 enjoys drawing, chemistry, and singing. This annoys the mother very much, and she destroys and throws out all his chemistry and drawing materials. This angers the boy, and he starts smashing things around the house.

"His drawings and chemistry are things forgotten now, and my boy spends much time on the streets. When I get home from work, the mother complains about the boy's behavior and tells me to beat him with a stick with several pieces of strap on it, a custom in our neighborhood. There are continuous arguments, and I cannot see where the boy does anything wrong. I will not let her whip him. He runs behind me when I come home."

The wrong done this boy is obvious, and his mother may rue the day when she practically drove him from home. Here is one case where a man should be master in his home and lay the law down to his wife for his son's good.

It is hard to believe that, in what we call our days of enlightenment, not only could a woman be so stupid, but also so cruel. Yet my mail continues to bear testimony to the fact that children are still whipped and beaten by their parents.

Child's Fashions

Today's pattern suggestions include two smooth little frocks for the youngest feminine family members, as well as hats of the beret and beanie types. Simple sewing skill is all that's required for these penny-saving fashions. Style No. 2843 is designed for sizes 6 to 14. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 35 inch fabric with ¼ yard contrasting. Style No. 3887 is designed for sizes 2 to 8. Size 4 requires 1½ yards of 35 inch fabric for jumper and 1⅛ yards for short-sleeved blouse. Style No. 2519 is designed for head sizes 19, 20, 21, and 22. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents, 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Meeting Monday to Mark Close of Palestine Drive

Dr. Solomon Goldman will be the principal speaker at a meeting Monday night in the Aragon ballroom, 1100 Lawrence av., marking the successful close of the Histadrut Palestine campaign. The 7,500 individuals who have contributed $20 each will attend. Israel Merevinsky, the Palestinian representative of labor, also will speak.

Miss Hopkins Will Be Bride of David Ruml

University of California for the coming semester.

An Easter seal tea from 3 to 5 p. m. tomorrow in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Willett officially will open the annual sale of seals to raise money for crippled children and adults. Mr. Willett, who is chairman of the Easter Seal committee, and his wife will receive with members of the board of directors of the Illinois Association for the Crippled.

Invitations to a cocktail party the Chester W. Clevelands of Winnetka are giving today for Capt. and Mrs. Maurice L. Britt contain the footnote: "Hangers-on are reminded that this cocktail party will be held in strict conformity with Byrnes' new midnight closing edict." Capt. Britt is the most decorated soldier of this war and was featured recently in a series of articles in THE TRIBUNE. Other special guests will be Lt. Col Michiel Dobervich, one of 10 Americans who escaped from a Japanese prison camp in April, 1943, with the late Lt. Col. William E. Dyess, and Mrs. Dobervich.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Newton are entertaining at cocktails today in the Chestnut st. apartment of her parents, the Frederick Lawrences, for Mr. and Mrs. Klaus Grabe [Andree Vilas Graham]. The Grabes moved back here from Mexico City about a month ago, and he is about to enter the army. Mr. Grabe was teaching art in Mexico.

Kitchen Pointers

By Mary Meade

"I read with interest your bread making article the other day and wonder if you would answer a question about refrigerator doughs. Is it possible to store plain yeast dough for future bread and roll making?"

Standard bread dough may be stored for a day or two before baking. However, dough for longer storing should have larger amounts of yeast, sugar, and fat. Typical refrigerator dough will keep for about a week.

Other questions inspired by the recent article on bread making:

"I have heard that using water instead of milk as the liquid in rolls makes a lighter product. Is this true?"

Yes, use of water tends to make a fluffier roll, but milk increases nutritious quality. The addition of milk also helps to prevent drying out of any left-over rolls.

"If the amount of yeast called for in a recipe is doubled to speed up rising of the dough, will the bread have a 'yeasty' flavor?"

No, the flavor will not be affected. Yeastiness is caused by overfermentation. However, I would not recommend more than doubling the amount of yeast because the texture of the bread undoubtedly would be affected by too rapid rising.

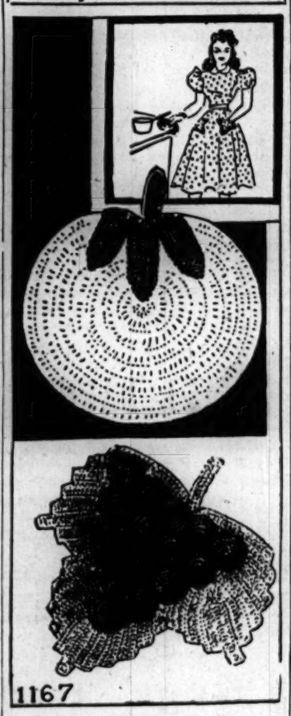
Gay Potholders



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted ornamental and useful potholders are found in every well regulated household. The rosy red tomato and the luscious looking grapes against a background of green leaves will do much to intrigue visitors and prove serviceable to the cook as well.

For instructions in crocheting the potholders, No. 1167, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Baked Prune Whip with Lemon Sauce.

[Serves six.]

1 cup coarsely chopped cooked prunes
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
3 egg whites
Few grains salt
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Add lemon juice and cinnamon to prunes. Add salt to egg whites and beat stiff. Gradually add sugar, beating until well blended. Fold in prunes and nuts. Pour into greased casserole and bake at 325 degrees about half an hour or until firm. Serve warm or cold with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce: Add 1 cup sugar mixed with 1 tablespoon cornstarch, and the juice and grated rind of 1 lemon to 1 cup boiling water. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Add 1 beaten egg yolk and cook gently for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and fold in 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Serve warm or cold over prune whip.

Girl's Actions Speak Loudly if She Loves

BY SHEILA DALY.

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It takes more than a fresh spring daisy to prove whether your current dream girl is in the "she loves me" or "she loves me not" department. Give it the old "reason" test—pull a few petals off this list of tests and see just where you stand.

She loves you: If she wears your class ring or pin all the time, even when she's out with the other boys; if she asks you to come over to her house to play pinochle with the family, to make fudge in the kitchen [just the two of you] with an apron tied round your waist, to keep her company while she takes care of her little brother on Saturday afternoons or just to "sit and talk" on those nights she's not allowed to go out on dates; if she doesn't mind passing up a date for a Van Johnson movie for a coke in the drugstore with you; if she arranges to take chemistry during third period 'cause that's when you take chemistry, too; if she likes to listen while you talk on and on about college or your post-war plans; if she likes to be included in your post-war plans; if she arranges her evenings with the gals to coincide with your evenings with the fellows—just so you'll have free evenings together; if she wears that blue sweater again on Tuesday because you mentioned you liked the color on Monday; if she asks about your family and then remembers all about them when you mention them again; if she remembers your birthday and is delighted because you remembered her's . . . well, there's nothing to worry about. You're both right out there on Cloud Eight.

She loves you not [or at least the feeling's wearing thin]: If she looks over your shoulder instead of up at you while you're dancing; If she sounds bored over the phone; if she makes lame excuses: "Someone's at the front door, I'd better hang up now" just as you are about to ask for a Friday night date; if she wants to go right home after a movie instead of stopping for the usual hamburger and malted; if she forgets to pout when you break three dates in a row; if she likes to go to gals' hen parties on the Saturday nights she used to spend with you; if she asks you more than once about that "smooth fellow you used to know"; if she won't make a date definite till the night before [something more interesting might come up in the meantime, you know]; if she cuts her hair, baby style, when she knows you like it long and fluffy; when she doesn't want you to come over to her house to study with her because she can work better alone . . . when that happens, you're on your way out. Time to pick another daisy.

Inquiring Camera Girl

By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by T. C. Kebbs, 738 Oakwood blvd.]

THE QUESTION.

What is the most humorous incident you have witnessed at a wedding?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

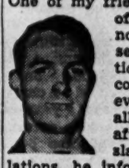
Florence Micus, receptionist, 3628 S. Paulina st.—At an elaborate wedding the little flower girl forgot to spread the rose petals on the floor as she walked. A relative whispered her oversight. Near the altar, the child turned the basket upside down, throwing the petals on the floor in a heap, and walked out.

Ralph Rio, floor manager, 3633 Lexington st.—About 15 years ago, a friend of mine was getting married for the second time. In the reception hall several of us wished him much better luck on his second marriage, and one boy added, "Yeah, but the third time you are married get a nicer hall."

Jeanne Murray, secretary, 7519 Michigan av.—My girl friend married a private. After the ceremony, the bridal couple were met at the door by a truck load of G. I.'s, who set them on small chairs in the large truck. Then they drove around the neighborhood, horns blowing and soldiers yelling.

Diane Knafl, supervisor, 3059 S. St. Louis av.—The most amusing incident I saw at a reception was the sudden rush around the bride at midnight. One of the women took the bride's veil off, another handed her an old apron that was tied over the beautiful wedding dress. Some one gave her a broom, and she went to work.

Dolores Zyk, interviewer, 5638 School st.—When the best man was supposed to give the wedding ring to the bridegroom, he discovered that the wrapping was still on the ring. First he handed it to the bridegroom, then snatched it back, unwrapped it, and returned it. He was more nervous than the bridegroom.



John Drogos, 2018 S. Loomis st.—One of my friends married an out of town man whom none of us had ever seen. At the reception, we spotted a man coming in attired in evening clothes. We all ran up to him and, after a lot of back slapping and congratulations, he informed us he was a musician.

Thru the Looking Glass

The woman who must travel nowadays faces so many difficulties in getting transportation, hotel accommodations, and even her three meals a day that some little luxury of home which can be tucked into her traveling case is a boost to her spirits.

Some long, slender tubes of fragrant bath salts would provide such a luxury. The travel-worn woman will find them a blessing at the end of a hectic day and will forget all her troubles when she steps into a tub of softened, scented water.

The perfume that permeates the crystals is a lovely blend of floral fragrances, soothing and calming to the spirits. It's virtually impossible to resist relaxing under their sweet aroma. The perfume will cling to the skin after the bath is over and a sense of refreshed well-being and daintiness replaces the weary grubbiness that so often accompanies traveling.

These crystals are made by a company whose bath aids are among the finest. The tubes that contain them are made of heavy paper, gaily decorated, and are packaged in an attractive container. There are eight cylinders in a set and one or two of them can be tucked nicely into the corners of a suitcase without stealing much needed space. Each tube contains enough crystals for about three baths if used economically; a little less, if you want to be lavish with them.

These make an ideal gift for the woman who travels, for the war wife who is living in makeshift quarters near an army post, or just for stay-at-homes who enjoy a prettified bath. And if you fit into any of these categories and can't imagine that any one will make you a present of them, we'd suggest you treat yourself.

HONOR G. E. COLE, LITTLE MAN WHO BEAT 'BARONS'

Union League Told of His Fight on Boodlers.

George E. Cole's aggressive city leadership for 35 years, during which, without holding public office, he became known as "Citizen Cole of Chicago," was extolled at a luncheon meeting in the Union League club yesterday to commemorate the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Cole, a stationer, who had not been exceptionally interested in politics, started his long fight for honesty in government in March, 1896, it was related by Hoyt King, one of his close associates at the time. At a meeting of outstanding citizens summoned to the old Central Music hall to plan a fight against boodling aldermen under influence of Charles T. Yerkes, the traction promoter, Cole was placed at the head of the Municipal Voters League.

Part of First Talk Read.

Part of his first talk to his executive committee was read yesterday from the biography written by King after Cole's death in 1930. It is included in a chapter headed, "The Little Stationer Becomes the Human Buzz Saw," and starts off:

"Now, let us get right down to brass tacks. God helps those who fight like the devil, and to hell with the libel suits."

Succeeding speakers told of Cole's cleaning up the "robber baron" council until it was a model for the nation and of his further crusading for honesty in the city hall and the statehouse. Gov. Green attributed the strength of Cole's leadership to his ability to persuade business men to take part in local politics.

"Never Stood Aloof."

"There is no more stupid American than the intelligent American who boasts he always votes at elections but is above mixing in politics," said the governor. "George Cole never stood aloof from party organizations. He worked with the best elements in both parties. So do the nonpartisan organizations that are effective today."

George I. Haight, an old friend of Cole, pictured Cole as short of stature, with a powerful body and a "large and round" head that took a size 8 hat. His personality was forceful.

King said that Cole believed strongly in "a free press" and in making use of it to inform the people of wrongdoing in government. One paper that "supported Cole in every move" was THE TRIBUNE, said King, and he called on Col. R. R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, who was at the speakers' table.

"No Sign of Egotism."

"I knew Mr. Cole and greatly admired him," said Col. McCormick. "In him was no sign of egotism and no pride of opinion. He was immensely powerful, but he never used that power to further his own ends. He was powerful largely because he confined himself to the one matter of honesty in politics.

"The influence which Mr. Cole extended thru his city and state could not go on forever. But it is a happy fact remembered now that his services are appreciated and the principles he set forth are so commonly accepted today."

King also cited the help given Cole by the Chicago Daily News under the late Victor Lawson and a response was made by Charles N. Wheeler, political writer, who knew Cole thruout his civic crusades.

COUNTY G.O.P. TO NAME COURT TICKET MARCH 19

George M. Fisher, Republican county chairman, yesterday signed the call for the party's judicial convention to meet at 3 p. m. on March 19 in the Hotel La Salle to nominate candidates for the Circuit and Superior court to be elected June 4.

Joe Gill, secretary of the Democratic county committee, had previously announced the Democratic convention will be held at 11 a. m. on March 22 in the Morrison hotel.

Under coalition plans which leaders of both parties are reported to have accepted, 10 Democratic and seven Republican incumbents would be reelected, leaving six vacancies, with each party nominating three. Democrats are reported to have agreed on naming former State's Atty. Courtney, John Tuohy, brother of State's Atty. Tuohy, and Charles E. Byrne, son-in-law of Richard Nash.

Republicans are reported agreed on Elmer Schnackenberg, former speaker of the Illinois house, and Leonard C. Reid, cousin of Gov. Dewey, but are divided on the third place. Country towns are claiming recognition and have put forward L. A. Wescott of Oak Park, Edwin A. Robson of Wilmette, and Charles O. Rundall of Evanston. Others who have been mentioned include County Chairman Fisher, State Chairman John Tyrrell, Edgar Jonas, and Phil Davis.

GOVERNOR BUYS EASTER SEALS TO OPEN DRIVE

Gov. Green yesterday purchased the first sheet of Easter seals and officially opened the eighth annual Easter seal sale for the Illinois Association for the Crippled, 116 S. Michigan av. The sale is the association's sole means of support in its services to crippled children and adults. The first purchase was made by the governor in the Union League club from Marian Kien, 6, of 7123 S. Winchester av., a student in the Christopher School for Handicapped Children. The nation-wide sale of seals is sponsored by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and by its 41 affiliated state societies.

MAT CAPONE FACES ARRAIGNMENT TODAY ON MURDER CHARGE

Mat Capone.

Mat Capone, youngest brother of Al Capone, was held in the County jail last night for arraignment this morning on a murder charge nearly a year old. He was arrested by Cicero police yesterday after, it is said, he had conveniently put himself on the spot in what was reported to be a confident effort to shake off the old charge.

Murder victim in the case was Jens D. Larrison, 51, alias James D. Larkin, a one time horse trainer. He was shot to death April 18, 1944, in Capone's Hall of Fame saloon at 4839 Ogden av., Cicero.

Capone had been missing until yesterday when Chief Erwin Konovsky of Cicero spotted him sitting comfortably in a chair in Al Moro's barber shop at 2132 S. 60th st., Cicero. Konovsky placed him under arrest. Capone did not seem surprised, nor did he resist.

Capone was taken to the state's attorney's office, where he refused to answer any questions except to give his age as 37 and his address as 7244 Prairie av. He was to be arraigned at 10 a. m. today before Justice Henry Pendl at Willow Springs.

14 BILLION GOAL SET FOR NEXT LOAN CAMPAIGN

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Secretary Morgenthau announced today a 14 billion dollar goal for the seventh war loan, divided evenly between individuals and corporations.

The 7 billion dollar quota for individuals is the highest ever assigned them. The series E quota of 4 billion dollars also is more than Mr. and Mrs. America have been asked to dig up for that class of securities heretofore. The total quota is the same as that of the sixth war loan.

In order to sell the unprecedented amounts of bonds to noncorporate investors the treasury set the longest sales period yet. The formal drive will extend from May 14 to June 30—seven weeks as compared with four weeks in the sixth war loan.

In addition to this seven week drive, an "intensification of activities" in the sale of series E bonds will begin April 9, when millions of persons in pay roll savings plans thruout the country will be asked to enlarge their participation.

SKOKIE PILOT GIVES LIFE TO SAVE COMRADE

Lt. Russell S. Wilcox, 4848 Elm st., Skokie, was cited for heroism by the navy yesterday because he piloted his flak-riddled carrier plane beyond Jap territory altho mortally wounded and saved the life of his young crewman.

The Washington announcement stated that Lt. Wilcox, a dive bomber pilot, participated in an attack on Clark field, Luzon, while it was still held by the Japs. With him was Walter D. Frierson, 19, of Boulder, Colo., a radioman.

A Jap shell exploded in the cockpit, wounding Wilcox. Nevertheless, he flew 80 miles to sea beyond Jap territory, and made a water landing. He and Frierson climbed into rafts. Lt. Wilcox died of his wounds, but Frierson was rescued. Lt. Wilcox was 26, and enlisted in the navy in 1940 while attending the University of Illinois. He is survived by his father Emory H. Wilcox.

Newspaper Circulation Hits High of 47,004,019

Philadelphia, Pa., March 2 (AP).—Circulation of all daily newspapers in the United States averaged 47,004,019 copies a day in 1944 to set a record, the 1945 edition of N. W. Ayer & Son's newspaper directory, released today, revealed.

U. S. WILL HELP MAKE CHICAGO AIR HUB: KELLY

Mayor Kelly returned from Washington, D. C., yesterday confident that federal bureau administrators will help in an airport program to make Chicago the post-war aviation capital of the world.

In his three day visit, the mayor met War Mobilization Director Byrnes and discussed priorities for materials to construct a new temporary terminal at Chicago airport. A formal request for priorities will be sent to Byrnes soon.

Mayor Kelly said he heard of one airplane manufacturer who plans to build a ship that will fly from Chicago to London in 10 hours. The fare will be $100, one way, and the plane will carry 204 passengers, the mayor said.

PAY-AS-GO PLAN FOR U. S. PUSHED IN LEGISLATURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 2.—A move to get the Illinois legislature on record in support of the proposed Tydings "pay-as-you-go" amendment to the federal Constitution will be made next week by State Sen. Giffin [R., Springfield]. The Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois expects the movement to spread to other state legislatures.

Sen. Tydings [D., Md.] wants the Constitution amended to require the President to estimate annual revenue and to recommend a budget within the limits of income.

"If the amendment can be obtained, it would virtually eliminate deficit spending at Washington," said Thomas E. Fiske, executive secretary of the taxpayers' federation.

Fiske said the federal government lived within its income for 96 of its 155 years. Of the 59 deficit years prior to the present war, 17 were during war and 11 were between 1929 and 1940.

During the 31 remaining pre-Roosevelt deficit years the largest deficit was only 90 million dollars.

SHARP DECLINE IN PNEUMONIA CASES REPORTED

Pneumonia cases so far this year have totaled 772 and have resulted in 271 deaths, Dr. Herman N. Bundeson, president of the board of health, reported yesterday. During the same period last year, 1,047 pneumonia cases were reported, with 279 deaths. Deaths from influenza this year so far have totaled 12, compared with 30 for the same period last year, Dr. Bundesen reported.

KELLY TO MEET GREEN AT ST. PATRICK'S DAY LEGISLATURE DINNER

Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green will eat corned beef and cabbage and discuss legislation dealing with Chicago traction and housing problems at the Illinois legislature's annual St. Patrick's day dinner March 13 in Springfield, it was disclosed yesterday. Rep. Franz [D., Chicago], in charge of arrangements, said both executives will speak.

A tentative Chicago legislative program was agreed upon when the mayor visited the governor Jan. 30, and it is beginning to bear results. The draft of a bill embodying the agreement for a metropolitan traction district and public ownership of the street car and elevated systems will be shown to Gov. Green today at the Union League club. If approved by the governor, the bill will be introduced in the legislature next week.

A program of housing legislation is expected to be announced next week. It is expected that the housing bill will amend insurance laws to permit increased investments of private capital in slum clearance projects to redevelop blighted neighborhoods.

HELD AS ROBBER OF SOLDIER.

Randolph A. Taylor, 27, Negro, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Felony court on a charge of robbing a soldier on furlough of $60.

STATE REPORTS TAX COLLECTION DROP OF 23 PCT.

Springfield, Ill., March 2 (AP).—State sales, cigaret, liquor, and motor fuel taxes declined last month, and total revenue department collections of $12,600,000 in February were 23 per cent below January and about 6 per cent under February a year ago, the department reported today.

The 2 cents a package cigaret tax, which yielded about $1,000,000 a month last year, brought only $676,000 in February, continuing the downward trend which began with cigaret shortages last October. The January total was $850,000.

February sales tax cash revenue fell as expected to below the all-time record monthly high of $9,916,000 in January, which reflected December sales. The February collections under the 2 cent retailers occupational [sales] levy were $6,644,000. A year ago collections were $7,204,685.

Liquor taxes fell to $1,632,000 in February, compared with $1,927,000 in January. Gross motor fuel tax revenue was $2,498,000, about $134,000 under January's.

IOWA BATTLES ILLINOIS; SEEKS CLEAR TITLE

A.L. SEES BIT OF BLUE SKY THRU CLOUDS OF WAR

Training Dates

Cleveland Indians—March 13 at Lafayette, Ind.
St. Louis Browns—March 13 at Cape Girardeau, Mo.
Boston Red Sox—March 13 at Pleasantville, N. Y.
Philadelphia Athletics—March 14 at Frederick, Md.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

A brightened man power outlook in the American league for the 1945 season was foreseen yesterday in the league's Chicago offices. A steady rise in the tempo of signed contracts was reported by the eight clubs in the last few days.

A check of the club rosters by Earl Hilligan, director of the league's service bureau, also reveals that few players have been called for re-examination by their draft boards.

Since the league's roster book was released on Feb. 23, these changes have been noted among the clubs:

WHITE SOX—Lost Pitcher Gordon Maltzberger to the army and Gene Thomas, rookie outfielder, to the marines. The White Sox since have signed two catchers and an infielder, raising their roster to 39.

RED SOX—Lamar [Skeeter] Newsome, shortstop, inducted but has not been called for service.

Yankees Are Unchanged.

INDIANS—Outfielder Felix Mackiewicz passed his physical, but has not been given a date for reporting.

YANKEES—No changes.

ATHLETICS—First Baseman Bill McGhee passed his physical, but will not be called until July. A.'s have signed four new pitchers, all with honorable discharges from military service.

BROWNS—No changes.

SENATORS—No changes.

TIGERS—Third Baseman Pinky Higgins notified he will be reëxamined, but expects to start the season.

Hilligan said when he visited the Browns' camp in Cape Girardeau, Mo., several days after it opened last season only six athletes were on the premises. Ten days later, 20 were in camp.

Expect Belated Rush.

"We believe that this will be the pattern again," said Hilligan. "The Senators and Cubs, first major league teams to report for spring training doubtless will swing many players into line who now might be on the fence."

The White Sox learned only yesterday that Maltzberger is at an army indiction center in California. He was sworn into service at Rialto, Cal. The two Sox coaches, Herold [Muddy] Ruel and Bing Miller, and Trainer Packey Schwartz will arrive in Terre Haute next Thursday to get the training quarters ready.

"They know best," said Vice President Harry Grabiner yesterday when asked concerning a report from Philadelphia that Pitcher Bill Dietrich and Outfielder Wally Moses are delaying signing contracts until the baseball air clears.

Manager Charley Grimm, Coach Red Smith, and Trainer Andy Lotshaw of the Cubs will leave this morning for the club's spring training camp in French Lick, Ind. The first group of players is scheduled to pull out Wednesday night.

LAMOTTA WILL FIGHT COSTNER IN STADIUM BOUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 2.—Jack Lamotta, New York middleweight, has signed to meet George Costner of Cincinnati in a 10 round bout in Chicago Stadium March 26, Jack Hurley, Stadium matchmaker, said tonight. Lamotta lost a decision in 10 rounds to Ray [Sugar] Robinson in Madison Square Garden recently before a crowd which paid $93,000. Previously Robinson scored a first round knockout over Costner before a sellout gathering in Chicago which contributed to a $94,000 gate. The achievement snapped Costner's string of 23 straight victories, 22 of which were scored by knockouts.

To All of You.

I started to write you each a note
Of gratitude, and then
The doctors said: "Now none of that
Or you'll be flat on your back again."

So, if the Wake depend upon its Friends,
For here's one friend who depends upon the Wake
To relay his thanks to you.
And pouring's no figure of speech,
I felt pretty humble to think how far

I'd hate to have the good medico know
That I made this dubious crack,
But, honestly, folks, your words of cheer
Are really what brought me back.

"If they miss me as much as they say they do?"
This thought came sudden and clear:
"Tell me then," said I to myself,
"Just what am I doing here?"

So I raised a cry for my traveling bag,
I snatched up my brush and comb,
I "wrapped my furs about me"
And made, on the run, for home.

I can't seem to thank you the way I should,
On pat phrases I'm 'way in arrears,
But, how can a fellow be up to par
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Remorse.

I skipped the draft thru crooked influence
The while my pal went overseas to fight,
I gloried in my wisdom, my good sense,
And made myself believe that I was right.

Today my pal came home with just one arm,
The other one he'd lost somewhere abroad,
But all about him there is glamor, charm,
For that he served his country and his God.

And there is peace abiding in his heart,
While my poor soul is broken with regret;
His conscience tells him he has done his part

Somehow a phrase keeps ringing in my ear
And all my mind and heart with fear is riven,
From dawn till deepest dark I seem to hear:

MORTON BEATS RIVERSIDE FIVE IN UPSET, 38-36

Waukegan Loses to Niles, 41-33.

Riverside-Brookfield High school, champions of the West Suburban league, and Waukegan, co-champion of the Suburban league, were knocked from the running in the state basketball title race last night as opponents scored upset victories as regional tournaments concluded thruout Illinois.

Morton, which shared the Suburban championship with Waukegan, upset the Riverside quintet, 38 to 36, in a closely contested game in Elmhurst, while Waukegan fell before Niles, 41 to 33, in the Waukegan finals.

When Rankings Don't Count.

In the contest in Elmhurst, pitting Riverside's eighth ranking team in the state against Morton's 11th ranking five, the score was tied eight times. The final outcome was in doubt until the closing seconds, when Ferd Nadherny's free throw made the score 38 to 36 after Nutane Reisser, leading scorer in the West Suburban league, had put Riverside in striking distance with a field goal that made the score 36 to 37.

The teams were tied, 4-all, at the end of the first period. Morton led, 17 to 14, at the half, but the score was again even, 28-all, as the third quarter concluded. Nadherny, a forward, led the scorers with 20 points.

Close in Fourth Quarter.

Waukegan took an early lead against Niles, being ahead, 9 to 4, as the second quarter opened. Niles then scored 15 points while limiting Waukegan to five, to take a 19 to 14 half time lead.

Waukegan made a bid in the fourth quarter, tying the score at 31-all and again at 32-all before Art Anderson's field goal gave Niles the lead it never lost. Dave Allen of Waukegan scored 14 points, while Frank Williams paced Niles with 12 points.

Wheaton Avenges Loss.

Wheaton, champion of the Little Seven conference, won the title at Aurora by defeating St. Charles, 52 to 37, to avenge a 49 to 43 loss dealt by St. Charles in conference play two weeks ago. The Wheaton five, employing a balanced attack and man to man defense, started slowly, permitting St. Charles to gain a 9 to 10 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The game revolved into a duel between Jack Brunick of Wheaton and John Adams, St. Charles center, who were attempting to win scoring honors for the tournament. Brunick scored 12 points to bring his total to 40, while Adams collected 11 to boost his total to 45.

Elgin Rallies to Win.

At Dundee, Elgin rallied after trailing, 13 to 1, in the opening part of the game, to defeat Dundee, 46 to 40. Dundee led, 27 to 25, at the half, but the Elgin rally caught up with the Dundee five midway in the third period. Wally Graf and Capt. Tom Parker of Elgin each scored 13 points, while Wendell Esh of Dundee had 18.

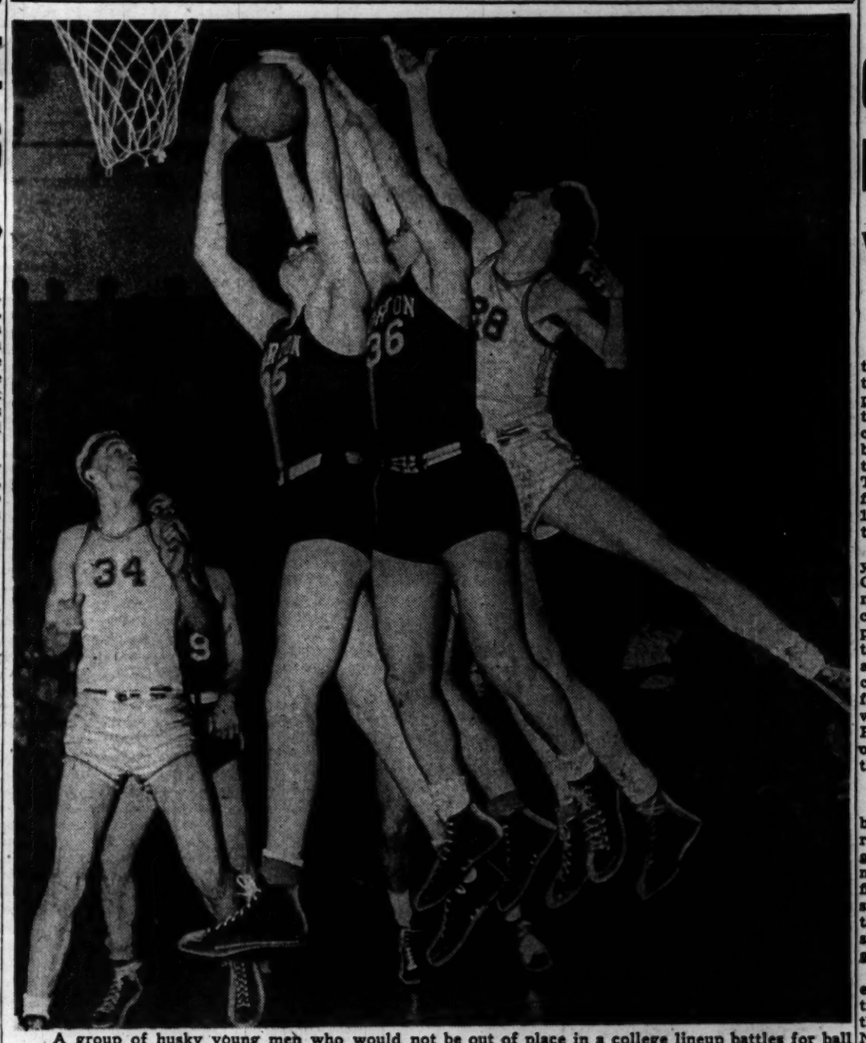
BATTLE OF THE GIANTS, PREP VERSION



A group of husky young men who would not be out of place in a college lineup battles for ball in final game of Elmhurst regional high school basketball tournament, in which Morton of Cicero beat Riverside-Brookfield, 38 to 36, last night. Bob Jelinek (35) and Ferd Nadherny (36), both of Morton, outjump John Sentz (28), Riverside's 6 foot 5¼ inch center, in battle for rebound, while Capt. Nutane Reisser (34) of Riverside-Brookfield and Bob Shaw (29) of Morton await developments.

RALLIES SETTLE FOUR GAMES IN PREP PLAY-OFFS

The City league senior basketball race passed the quarter-final stage yesterday after each victor had been forced to rally to win its assignment in advancing to the round of four.

South Shore High school's defending champions trailed for three quarters before rallying to defeat Phillips by eight points. The Phillips five appeared on the way to an upset victory when it took a 9 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter and held a 19 to 13 advantage at half time. By the end of three quarters South Shore had narrowed the gap to one point, 27 to 26, and spurted ahead in the final period when the Tars scored 12 points to Phillips' three, making the final score 38 to 30. Center Jake Fendley of the Tars led the scorers with 13 points.

Lindblom Beats Harper.

Lindblom also rallied to defeat Harper, 37 to 36, in an overtime game at Lindblom, after the home team had trailed, 13 to 12, at the half, and 25 to 21 at the end of three quarters. With 12 seconds remaining, Harper fell behind, 33 to 31, but Bill Baar's long shot tied the score as time ran out. This revived the Harper team and it took a 36 to 34 lead in the overtime be-

Willie Joyce Scores Upset Over Williams

Fight Decisions

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

At Providence, R. I.—George Kochan stopped Tiger Lou Jones [9].
At New York—Willie Joyce beat Ike Williams [12]; Leo Romanello beat Joey Manfro [6]; Vic Pignataro beat Vic Costa [6]; Dave Feld beat Charley Jones [6]; Tommy Gargano beat Jim Kennedy [4].

A crowd of 14,131, which contributed to a gross gate of $60,637, saw Joyce, former Golden Gloves champion, repeat his victory over Williams last fall and take a 2 to 1 lead in their series.

Wins Three Rounds.

Williams, who is slated to fight Juan Zurita for the N. B. A. lightweight title in Philadelphia next month, won only three of the 12 rounds and barely managed to stay on his feet as Joyce put on a whirlwind finish in the 12th round.

In the final round of the bout, perhaps the best in the Garden this year, Joyce stopped Williams dead in his tracks with a right. A left smacked him reeling into the ropes where Joyce jumped in for the kill as the crowd roared. Williams made a game rally to survive the onslaught, but took two more rights to the chin at the final bell.

Joyce Wins Second Bout.

Williams, who floored Joyce twice to win a 12 round decision in their second bout, forced the scrap in virtually every round, but time and again took four or five jabs in the face without making a return.

Williams, weighing 133¼ pounds to Joyce's 136.

VALPARAISO FIVE ENDS PLAY WITH 86-60 TRIUMPH

Valparaiso, Ind., March 2 [Special].—Valparaiso university closed its basketball season tonight with a 86 to 60 victory over Chanute field. It was the winner's 21st triumph in 24 games.

John Janisch, Valparaiso forward, scored 30 points to set an all time individual game record. The team total also set a new mark for Valparaiso.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS DISPLAY USUAL SOCKS APPEAL

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Some of the best fighters in the long history of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.'s Golden Gloves have come out of the 160 pound class, the division which has produced Fred Caserio, two time winner; Dave Clark, Cornelius Young, Ezzard Charles, Joe Maxim, and Collins Brown, last year's champion. It's been a hard hitting class down thru the years and the 1945 semi-finalists who will battle for the championship in the Stadium next Friday night promise another torrid show.

Middleweights are both fast and powerful, and the four boys who will return to continue their campaign for amateur boxing's highest honors, diamond studded golden gloves and a place on Chicago's Intercity team, came out of the quarter-finals of the Tournament of Champions Wednesday after some of the toughest fights Chicago ever has seen.

Garcia Is Protege of Jeffries.

The 160 pounders who will be back for the semi-finals are John Garcia, representing the Los Angeles [Cal.] Times; Bob Pyke, Muncie [Ind.] Star; Dick Smith, Oklahoma City [Okla.] Daily Oklahoman; and Ray Spurlock, Kansas City [Mo.] Star. Two of them will have to fight twice during the evening.

Garcia, whose home is in Burbank, Cal., was trained by the former world heavyweight champion, Jim Jeffries, who promotes amateur and professional fight shows in Los Angeles. Garcia, of Mexican extraction, is 26 and has been boxing only two years, but has taken full advantage of the expert knowledge imparted by the old champion.

Irish-Indian and a Fighter.

Smith, 22, is an Irish-Indian who has had more experience than the older Garcia, and he displayed a lot of stuff in wading thru the first

14,000 WILL SEE GAME TONIGHT IN IOWA CITY

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The University of Iowa basketball team cannot be denied a share of the 1945 Western conference championship in its meeting with Illinois tonight in Iowa City. It is the concluding game of the campaign for both. However, Iowa doesn't want to divide honors with Ohio State. The Hawkeyes will be seeking their first 100 per cent title in history and 14,000 will jam the Iowa fieldhouse to see them get it.

Iowa has lost only one game all year and this by a 43 to 42 score at Champaign five weeks ago. So tonight's climactic contest not only can give the Hawkeyes the championship with 11 victories against this single earlier defeat, but will assuage its memory. If Iowa is successful, Ohio State, defending conference champion, will finish second with 10 victories and defeats by Purdue and Illinois. The Illini, win or lose tonight, will finish third in the Big Nine.

They Want That Title.

This Iowa team, the third coached by Lawrence [Pops] Harrison, already has broken records for most games won by an Iowa team and most points scored. Its total of 392 field goals also is a record and only six free throws are needed to beat the present mark of 208 penalty shots by an Iowa team in an 18 game season.

The Iowa players quite likely are entirely unconcerned over these statistics or the fact that they have the best offensive record in the Big Nine. They may give a thought to Illinois' position as the best defensive team in the conference but primarily they want a victory by any margin for their championship. Iowa twice has shared conference basketball titles since 1900.

Hawkeyes Have More Experience.

Iowa will have a slight advantage in average height over Illinois and will have considerably more experience since the Illini will start three freshmen, John Orr, forward; Walt Kersulis, center, and Jack Burmaster, guard. Howie Judson and Walton [Junior] Kirk, the hard working veterans, complete the Illinois lineup.

All members of Iowa's lineup—Ned Postels and Dick Ives, forwards; Clayton Wilkinson, center; Jack Spencer and Herbert Wilkinson, guards—have had at least a year of intercollegiate competition. Ives won the conference individual scoring title a year ago. Iowa's attack this season is better balanced than in 1944 and Ives' own play has improved in recent games, after a slump. Max Morris, Northwestern center, has won the 1945 scoring honors.

Illini Are Dangerous.

Iowa is facing a situation similar to that in the concluding series last year with Northwestern. The Wildcats took the second contest of that series to force the Hawkeyes out of a tie with Ohio State. Illinois would like to douse Iowa's hopes tonight and must be given at least a fair chance to succeed if the Iowa players are off form.

Despite Illinois' collapse on the road in recent games because of travel and injuries, the team may provide the upset of the season tonight. Illinois has been a great second half team and came from behind to whip Iowa in the contest Jan. 26.

Illinois divided its series with Ohio State this year. The defeat at Columbus was the second of the campaign as Illinois also divided games with Michigan. Northwestern then defeated the Illini and Wednesday night Indiana added a third consecutive loss to the record.

Badgers Play Gophers.

In the last two seasons Harrison's teams have won 30 games and lost five, 19 victories being registered in 23 conference contests.

Wisconsin and Minnesota meet tonight in Minneapolis in the only remaining contest of the season. Wisconsin, with four victories, including a 46 to 37 victory over the Gophers, and seven defeats, has had difficulty maintaining a starting lineup because of ineligibility and navy transfers.

ILLINOIS FACES MICHIGAN TODAY IN INDOOR MEET

Kelley to Duel Ross Hume in Mile, 880.

Champaign, Ill., March 2 [Special].—Illinois and Michigan, which between them have won 23 of the 36 Western conference indoor track championships, will meet here tomorrow in the most important dual meet of the indoor season. These teams again are regarded as the strongest in the Big Nine.

Michigan's hopes for a duplication of last year's 66 to 37 triumph, the first indoor dual meet between these teams in 42 years were dimmed by announcement that Bob Hume would remain in Ann Arbor to take an examination. His twin brother, Ross, will be on hand, however, to run the half mile and mile.

It's Champion vs. Champion.

Capt. Ross Hume is Big Nine co-champion in the mile, and his entry tomorrow will find him meeting Illinois' Bob Kelley, the Big Nine half mile champion twice. Since they are in the half and the mile, each gets an opportunity at his favorite distance.

The mile is a new venture, in a serious way, for Kelley, who specialized formerly in the quarter and the half.

Sprinters Are Good, Too.

In addition to the Kelley-Hume duels in two races, there is the sprint battle between Michigan's Julian Witherspoon, runner up last year to Buddy Young, and Illinois' Bill Buster, a freshman from Peoria. Buster has won three straight 60 yard races in successive times of 6.2, 6.5 and 6.4 seconds.

Michigan has the edge in the distance runs, with George Vetter capable of 1:56.7 and Dick Barnard of 1:56 in the half, Archie Parsons, good for 4:27 in the mile and Charlie Birdsall for 10:10 in the two-mile.

Illinois' hopes to score heavily enough in the hurdles, field events, and possibly the quarter mile, to offset its weakness in the shotput and long races. The Illini have two good quarter milers in Marce Gonzales and Joe Johnson, but so have the Wolverines in Dick Forestal and Bob Mann.

TRIANGULAR AT CHICAGO.

Iowa and Minnesota will vie with the University of Chicago in a triangular track meet this afternoon in the Maroon fieldhouse. Minnesota finished second and Iowa third to Illinois in a quadrangular meet in Minneapolis last week-end and should make an even battle of today's meet. The Maroons are not expected to figure heavily in the scoring.

Coach George Bersnahan selected a squad of 11 to represent Iowa. The Hawkeye scored an impressive victory over Chicago and Northwestern in their first indoor meet of the season.

Only one athlete from each team will be allowed to place in an event with the points divided on a 5, 3, 2 basis.

Johnson Is Iowa's Best.

Leading Iowa's attack will be Ike Johnson, sprinter, low hurdler, and broad jumper who led the Hawkeyes to their triangular triumph with three firsts; Keith Gotthardt, who has the best mark to date in the shot put; George Moore, undefeated in the high jump; Capt. Al Slater, who has won and finished second in the two mile; Gene Shaver, miler, and Bud Flood, 440 yard star.

Rounding out the group are John Hunter, 440; Nelson Smith, 880; Jack Kelso, the football player, high hurdles, and Kenneth Francescon and Walter Thorpe, pole vaulters.

GENTILE WINS IN SEMI-FINALS OF HANDBALL MEET

Tripp Gentile of Duncan Y. M. C. A. came from behind yesterday to win his semi-final match with Bob Kendler, Lawson, in the Chicago Y. singles handball tournament. Gentile, defending champion, lost the first gave, 21-13, but came back to win the set, 21-8 and 21.19. Kendler was runner-up to Gentile last year.

In the other class A semi-final match, Ray Laser, Lawson, won an easy victory over Joe Frank, Hyde Park, 21-8, 21-5. Laser will play Gentile for the championship at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the Lawson Y.

Class B finals at 4 p. m. today will match Bob Perillo, Duncan, and Dave Broude, Lawson. Perillo defeated Ray Strobot, Division, 11-21, 21-17, and 21-8, and Broude beat Sam Tepper, 111th st., 21-9, 21-7.

SUBURBAN TRACK STARS CLASH AT OAK PARK TODAY

The Suburban league track meet will open this afternoon in the Oak Park fieldhouse at 1:30 o'clock with New Trier High school's defending champions again in the role of favorites.

The leading challenge to the Winnetka entry is expected to come from Oak Park's host team, despite the fact that several prospective Oak Park points were lost this week when Ed Ulvestad, rated the best pole vaulter in the league, incurred an ankle injury.

three days of the Tournament of Champions. In 1942 and 1944 he won the Oklahoma A. A. U. 160 pound championships. He comes by his boxing ability thru his father, a former professional, who taught him the rudiments long before he aimed at any championships.

Then there is Pyke of the Muncie team whose home is in Kokomo, Ind., where he operates a lathe for the General Electric company. Bob went to the quarter-finals in the Stadium last year and in 1941 won the Richmond, Va., tournament title. Pyke beat Omaha's champion, Pvt. Charles Green, in the quarter-finals Wednesday night.

And Then There's Spurlock!

The fourth member of the division is Ray Spurlock, the Kansas City lad who was on the Chicago Intercity team last year, being named as an alternate after losing in the Stadium finals. He's tougher than ever this year and was a great crowd pleaser as he fought his way into next Friday's big show.

One of the 160 pounders beaten in the quarter-finals was Corp. Wesley Milnes, a member of the Sioux City [Ia.] Journal's team who was voted the Tony Zale sportsmanship trophy by the judges and referees. He gave Smith a great battle before losing the decision.

Corp. Milnes, who is stationed at the Rapid City, S. D., army air base, was presented with the statuette yesterday before leaving for Rapid City. The awards customarily are made the night of the finals, but Milnes furlough couldn't be stretched that far.

He's Gunner on Bomber.

The soldier, a gunner with a B-17 bomber crew, won his first two bouts, knocking out Johnny Ditch of Peoria and taking a decision from Pvt. Eugene Scruggs of Evansville, then found Smith too hard to handle.

Milnes' name goes down in the list of Zale trophy winners with Harry Stephens of Chicago, winner in 1942; Louis Seprodi, Terre Haute, Ind., 1943, and Collins Brown of Chicago, last year's recipient. He has been in the army two years. This was his third Golden Gloves tournament. His first two were in Philadelphia, his home.

Bob Hamilton Keeps Lead in Florida Golf

Jacksonville, Fla., March 2 (AP).—Bob Hamilton of Chicago, who swore off golf three months ago because of his poor putting, held his lead thru the second round of the $5,000 Jacksonville Open today—chiefly by his brilliant performance on the greens.

The big pro, National P. G. A. champion, carded a five under par 67 for a 132 total to keep two strokes ahead of Bryon Nelson, Sam Snead, and Harold [Jug] McSpaden, tied at 134 for second place.

Hard on the leader's heels thruout the second round was Snead, who shot a 65 today to equal the Brentwood course record set yesterday by Hamilton. Snead bore down hard in a bid for his sixth victory of the winter circuit.

Nelson, of Toledo, O., shot a 66 today, and McSpaden of Sanford, Me., had a 67.

Gus Copping Bowls 300 Game in Tavern League

Augustus [Gus] Copping, a 175 average bowler with the Temple Tavern team, bowled the first 300 game ever shot on the Clar-Wyn alleys last night in competition in the Clark-Foster Tavern league. He sandwiched his perfect game between scores of 199 and 184 for a 683 series.

WOMEN TO HAVE DAY IN TRIBUNE CASTING EVENT

BY BOB BECKER.

If the men who like to use bait casting rods in fishing for bass and muskies think they have a monopoly on the knack of tossing a ⅝ ounce plug on a lake or at a floating ring target in a casting pool, they'll get a surprise when they watch the women do their stuff in THE TRIBUNE'S casting contest during the International Sportsmen's show.

This big show which brings the outdoors to Chicago opens a week from today and continues thru March 18. THE TRIBUNE'S tournament featuring both bait rod and fly casting offers some kind of casting competition each day of the show.

Fishermen Cast First.

As in the past, this year's tournament will give the women a chance to compete among themselves. The fishermen will lead off in the tournament by casting the first three evenings. Then the club casters take over the pool for two nights. On Wednesday, March 15, service men will have their fun shooting at the floating ring targets with first prize a $25 war bond. Then on March 16 women will put on their show.

Practice for the women casters is scheduled for 6:45 p. m. Competition will start at 7 p. m. Immediately following this event will be the husband and wife team competition, the first such contest scheduled for a Tribune tournament.

The women's bait casting contest is open to all amateur lady casters, regardless of age or club affiliation. There is no entry fee.

National Champion Enters.

One of the most famous woman casters who will compete in the event this year is Mrs. Henry McDonald, 601 W. 47th st., a south side housewife whose ability to handle a rod and reel has given her some of the major women's titles.

Mrs. McDonald, a member of the Jackson Park Casting club, won the Tribune contest last year. Last fall she took the women's national championship in the ⅜ oz. event. Mrs. Don Le Baron, 5306 Fulton st., a Maywood school teacher and member of the Lincoln Park Casting club, who was second in the sports show event last year, also will compete again this year.

Hagg to Run in I. C. 4-A. Meet Tonight

New York, March 2 (AP).—Gunder Hagg, swift Swedish miler, worked out on a board track for the first time today and found it much softer than the steel deck of a boat.

Gunder Hagg.

Hagg, who completed a month's voyage from Sweden only yesterday and runs against America's unbeaten 1945 mile champion tomorrow, jogged approximately a mile on the outdoor pine oval of New York university, testing various kinds of spiked shoes.

Hagg Says He'll Lose.

Both Hagg and hurdler Haakon Lidman, another Swede, will compete in special events at the I. C. 4-A indoor meet on Madison Square Garden's 11 lap track tomorrow night.

Hagg will oppose Jim Rafferty, winner of five straight races this winter; Forest Efaw, national three mile champion; Rudy Simms of New York, and Don Burnham, national 1,000 yard king. Asked if he thought he could beat Rafferty, whose best time is 4:13.1, Hagg replied no, explaining he had had but six workouts on the 23 day ocean voyage.

Lidman bounded over a few hurdles in the brief workout, their only one except for a visit to the Garden tomorrow.

HAGG'S MARRIAGE NEAR.

Oakland, Cal., March 2 (AP).—Arrival in New York of Gunder Hagg, the Swedish track star, means his marriage to Miss Dorothy Nortier of Oakland is only weeks away, the girl said.

They have been engaged since Hagg's trip to the United States in 1943, but the war has kept them apart.

ARMY-NAVY DUEL TODAY TO DECIDE EASTERN TITLE

Annapolis, Md., March 2 (AP).—The contest which will decide the eastern inter-collegiate championship will bring Army and Navy together tomorrow in the Navy gym.

Each of the teams has lost one game—Army to a Pennsylvania team previously beaten by Navy, and the Middies to a Bainbridge navy team which left the Annapolis five still looking impressive despite the 68 to 60 loss. Pennsylvania lost to the Middies 61 to 41.

If Navy wins, it will end a three year supremacy held by Army on the basketball floor.

NAME SITES AND DATES FOR CITY JUNIOR PLAYOFF

The Marshall and Gage Park basketball teams, both early favorites to reach the City league junior finals, will be semi-final opponents as a result of drawings made yesterday afternoon in the office of August H. Pritzlaff, athletic director of the board of education. The game will be played next Thursday in the De La Salle High school gymnasium at 4 p. m.

The other semi-finalists, Tilden and Tuley, will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., also at De La Salle.

Another meeting will be held this morning in Pritzlaff's office to arrange for the semi-final playoffs in the senior division.

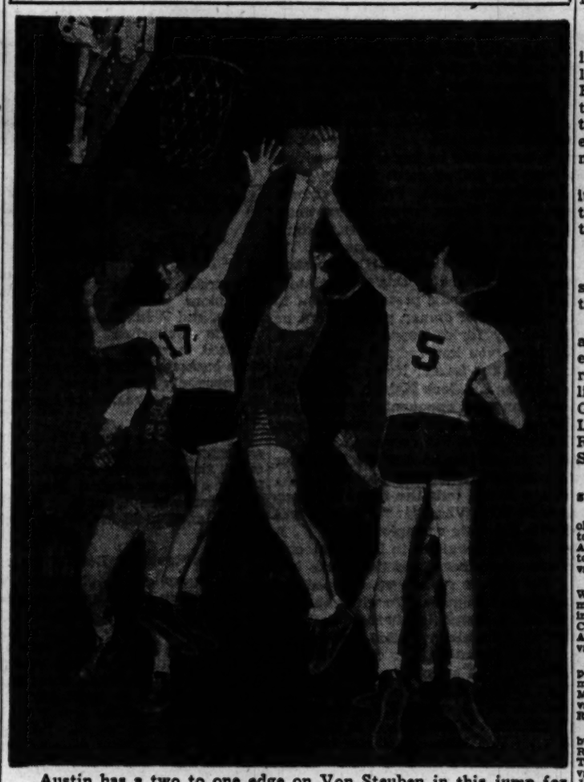
Navy Five Beats Marines for Service Men's Title

The 87th St. Navy beat the 87th St. Marines, 50 to 34, for the championship of the Midwest Service Men's Basketball league in a playoff game last night at the 87th st. station. Navy took the lead at the start and never was behind. The Navy squad led, 24 to 19, at the half. The Marines qualified for the playoff final by eliminating Fort Sheridan, northern section league winner, in a contest earlier in the week, while Navy, southern division victor, was disposing of Glenview Air station.

LIONS WIN, 4 TO 3.

Washington, D. C., March 2 [AP].—The Washington Lions scored a 4 to 3 victory over the New York Rovers in the opening game of the United States Amateur Hockey association play-off tonight.

SEMI-FINAL BERTH TO VICTOR



Austin has a two to one edge on Von Steuben in this jump for a free ball yesterday on Austin's court as the two senior fives met in a City league quarter-final game. Von Steuben, however, scored a 42 to 35 victory. Sherwin Zimmerman, No. 17, and Bob Nielsen, No. 5, are the Austin players, while Jerry Saltzberg, No. 19, is Von Steuben's representative in this play. Laurie Goldstein, No. 22, on the left, stands by to assist Saltzberg.

Rallies Decide 4 City League Senior Games

fore Ed Baczkiewicz came thru with a field goal and free throw, his only scores of the game, to clinch the contest for Lindblom. Chet Siegert led the victors with 14 points, while Baar's 12 point total was high for the losers.

Senn Conquers Lane.

Senn's Bulldogs, favorites in the City league race by virtue of winning the north section title and the University of Chicago holiday tournament, defeated Lane, 39 to 32, after Lane led, 10 to 3, and 12 to 11, in the first two quarters. Senn took the lead in the third period and never was headed after that.

Von Steuben had to score 17 points in the final period to defeat Austin 42 to 35, after the latter had maintained a lead for three quarters. Von Steuben trailed, 27 to 25, at the end of the third quarter, but opened the final period by tying the score on a basket by Laurie Goldstein. Dick Karzen's field goal then gave Von Steuben a lead it never relinquished. Gene Schanbaum of Von Steuben, led the scorers with 15 points.

PIRATE PITCHER FAILS TO PASS INDUCTION EXAM

Pitcher Fred R. [Fritz] Ostermueller of the Pittsburgh Pirates was rejected in his pre-induction military examination in Chicago yesterday and his case referred to Washington for final decision as required by the war department for professional athletes.

Ostermueller, who will be 38 on Sept. 15, won 13 games and lost eight for Brooklyn and Pittsburgh last year, appearing in 10 games for the Dodgers and 28 for the Pirates. The veteran left hander, who is a native of Quincy, Ill., finished eighth in the National league percentage column and sixth in earned run average with 2.82.

BOY, 15, TAKES JUNIOR FIGURE SKATING CROWN

The 15 year old star, who won the national novice title last year, defeated Michael McGean of Cleveland, with Robert Swenning of East Portchester, Conn., third.

Point scores for tonight's competition were not available.

MAD RUSSIAN IS NOT TOO MAD TO JOIN THE ANGELS

Los Angeles, Cal., March 2 (AP).—Outfielder Lou Novikoff has become reconciled to his sale by the Chicago Cubs to the Los Angeles Angels and says he will join the club at its training camp next week.

Last week Lou, whose hitting in the National league never came up to his minor league performance, was somewhat morose about the situation and said he thought some major league club would want him this season. Now he says he is satisfied with the money offered by the Angels.

CULVER ENTERS SEMI-FINALS OF MIDWEST MEET

Culver Military academy and Park school of Indianapolis advanced to the semi-finals of the Midwest Prep conference tournament in Lake Forest yesterday. Culver defeated St. Johns, 48 to 47, and Park beat Lake Forest academy, 46 to 24. Culver will meet Pullman Tech and Park will play Elgin academy in semi-final games this afternoon. Finals will be played tonight in Lake Forest High school.

Hoosier Preps Play Today in 16 Regionals

South Bend, Ind., March 2 [Special].—Sixty-four teams will renew their bids for the state high school basketball championship in 16 regional centers tomorrow with four teams paired for afternoon games and the winners meeting at night.

Tomorrow's regionals represent the second of four tournaments thru which the 1945 title winner will be determined. The field still numbers eight former state title holders including Evansville Bosse, the defending champion.

Home of Champions.

Interest, as usual, centers on play in the southern section of the state, long recognized as the hotbed of Hoosier basketball and boasting a top heavy majority of 33 former title winners. Fans will focus their eyes on the Evansville and Vincennes regionals.

Bosse, with four holdovers from its 1944 championship five, will have the advantage of playing in home territory altho not its home floor.

Jasepr Rated Highly.

In Vincennes, Jasper, voted by sports writers as the top team of the season, is the favorite to win.

Upstate regionals in South Bend and Hammond bear watching as each meet lists a club expected to reach the final round in Indianapolis on March 17. In Hammond it is Gary Emerson, winner over Gary Lew Wallace, while South Bend Riley is the interest-packed club in South Bend.

Regional pairings, first game to start at 1:30 p. m.:

Montreal Next Hawk Hurdle in Play-Off Bid

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Blackhawks, who have been keeping their public on edge about their Stanley cup playoff chances for the last several weeks, arrived from New York yesterday, possessors of three added National Hockey league points off their tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs and Thursday's 5 to 3 conquest of the Rangers in Madison Square Garden. Those three valuable tallies have moved them within two games of the fourth place Boston Bruins and a game and a half of the fifth place Rangers.

Johnny Gottselig, Hawk veteran who has taken over the managerial chores since Paul Thompson headed for Canada on a scouting trip, was in a happy mood last evening as he reviewed his charges' work against the Leafs and Rangers. His immediate problem, however, is a truly tough one, consisting of another battle with the world's champion Montreal Canadiens in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Canadiens Recall Those Ties.

The Canadiens, who have lost only five games in the 42 they have played thus far, are in a right cranky spell about the Hawks. The Chicagoans have held them to one goal in the last two contests, earning a 1 to 1 tie in Montreal on Feb. 1 and a scoreless draw with the Frenchmen on Feb. 18.

The Canadiens haven't clinched the league championship yet. Tonight the meet the Leafs in Toronto, where they haven't been too successful this season. A victory there and another here over the Hawks tomorrow would clinch them team honors for the second consecutive year.

Bruins, Rangers in Tough Games.

The Blackhawks not only will be seeking a triumph over the Canadiens, but also will have an eye on the out of town scoreboard, since their nearest rivals, Boston and New York, also will be facing rough opposition tomorrow night. The Bruins will meet the Red Wings in Detroit while the Rangers will be entertaining Toronto in New York.

Altho Boston has eight league games remaining, against the six confronting the Hawks, the Bruins have pairs against the league leaders—Montreal, Toronto, and Detroit. The other two send them against the Hawks, in Boston on March 11 and here on March 15.

GEARS CONCLUDE SCHEDULE WITH RAIDERS TONIGHT

The American Gears, Chicago's representative in the National Basketball league, will wind up their first season of scheduled play in the professional circuit in the Coliseum tonight at 9 when they meet the Pittsburgh Raiders. The Gears have won four out of five games played with the Raiders. The White-Liners, the company's feminine five, will meet the Racine Stybergs in a preliminary game tonight at 8.

CATHOLIC SWIM MEET SET FOR MARCH 24-25

The Catholic league swimming meet will be held March 24 and 25 at Loyola, it was announced yesterday by Catholic league officials.

Officials said the first annual junior meet will be held March 10 and 11 at Fenwick, with preliminaries at 2:30 o'clock the afternoon of the 10th, and finals scheduled for the same time on the 11th.

SOUTH MEETS NORTH.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 2 [Special].—A sellout crowd of 3,500 will watch South and North Division clash tomorrow night for the City High school basketball conference championship in Marquette university gym.

ST. PHILIP FIVE TAKES CATHOLIC JUNIOR LEAD

St. Philip High school's junior basketball team last night took the lead in the north section of the Catholic league by defeating St. Ignatius, 42 to 36, on the St. Philip floor. It was the ninth victory in 10 games for the Gaels, and the second defeat in 11 contests for St. Ignatius.

St. Ignatius contested the game in the first period, with the Gaels emerging with a scant 15 to 13 lead as the quarter ended. St. Philip forged ahead, limiting St. Ignatius to three points in the second quarter, and by the end of the third period was leading, 33 to 22.

Hugh Califf, Gael forward, scored eight field goals and three free throws to lead the St. Philip offense.

Leo, Weber Win.

The Leo and Weber juniors remained tied for first place in the south section, as each captured its ninth victory in 10 games.

Weber, led by Milt Mayer, who scored 13 points, defeated Mount Carmel, 48 to 35, while Gene Flaherty scored 11 points in leading Leo to a 38 to 31 victory over Joliet Catholic.

St. Philip's Seniors Win.

In the senior division, St. Philip retained its north section lead by defeating St. Ignatius, 44 to 16, for its ninth victory in 10 games, while the idle St. Patrick five moved into a second place tie as Fenwick lost to St. Mel, 41 to 21. St. Patrick and Fenwick now are tied with seven victories and three defeats.

HOME BUILDERS WILL FIGHT ALL PUBLIC HOUSING

No Room in Field, Says Merrion.

BY AL CHASE.

Plans for a nation-wide fight against public housing of every kind were outlined yesterday by Joseph E. Merrion of Chicago, new president of the National Association of Home Builders of the United States. In a statement to members, Merrion said "there is no corner in the American picture where the federal government either directly or by subsidy to local housing authorities may properly enter the housing field by building, owning, or operating public housing projects.

Joseph E. Merrion.

Merrion proposed two goals to be achieved: relaxation of war time restrictions as soon as possible, and a vigorous campaign against the inroads of socialistic and paternalistic theories and competition from the government "to which we all contribute."

Fight Vital to Builders.

A majority of the membership is agreed there is no place in the national economy for governmental housing of any kind, Merrion said.

"We feel that this is a matter so vital to the life of our industry that vigorous, constant opposition to government encroachment must be one of our principal reasons for being," he asserted. "We've been stimulated and inspired by the valiant fight carried on by our men in the city of Washington, and we know the same fight is imminent in Chicago, in San Francisco, and in hundreds of other cities.

"The time has come when the full strength of your association and the strength of your local connections—the suppliers, bankers, and the citizen groups—must be mustered. This combined effort must be directed toward convincing the congress, the press, and the public that once and for all the encroachment of government in the housing field must be stopped."

Plan National Survey.

To carry out a long range program based on production of an unprecedented volume of new housing at the lowest possible sales and rental levels, and to acquire ammunition for the fight against public housing, a national survey by the association is contemplated.

"We must know the extent of the task before us," he said. "We have little confidence in most bureaucratic surveys as many of them are designed to justify biased conclusions previously reached. We now propose a carefully conducted survey in the 82 cities in which we have local associations.

"This will give an accurate cross-section of information on the supply, demand, and productive capacity of our industry. It will disclose the volume of existing housing and the location of substandard houses. It should indicate the number of existing houses that could be reclaimed by proper enforcement of local ordinances, and include the pledged capacity of builders in each community to supply the need."

INTEREST RATES TO REMAIN LOW, SAYS ECONOMIST

Interest rates will continue low, Dr. Roger W. Valentine, Halsey, Stuart & Co. economist, yesterday told the Investment Analysts Club of Chicago in the La Salle hotel.

They will be low, he said, because the government controls the money market thru its regulation of bank reserve requirements, because the normally large borrowers, such as utilities, railroads, and heavy industry, have built up large liquid reserves during the war, and because the government deficit financing after the war will increase the funds seeking investment.

He said it was entirely possible for the treasury to reduce interest rates on its obligations, especially those maturing in less than 10 years, but said such bonds, if issued, probably would be sold to banks and not to individuals.

Oak Park Bank Promotes G. W. Hales to President

Directors of Avenue State bank, Oak Park, yesterday elected G. Willard Hales president to succeed the late William Iemfeldt. Hales formerly was vice president.

Cost of Lewis' Demands Set at 400 Million

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Soft coal operators replied to John L. Lewis' contract demands today with the assertion that the cost would be at least 400 million dollars a year.

"This means a daily increase to each mine worker of $3.30 per day," said Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators who are negotiating with Lewis' United Mine Workers. "Some items are impossible of calculation and would further increase the cost of production."

Lewis' demands, including one new to coal negotiations for a 10 cent royalty to the union on every ton of coal mined, were so devised that the UMW president contended they would not disturb the Little Steel wage formula.

Formula Raises Exhausted.

The miners admittedly have received all the pay raises they can get under this formula, which limits general pay increases to 15 per cent above the levels of Jan. 1, 1941.

Under the royalty idea a union fund would be built up to supply "rainy day" insurance for miners. They would receive medical, insurance, and rehabilitation service. An operators' statement contended such a fund would put Lewis in a position "to dispose of this sum politically."

They contended that another proposal, under which the UMW could forbid shipment of coal to a consumer involved in a strike, would make Lewis "a labor czar unparalleled in American history."

Disagree On Cost of Plan.

Lewis disputed operator estimates that the royalty plan would cost 60 million dollars a year. He said tax adjustments would reduce it to 24 million, adding: "It won't cost the operators a single, solitary cent." He suggested the 24 million could be passed on to the consumer.

He argued that miners wish "to have something to set aside for a rainy day that the United States Steel corporation is providing for." He explained that U. S. Steel, largest producer and consumer of soft coal, has built its special reserve account from 38 million in 1939 to 195 million.

"A man could stand a lot of rain with that much money," he said dryly, as miners at the meeting laughed.

SEEK APPROVAL OF TEXAS-OHIO GAS PIPE LINE

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—The federal power commission today was asked to authorize immediate construction of a $23,500,000 pipe line from east Texas to an undesignated Ohio city to relieve a war time shortage of natural gas in Ohio and nearby states.

The application, filed by Metropolitan Eastern corporation, a new company with home offices in Wilmington, Del., and New York, would involve construction of an 825 mile 18 inch line with a daily capacity of 140 million cubic feet of gas.

Additional fuel is needed urgently by war industries and homes in the area, the corporation said. It asked a prompt hearing to begin construction early in April and complete the line in October, in time to meet larger winter fuel requirements.

Municipal Bond Offers Next Week to Be Small

New York, March 2 (AP).—Municipal bond activity next week will be confined largely to the sale of an assortment of small blocks aggregating $8,552,500, the Daily Bond Buyer said today.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Saturday, March 3, 1945.

(Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.)

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Please tell me how the line is drawn between contributions that are deductible in computing an individual's income tax and those that are not.—M. R.

Contributions of money or property [but not value of services] may be deducted if made to organizations operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, or educational purposes. Gifts to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, governmental organizations for use entirely for public purposes, and many war veterans' organizations also can be applied to reduce the donor's taxable income.

Gifts to individuals, or to organizations any part of whose earnings is for the use or benefit of private individuals, or which devote any considerable part of their programs to carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation are not deductible. Thus political contributions cannot be subtracted.

Typical organizations to which contributions are deductible by the donor are churches, Red Cross, community funds, national war fund, united service organizations for national defense, Salvation Army, and United China Relief.

Deductible gifts for educational purposes include those made to nonprofit schools and universities, Boy Scouts of America, Daughters of the American Revolution, and similar nonprofit organizations. Contributions have been held deductible if made to domestic societies operating under the lodge system, but only if the gifts are to be used for one of the purposes named in the first paragraph of this answer.

Contribution deductions may not exceed 15 per cent of adjusted gross income.

BIG RAIL UNIONS AMONG RICHEST LABOR GROUPS

Tax Free Dues Pile Up Vast Funds.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Among the wealthiest labor unions in the country are the railroad brotherhoods which are not affiliated with either the American Federation of Labor or the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Altho their membership is small compared with the largest of the CIO and AFL unions, the brotherhoods over a long period have accumulated large balances in their treasuries. Like those of all unions, the brotherhoods' large incomes are exempt from taxes.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of which A. F. Whitney is president, boasts total assets of more than 41 million dollars, of which a substantial part is said to be invested in federal government and municipal securities.

Has 196,000 Members.

Membership in the union, organized in 1883, is made up of workers in the train and yard service of the railroads, including conductors, brakemen, switchmen, stewards, and yardmen. The union has 1,004 local organizations with 196,000 members.

Dues are fixed by the local union and depend on the degree of participation in the various benefits offered by the parent organization. The latter collects from the locals 50 cents per member each month, half of which goes into the union's general fund and the other half into a "protective fund." The three principal officers of the parent union have authority, in an emergency, to levy an additional assessment on members not to exceed $2 per month.

The parent union offers life and disability insurance to members, financed by special monthly assessments, and maintains a tuberculosis division that provides institutional care and medical expenses for members, also financed by a special assessment.

Financial Details Withheld.

A detailed financial statement of the union is not available. The asset total of $41,300,000 reported for the union is confirmed by President Whitney who is unwilling to make available more detailed information about the organization's finances.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the name of which is descriptive of its membership, has 120,252 members in 957 local lodges. It is one of the oldest labor organizations in the country, founded in 1873.

The brotherhood's 32 million dollars of assets are nearly all invested in federal, municipal, and Canadian government bonds which aggregate $30,378,000. The union collects 60 cents a month per member from the local organizations and other fees for participating in benefits. The union also collects a $50 charter fee from locals.

Bars Mexicans, Indians.

Benefits include legal aid in certain cases, sick benefits that are optional with the locals, life insurance optional with each member, and accident benefits. Membership qualifications are rigid. Excluded are "Mexicans, Indians, or those of Indian or Spanish-Mexican extraction." Special dispensation can be given to admit an American Indian.

Most of the assets of the union are in the beneficiary fund which totals $28,379,000. Other funds of the union include: general, $1,439,000; mutual insurance, $955,688; funeral benefit, $8,004; accident indemnity, $185,899; benevolent [in liquidation], $56,086; national legislative, $20,464; war service, $150,373; widow's special fund, $36,319.

[Finances of the International Ladies Garment Workers, one of the strongest unions financially, will be discussed in a subsequent article.]

ECCLES WARNS CAPITAL VALUE RISE MUST END

Held Grave Threat to Stabilization.

Washington, D. C., March 2 (AP).—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, today said the entire stabilization program would be "undermined" if rising prices of homes, farms, business properties, and stocks were not checked.

He contended that the increases would have "grave consequences to post-war reconversion" and also would boost the cost of the war.

"It would make a mirage of the hopes of millions of war veterans who are counting on being able to obtain a home, or a farm, or to get started in business when they return from the front," he said.

"Other Sectors Protected."

Other home front sectors have been protected by such measures as rationing, allocations, and price and wage control, the federal reserve official asserted, but insisted "no effective controls" have been applied on capital assets.

Eccles urged again his proposal that a war time penalty tax be imposed on capital gains to hold down speculation. He discussed it briefly last week before the senate banking committee, and said the suggestion has been "widely misunderstood and misrepresented in some quarters."

"Speculating in the things that people need and use, speculation that leads to disruption of production and employment, is the worst form of gambling," Eccles said.

Asks No Retroactive Tax.

He asserted the tax would not interfere with legitimate investments, and made clear that he proposed no retroactive tax. His suggestion was that the tax apply until inflationary dangers passed, "which might be two or possibly three years after the war."

Gains on capital assets acquired after whatever date was set by congress would be subject to a 90 per cent tax if sold within two years. Thereafter the levy would diminish by 10 per cent or more annually down to 25 per cent, the present tax rate on capital gains.

Eccles said the "huge differential" between the 25 per cent rate and the high individual income and excess profits tax rates running up to 91 per cent "benefits only the larger tax payers."

COURT REJECTS STANDARD GAS' PLAN AS UNFAIR

Wilmington, Del., March 2 (AP).—Judge Paul Leahy in United States District court today said the amended reorganization plan for Standard Gas and Electric company "will not be approved as fair and equitable." The plan will not be "appropriate to effectuate compliance" with the holding company act "until a different treatment is afforded the noteholders," he ruled, and said noteholder objectors "may propose a form of decree."

The securities and exchange commission on Feb. 23 approved two plans leading to dissolution of Standard Power and Light corporation, Standard Gas' parent, provided the court approved the Standard Gas plan.

Leahy listed as principal objections to the plan: [1] Lack of recognition to the liquidation preference of $6 prior preferred stock over $7 prior preference stock, [2] treatment accorded $4 preferred stockholders, allocated 5 per cent of new common stock, and wiping out present common stockholders, and [3] payment of holders of notes and debentures in common stocks of other utilities and underlying corporations instead of cash.

REPORT NAT. TEA TO BE MANAGED BY McNAMARA

Some new operating executives are expected to be named by the National Tea company when it completes adoption of recommendations made by a number of stockholders led by John F. Cuneo, president of Cuneo Press.

H. V. McNamara.

Among the prospective appointees, it is reported, is H. V. McNamara, who is resigning as manager of the Chicago branch of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company. It is said McNamara is being considered for the post of general manager of National.

At the Kroger office, McNamara declined to confirm or deny the report, saying any announcement would have to come from National Tea officials.

SUPPLY OF MEAT ANIMALS LOWER; PRICES STEADY

Receipts of meat animals at the Chicago stock yards decreased again yesterday. Hog supplies were less than half of receipts two months ago and 37 per cent of a year ago. Prices held at the ceilings.

No highly finished steers were offered and the best sold at $16 a hundred pounds, altho some choice heifers reached $16.50. Prices were steady.

Lively competition cleared sheep and lambs at steady prices. Some old mutton sheep advanced 25 cents to a new 16 year high. Best lambs sold at $16.75 and the bulk at $16.40 to $16.60. Top old ewes sold at $9.75 a high since 1929.

PENNSY AGREES WITH PENNROAD TO SETTLE SUIT

Philadelphia, Pa., March 2 [Special]. — Directors of Pennsylvania Railroad company and Pennroad corporation have agreed to settle suits pending between the two companies by the carrier's payment of 15 million dollars to Pennroad. The agreement will be submitted to a federal court.

The suits, filed by Pennroad stockholders, charge that the railroad and its officers and directors, who were also officers and directors of Pennroad, expended improperly nearly 95 million dollars of Pennroad funds in the purchase of other railway stocks.

Should the court approve, one of two courses may be taken to submit the plan to stockholders of the corporation. The court either could ask that they vote on the settlement plan or invite dissatisfied stockholders to appear and state their objections.

Profit Cashing Pushes Stock Prices Lower

New York, March 2 (AP).—Spots of strength remained in today's stock market, but the list as a whole succumbed to profit cashing. Dealings were slack until the final half hour when offerings expanded briskly. Losses of fractions to a point or more predominated.

Reports the stock exchange soon would announce that margin accounts for securities selling under $10 would be prohibited—this rule now applied to the $5 or less class—helped depress speculative sentiment. Accounts, however, generally were trimmed on the belief the stiff climb had resulted in an "overbought" situation.

RAIL BONDS IRREGULAR.

New York, March 2 (AP).—Railroad bonds today closed irregular. Other groups were steady. Advancing power was substantially less than earlier this week. Sales contracted to $11,490,000 from $12,290,000 yesterday.

Among carriers advancing were Illinois Central Cairo division 4s up 5 to 105; the road's 5s of 1955, up 1 to 101½; Rock Island 4½s, up about 2, and refunding 5s, up 1¼; New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5½s, up 1¼.

Helsingfors 6½s, recently admitted to trading after resumption of debt service by Finland, advanced 22½ points to 85 on the sale of one bond.

CHICAGO VOLUME HEAVY.

Chicago Stock exchange turnover yesterday mounted to 90,000 shares, largest since Dec. 30, 1941, when 128,000 shares were traded. Prices fell, but three volume leaders, Peabody Coal, Central and South West Utilities, and Libby closed at 1944-'45 peaks. Also active were Chicago corporation common and New York Central.

CUTLER-HAMMER REPORTS PROFIT DECLINE IN 1944

Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Milwaukee manufacturer of motor control equipment, yesterday reported preliminary 1944 net earnings of $1,753,349, or $2.66 a share, compared with $2,034,535, or $3.08 a share, the preceding year. Profit was computed after setting aside $6,042,944 for taxes and $450,000 for contingencies, against similar 1943 provisions of $9,272,402 and 1 million dollars.

Public Service Company of Indiana had 1944 net earnings of $2,874,000, or $1.93 a share, about the same as the $2,883,220, or $1.93 a share, a year earlier. Electric output rose approximately 300 million kilowatt hours above the 1943 level.

American Chicle company reported 1944 net profit was $2,815,478, or $6.50 a share, compared with $2,980,506, or $6.89 a share, in 1943.

PRICE UPTURNS IN GRAINS LED BY MAY WHEAT

Mill buying of May wheat and reports that the government was requisitioning cars to move export wheat to Atlantic and Gulf ports strengthened futures prices yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. May wheat advanced 1½ cents to close at $1.66⅝ a bushel, within ½ cent of the seasonal high. The deferred deliveries gained ⅛ to ⅜ cent.

Corn closed ⅛ to ½ cent higher. May at $1.14⅛ was within ¾ cent of the

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

War drama on a temporary bridge over the Roer river in Germany. 1. Stretcher bearers carry a wounded American over body of dead comrade, casualties of the original crossing. 2. Weight of four men collapses bridge. Yanks watch from shore. 3. A stretcher bearer saves wounded Yank heedless of dead soldier on bridge. Yank on single pontoon floats downstream. Background: Motorboat moves to rescue.

[Associated Press Wirephoto: From U. S. Marines.]

Coast Guard Lt. (j.g.) E. P. Sawyer (arrow), 1002 N. State st., Chicago, holding final church services aboard a coast guard manned LST prior to the assault on Iwo Island. He is executive officer of the LST.
